

armed men with their swords, which is much beautified by the groans of the wounded and the shrieks of the women and children bereft of their husbands and fathers. Parting between man and wife; the sailors seize the husband and throw him into the boat, while the wife lies motionless on the deck. Meantime, the flag of the United States waves over the beach, and the pilot cries out quarterless four.

Scene 2.—Port of Norfolk. The Cleopatra enters for a supply of provisions and water—a boat is let down from the ship and seventeen British seamen go on shore. Commotion in the town. Discourse of Jonathan Fairplay to the people, who seize upon the British seamen and carry them to prison, with drums and fife playing "Hail Columbia."

Act 4. Scene 1.—A view of the altar of Liberty, with the words "seventy-six" inscribed in front in letters of gold. The flame grows brighter as the shades of departed patriots, attendants upon the altar, chaunt the blessings of freemen, and sing of the toils they endured, and the blood they spilled to erect the beautiful fabric. Enter a large number of Americans who vow to preserve the flame pure and unpoluted or perish in the attempt. Music—Washington's March.

Scene 2.—Wives and mothers employed in preparing arms for their husbands and children to repel the aggressors. The citizens associate in military companies. Music—Stoney Point.

Scene 3.—Inside of Norfolk Jail—the seventeen British sailors confined therein.

Act 5. Scene 1.—A meeting of the American Congress. The President of the United States enters and lays before the representatives of the people the state of the nation; he then retires, and Congress pass laws for embodying the citizens, fortifying our harbors, and preventing all intercourse of whatever kind with Britain and her colonies for six months. Seventeen cannon are heard without. The deliberations are interrupted by the entrance of a famished West-Indian crying for bread, and a British manufacturer begging sustenance; who on the part of their nation promise indemnity for the past, and a guarantee for future offences. An ambassador from Britain enters, leading in chains the murderer of Pierce, and followed by three thousand American seamen, released from their ships of war. The whole to conclude with a grand hymn and chorus in praise of liberty, and the curtain falls while the orchestra is playing Jefferson's March.

British Officers on half pay, residing within the United States of America.

BY direction of the Right Honorable the Pay-Master General of His Britannick Majesty's Forces, his Britannick Majesty's Consul resident at Charleston, hereby gives notice that the affidavits of officers on half pay, and military allowances, who reside in the United States of America, commencing subsequently to the 24th day of December, 1805, will not be passed at the Pay-Office unless the Officer's place of residence, and also the county, district or place for which the Magistrate acts, before whom the said affidavit is made, (the competency of whom must be certified by the British Consul if any shall be resident in the State, or by the Governor, Chief Justice, or some other person in authority in the Government thereof) are therein specified, agreeably to a form to be seen by applying to the subscriber,

GEO. HOOPER.

Wilmington, N. C. June 6, 1806.

THOSE who are indebted to Alexander Peden by bond, note, or open account, are requested to make payment on or before the 20th instant, as it is out of the subscriber's power to grant any further indulgence.

G. DUNCAN.

Wilmington, June 3, 1806.

Ten Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber on the 11th of May, a negro man named JOHN, about thirty years of age, five feet six or seven inches high, yellow complexioned, marked with the small pox, limps a little (though hardly perceivable,) occasioned by his thigh being broken when young, speaks French, which is his native language and speaks the English language tolerable plain, has rather a down look—took with him an ozaburgs shirt and trowsers with a number of other clothes. He was stopped on the road leading to Fayetteville, but made his escape, leaving all his clothes except those he had on—it is supposed he intends for Wilmington, where he will endeavor to go on board some vessel as a sailor, which business he has followed and perhaps understands.

The above reward and all charges will be paid for having him secured in any jail in the State, or Fifty Dollars and all reasonable charges will be paid for having him delivered to the subscriber living in Sneedborough, Anson County.

All masters of vessels are cautioned against receiving or employing him on board their vessels, as they may have to answer the consequences.

WM. JOHNSON.

Sneedborough, May 24, 1806.

492—202.

25 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber about the first of April last, a negro man named BALAM, about forty years of age, nearly six feet high, very black, remarkably flat footed, and the whites of his eyes tinged with yellow.—The above reward shall be paid to whoever will deliver him to Major James Shepperd, at Stag Park, or Mr. Jonathan Williams on the North East, or lodge him in jail, so that I get him again. He has a wife at Mr. Wm. Davis's—it is supposed he will be harboured about that neighborhood.
