The above Lottery is authorized by an act of the Legislature of North Carolina, for the purpose of enabling the Trustees of the NEWTON ACADEMY near the town of Asheville, to complete the necessary buildings belonging to the same—And also to establish a Female Academy in the town of Asheville.

Which two objects the Trustees and Managers flatter themselves will be a sufficient inducement, independent of the flattering prospect held out in the above SCHEME, to influence all zealous friends to useful institutions to be come liberal purchasers of tickets—And they deem it unnecessary to expatiate largely in contrasting the advantages these institutions may have (if well supported with friends) over most other Seminaries—For it is now very generally known that Asheville is one of the most healthy situations on this continent—and lying in the neighbourhood of the Warm Springs, and on the main road from thence, (as well as from the Western to the Southern States) is more generally resorted to by the best characters of both sexes during Summer and Autumn, (for the benefit of health) than almost any other place in the Southern section of the Union—And being also a place where board and Tuition are had on very moderate terms—Where the Youths of the sister states will lay the foundation of sound constitutions together with their Education, and receive the visits of their friends and from the Warm Springs.—All these advantages united bear evident testimony of the eligibility of Asheville as a seat for Literary Institutions—And therefore on these self-evident grounds, we respectfully solicit the public patronage.

FOREIGN.

HOLLAND.

The following address, (taken from a Greenock paper of the 29th of August) it is said, has been privately circulated in Amsterdam, and other parts of Holland:

"Hollanders—Remember your ancestors: exert all your energies in support of those principles for which they contended, and the rights which they have bequeathed to you.—You are reminded by your tyrant of Tromp and Kuyter. Let the names and the memory of those heroes inspire you with equal zeal in asserting the dignity and the freedom of your country. Would they have stooped to a foreign tyrant; Would they have renounced the principles of true republicans!—But you should also remember the Nassaus and De Witts. With what honour must the venerable shades of these august characters (if they are sensible of what is passing on earth) behold the degrading condition of their country, now the scorn and the victim of a barbarous ruffian, who tramples upon every thing held sacred among mankind! It is said that your opposer is about to visit your country, in order to enjoy a sight of the people whom he has enslaved, and the land which he has bro't to digrace and ruin. Your tyrant will then be in your power, and by one bold effort of national energy, you may release yourselves and the suffering world from the monster who has abused power more than any despot that history has recorded. It is true that he has sent a powerful army into your country, in order to confirm your bondage and prevent all resistance. But powerful as that army is, it would sink before the energy of a whole national exertion; besides, that army cannot be so insensible to all human obligations as the tyrant who directs them. They know how lavish he is of human blood, and how many of their countrymen he has sent to inevitable destruction in Spain, & that as many more must fall victims to his ambition before he can succeed in subduing it, even if his outrageous and wicked attack upon its independence should at last be triumphant. Appeal to the army who have been sent to rivet your chains. Remind them of their efforts in pursuit of what they deemed liberty. Remind them of their lawful march, who is now a fugitive and a dependent on the generosity of another state. Endeavour to impress them with a sense of the disgrace which they will eternally entail upon themselves if they continue to fight merely to gratify the cruel ambition of a wretch who is the enemy of human nature. Inured as they are to spoliation and to slaughter, they cannot be so utterly callous to every sense of justice, and every feeling of humanity, as the tyrant who drives them to acts of desolation, from the impulse of the most savage ambition and unrelenting ferocity. Tho' the degraded soldiers of a tyrant, they still are men, and may be roused into a conviction of what is due to an unoffending and independent nation.

The tyrant has shewn by his treatment of his brother, whom he forced, in violation of all your hereditary principles as republicans, to acknowledge as your king, how little mercy you have reason to expect at his hands. Yet you endured that phantom of a King, because he seemed disposed to rule over you with mildness, and to regard the interests of your country. This mildness, and this regard for your welfare, were crimes not to be expiated in the eyes of his unnatural brother, and Louis was
