

FOREIGN.

On the 24th ult. the government packet, Hope, arrived at New York, with dispatches to our consuls from England and France...

A mail and dispatches from Coruña reached town this morning, brought by the Snapper schooner, arrived at Plymouth...

It appears in these papers by an article from Madrid of the 7th, that Joseph and the French headquarters were at the city of Logrono...

The whole of the intelligence is highly satisfactory. It appears clear that the French in Spain, with their present force, are wholly unable to make a stand against the Spaniards...

Sept. 24.—An extraordinary Gazette, published by the Junta of Seville, dated the 22d ult. contains a detail account of the battle at Gerona...

Marshal Ney has already passed through Bayonne on his way to the French army at Burgos, and it is probable that he will be appointed commander in chief of all the French forces intended to act against Spain...

The confident expectation of an approaching war between Prussia and Austria, is at present greatly shared. That nation has either been amused by Bonaparte or awed into submission...

General Wilkinson to Captain Harper. Major Bissell having reported to the general, Captain Harper's determination not to meet him, agreeably to an invitation of yesterday...

As some of those who are subject to our authority, forgetful of the most sacred duties of a Citizen, have dared to take the liberty of censuring the government, we admonish you, both in public and private, to hold the censor in respect and honor...

Capt. Woodward enumerates seventeen American vessels condemned in France, three remaining under seizure at Bordeaux, five remaining under the embargo, and two waiting trial.

Covent Garden theatre, valued at 700,000 dollars has been destroyed by fire, and twenty lives lost.

The French Senate had agreed to the calling on of the conscription of 1810.

The latest London prints are full of speculations relative to an expected general action between the Spaniards and French.

The Legislature of Vermont have re-elected Moses Robinson a republican Senator, and likewise the old Judges of the Supreme Court.

Another riot has taken place in Baltimore. A journeyman hatter, was stripped, tarred, and feathered, and carted through the principal streets of the city in the face of the Civil Authority...

The corner stone of the Hemlock Factory has been laid with much parade and pomp in Charleston.

The following notes passed between General James Wilkinson and Robert Goodloe Harper.

General James Wilkinson, the commander in chief of the army, to Capt. Robert Goodloe Harper, commanding a company of Volunteer Artillery.

General Wilkinson must excuse me from accepting his invitation. It supposes an equality, which, situated as he is, in the public opinion, and in my own, I cannot admit.

ROBERT G. HARPER, Adjutant-General, James Wilkinson, Commander in Chief.

General Wilkinson to Captain Harper. Major Bissell having reported to the general, Captain Harper's determination not to meet him, agreeably to an invitation of yesterday...

NORTH-CAROLINA.

General Orders!

Raleigh, November 8, 1808. To CALVIN JONES, Esq. Adjutant General of the Militia of North-Carolina.

SIR, The Secretary of the Department of War, under the orders of the President of the United States, and by virtue of an act of Congress, passed on the 30th day of March, 1808, entitled "An act authorizing a detachment from the Militia of the United States..."

You have it therefore in command from me, to give the necessary orders, and take such effectual measures as may be proper for having detached within the shortest time possible, Eight Thousand and Seventy One of the Militia of this State...

You will take proper measures to perfect the organization as required, into Companies, Battalions, Regiments, Brigades, and Divisions.

In your orders you will also communicate the information that if any Corps of Volunteers, who, previous to orders for taking the field, may tender their services to the Commander in Chief of the State, conformably to the second section of the aforesaid Act...

You will not fail to appeal to the honour and patriotism of our citizens on this occasion, and urge in the strongest terms the high importance of manifesting their devotion to the laws and the constituted authorities...

In your discharge of the duties herein required, you will be governed by these instructions, by the acts of Congress above mentioned, by the laws of this State and by such further instructions as you may from time to time receive from the Commander in Chief.

TO THE MILITIA OF NORTH-CAROLINA. It will be perceived by the preceding orders to the Adjutant General, that a detachment of 8073 of your body is required...

It will be highly grateful to my feelings, to find a readiness manifested by you to repair promptly to the standard of the nation, at the call of its government, and it is hoped and confidently expected that in every species and grade of service, the patriotic and brave Citizens of North-Carolina will not permit the necessity of resorting to compulsory drafts...

On the courage and patriotism of the Militia, the nation relies for protection and defence; and I flatter myself the Militia of North-Carolina, will on the present occasion, prove that such reliance will not be vain.

ONE DAY OF AN AGE. TO all that breathe the air of Heaven, whose bosoms are not unfeeling...

She gave the lion face of terror, And on the ocean's crystal surface, Taught the indomitable straggling Turkey to trace their liquid path along!

LITERARY INTELLIGENCE.

The works of the Hon. Fisher Ames have just been published in Boston.

The history of Don Francisco Miranda's attempt to effect a revolution in South America has lately issued from the press of Oliver and Munroe, Boston.

Volume I. of Willson's American Ornithology, or the Natural History of the Birds of the United States, is now publishing by Bradford and Inskeep, Philadelphia.

The first volume of Burr's trial, reported by Robertson, is published, and the second is now in the press at Philadelphia.

Proposals for publishing the life of General James Jackson, by a Mr. Charlton of Savannah, have been issued. This work will comprise a history of the Yazoo speculation.

Francis Xavier Martin Esq. of Newbern has been for some time employed in writing the history of North Carolina—it is expected to make a work of three volumes, besides one of maps, charts, plans, views, &c.

A very important and valuable work has just been published in New York; by direction of the "United States Military Philosophical Society" entitled "Maneuvers of Horse Artillery, by General Ross, Esq., written at Paris in the year 1800 at the request of General William B. Davis, then Envoy from the United States to France."

An address of Dr. Robert Williams on the subject of the Presidential Election, contained in a brief pamphlet, is a strong exposition of the history of the parties which now divide this country.

MAP OF NORTH-CAROLINA.

More than twelve years ago Messrs. Jonathan Price, of Fayetteville, and John Strother, now of Buncombe, contemplated and procured a Map of North-Carolina, and commenced surveys of the State. Their design was patronized by the Legislature and by a very large subscription by individuals for the purchase of the Map.

The whole of our peculiar and dangerous coast is delineated with great minuteness and accuracy, and it is said to be the best guide to navigators of any chart hitherto published.

Cheap Cash Store.

WILLIAM SHAW HAS just received from New-York a part of his Fall supply of GOODS. The remainder is expected in a few days, which, when added to his large stock on hand, will form a very extensive assortment of well selected Goods, suitable for all seasons...