Stop the Swindler!

A MAN who called himself Clerus Setth Brown, came to my shop about the hiddie of the amber last, and introduced himself as a Joutneyman Victor, at which breiness I give him employ; and fidding him to be a tolerable good workman, I was induced to give him credit for a small amount, and things which he needed—But previous to that being discharged, he began importunely to increase it, for spirits, gambling, clothing, &c. all of which he ascened very food of, and on the night of the 4th inst cloped debtor to me about $15, and considerably in arrears with others also. In the course of his short stay, he feighted considerable attachment to the place and people; and a few days before he departed, was featurably recounting his melianchoty story and base enthraliments. He told me he was born near Abordeen in Scotland; came to Philadelphia while young; served his apprenticeship here; whence he emigrated through the middle, western and southern states, and that in the course of his travels, he had married three wives and left them all living; the first, I believe, was in Virginia, the second in Kentucky, and the third in South-Carolina—A follow-traveller of his, who still remains near this place, says that Brown was a druminer in the U. States army, from which he deserted. Another lourneyman-Hatter siys he had it in contemplation to steal my horse when he went away, &c.—Ite is of a middle stature, well made, has black hair and blue eyes; says he is 29 years of age, but appears quite young. He is very foul of bolling long-bulets, jumping, and becating the drum; at all of which he is very active. He is fond of jovial, dyinking bompany, has a tolerable genteel appearance, often makes use of bye-sayings, such as "good bye, says I." and sometimes acts the goot. Report says he has in like-manner left all his former employers. It is scarcely worth while to mention his dress, as he may easily change it but he took with him, which is somewhat remarkable, being bluegeand checkered formers, as the broad-left surtout cost, Headington

STOP THE VILLAIN!!!

RANAWAY from me on the 10th of August last, my Regro man BRISTER, who previous to his gring killed one of my sons with a hoc.—Said Negro is 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, has a black complexion, stout made, a full face, and a big dull voice—has a sear on one of his eners, occasioned by the cut of an axe, & a sear on his right thumb, caused by a whittow.

For the apprehension of one who has been guilty of such an offence it would almost seem nunceessary to offer a reward—Pustice and the good of society require his apprehension and punahment. I will however give a liberal remark for him dead or alive.

The said Negro has been heard of in the neighbourhood a few days past; but may rousibly go off.
