like Champlain, there may be some prospect of success. Their health would bear a great price...

Mr. Randolph adverted to the defenceless state of our seaports, and particularly of the Chesapeake. A single ship, only, on both shores, might be considered in tolerable security...

He was gratified to find gentlemen acknowledging the demerit of the non-importation law. He called upon the House to reflect whether they were not about to abandon all reclamation for the unparalleled wrongs...

Her march on the mountain wave Her home in the deep! Will you call upon to leave your ports and harbors untouched by just till you can return from Canada...

Mr. Randolph declared that the committee had stripped Executive. In designating the power appropriate to this force to be employed...

How had we shown our sympathy with the patriots of Spain, or with her American provinces? By seizing on one of them, her claim to which we had formerly respected...

Mr. Randolph then proceeded to notice the unjust and libellous imputation of British attachments against certain characters in this country...

and all the measures are up in arms. Against these, what is our strategy? In concert with the British, and the United States, and the United States...

He acknowledged the influence of a Shakespeare and a Milton upon his imagination, of a Locke upon his understanding, of a Sidney upon his pen...

But the outrages and injuries of England—based up in the principles of the revolution, he could never palliate, much less defend them.
