Wilmington, Nov. 4.

Proclamation of Outlawry.

State of North-Carolina }
New-Hanover County. }

BY Hanson Kelly & Samuel Bloodworth, Esquires two of the Justices of the Peace of the said County.

Whereas complaint hath been this day made to us, by R. Mitchell of the said county, that a certain Negro Slave belonging to him, named Rachael, hath absented herself from her said master's service, and is lurking about in the County, committing many acts of felony.

These are therefore, in the name of the state, to command the said slave Rachael forthwith to surrender herself and return home to her said master. And we do hereby also require the Sheriff of the said county of New-Hanover, to make diligent search and pursuit after the above mentioned slave, and her having found, to apprehend and secure so that she may be conveyed to her said master, or otherwise discharged as the law directs. And the said Sheriff is hereby empowered to raise & take with him such power of his county as he shall think fit, for apprehending the said-slave. And we do hereby declare, if the said slave Rachael does not surrender herself and return home, immediately after the publication of these presents, that any person may kill and destroy the said slave, by such means as he or they may think fit, without accusation or impeachment of any crime or offence for so doing, or without incurring any penalty or forfeiture thereby.

Given under our hands and seals this 11th day of October 1866, and in the 31st year of the independence of the said state.
