TEN DOLLARS REWARD. STOLEN

FROM the Subscriber, a GRAY HORSE, about four feet 8 or 10 inches high, 6 years old last spring. He is a little hip-shot, I think on the farther side. It is presumed he was taken by two young men who absconded from the neighborhood of this place at the time he was missing. The men are small and slender made, and subject to get intoxicated with spirits. Their names I forbear to mention at this time—they are supposed to have gone to the Western Country, and it is not improbable they will sell or exchange the horse by the way. I therefore beg the attention of every honest and honourable person to observe if they can see a horse of the above description, and if they will write me by post to Raleigh, I will come or send and satisfy the above reward and all necessary charges.

MATTHEW SHAW.

STRAYED or Stolen, from the Subscriber, on Tuesday night the 3th instant, a Bay Mare, rising seven years old, near five feet high, with a roach main and tail, a star in her forehead, her left nostril white, and her left hind foot partly white. If stolen, whoever will apprehend the thief so that he may be brought to justice, shall receive Twenty Dollars Reward; and if strayed, whoever will deliver me the said Mare shall receive a generous reward and all reasonable expenses paid.

The above Lottery is authorized by an act of the Legislature of North Carolina, for the purpose of enabling the Trustees of the NEWTON ACADEMY near the town of Asheville, to complete the necessary buildings belonging to the same—and also to establish a Female Academy in the town of Asheville.

Which two objects the Trustees and Managers flatter themselves will be a sufficient inducement, independent of the flattering prospect held out in the above SCHEME, to influence all zealous friends to useful Institutions to become liberal purchasers of tickets.—And they deem it unnecessary to expatiate largely in contrasting the advantages these institutions may have (if well supported with friends), over most other Seminaries.—For it is now very generally known that Asheville is one of the most healthy situations on this continent—and lying in the neighbourhood of the Warm Springs, and on the main road from thence, (as well as from the Western to the Southern States) is more generally resorted to by the best characters of both sexes during Summer and Autumn, (for the benefit of health) than almost any other place in the Southern section of the Union.—And being also a place where board and Tuition are had on very moderate terms.—Where the Youths of the sister states will lay the foundation of sound constitutions together with their Educations, and receive the visits of their friends to and from the Warm Springs.—All these advantages united bear evident testimony of the eligibility of Asheville as a seat for Literary Institutions.—And therefore on these self-evident grounds, we respectfully solicit the public patronage.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Female Education, WARRENTON.

THE semi-annual Examination of the Pupils at this School, commenced on Wednesday the 27th inst. at which Alexander Falconer, Esq. & Mr. William Crawford, Principals of the Warrenton Academy, presided; it was attended by a numerous company of Ladies and Gentlemen of the first respectability.

The Exercises of the Scholars, in Spelling, Reading, Grammar and Parsing, History, Geography, and the use of the Celestial and Terrestrial Globes, occupied the two first days.—The Compositions of four young Ladies, Miss Henderson, of Granville, and Miss Blake, of Petersburg, together with Vaudelectrics by Miss Sitgreaves, of Halifax, and Miss Plummer, of Warrenton, were read.

The third day was devoted to a Musical Exhibition by the Pupils of Mr. Miller, who likewise displayed specimens of their progress in the art of Drawing and Painting. At the close of the second day, Mr. Falconer in behalf of himself and Mr. Crawford, delivered to the Young Ladies a handsome and impressive address, from which the following is an extract—

"Your Examination has been long, strict and impartial, and we with pleasure pronounce that you have acquitted yourselves in a manner which merits the greatest applause: You read with ease and emphasis, your knowledge of the English Grammar and Parsing is ready and accurate, and with a knowledge of the Rules you combine judgment; in Geography, History, the use of the Globes and Composition, you have discovered a proficiency which can only be the result of the greatest application."

The following Certificate has been handed to me, which is annexed for the information of those disposed to encourage this Institution. JACOB MORDECAI.

June 30, 1810.

We, the undersigned, Parents, Guardians and others, who attended the Examination of the Young Ladies, under the care of Mr. Mordecai, as well as the Musical performances of those under the immediate instruction of Mr. Miller, cannot deny ourselves the gratification of thus publicly expressing the satisfaction which their improvement has afforded us. From the celebrity of the School our expectations were by no means moderate, they have however been not only equalled, but surpassed. Through the course of a long and very strict examination, the young Ladies acquitted themselves in a manner which, while it reflects honour on their own diligence, evinces the abilities and unremitting attention of their several Preceptors; and we should be wanting, in justice to their merits, did we not assure them of our unqualified approbation.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

DEBATE

On the Reduction of the Naval Establishment of the United States.

APRIL 25, 1810.

The House had agreed to a Resolution that the Military and Naval Establishments ought to be reduced, and a committee had reported a bill for that purpose. After the discussion, published in our pages 53 and 54,

Mr. SMILIE, moved to amend the Bill so as to place the Navy on the footing on which it stood in 1806.

Mr. DANA said he was not for pausing with merely replacing the former system; he was also for guarding against the waste of public property and treasure which had taken place in the naval establishment. He believed that for the number of fighting men afloat the U. States had been put to a much greater expence than was necessary. He was not speaking, he said, of our having few brave men on the water, nor of the great sums given any where to those who give us their blood; but the system of the Navy Yards, he believed, required a thorough reform. If he was to judge of the general economy on board the frigates and smaller vessels from the little he had seen of them, he must set it down for certain that waste did not exist on board the vessels after they were fitted for service, and manned and officered. As far as he had an opportunity to observe, he had marked a strong sense of subordination, and the practice of command at the same time sustained with gentleman like propriety, without any unnecessary torture or rigour. In all this business, Mr. Dana said, where you employ warriors, whether by land or water, that department called the staff, the agents, purveyors of the supplies, &c. &c. is the branch of the service to which you must look for waste. On merely cast your eye along the decks of our vessels, the conduct of the officers and the manner in which they behaved indicated a sort of conduct which appeared incompatible with waste, laxity of discipline, want of attention to duty. Generally speaking, the civil branch of the service was the most correct. The House had been told truly, that there was a mar-
