Twenty Dollars Reward.

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the 2d instant a likely Negro man, named HENRY, of dark complexion, thirty-two or three years of age, about five feet eleven inches high, has a sulky stubborn look, talks short and appears diffident when spoken to; had on when he went away a negro cotton coat, pantaloons and vest homespun, no other clothing recollected. I presume he is lurking about in the county of Nash, either at Mr. Michael Collins or amongst the Negroes belonging to the Mr. Hilliards of said County. The above reward of twenty dollars will be given to any one delivering said negro Henry to me living within three miles of Lenoir, Franklin county, or ten dollars to any person apprehending said negro and lodging him in any goal within the state so that I get him again.

BLANKS

Of various kinds for sale at this Office.

Windsor and Fan-y Chair-Making.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their friends and the public, that they have commenced the above business in this City, under the firm of DAVID RUTH & SON, and flatter themselves, that they will be enabled to furnish any article in their line, on the most reasonable terms, and at the shortest notice. They pledge themselves, that their work shall be executed in a neat and workmanlike manner, and they trust, from their unremitting exertions to please, they will receive a portion of public patronage.

Williamsborough Academy.

THE Students of this Institution were examined on the 15th inst. before the Trustees and in the presence of the parents and guardians of the pupils. They evinced great application on their part, and much ability and attention in their teacher. The Trustees flatter themselves that the qualifications of Mr. Hillman, the Principal in the Academy, the healthiness of the situation, the cheapness of board, and other advantages of the place, will induce the public to give this seminary that patronage which those inducements merit. The session will commence on the first Monday in January, 1814, under the superintendance of Mr. Hillman. Board may be had in private families in town and neighborhood on very reasonable terms.
Dec. 25. J. HAMILTON, Secy.

FOR SALE,

Eight hundred and ninety two acres of Land, THOUGHT to be equal to any in Warren county, lying on each side of the Stage road, adjoining the land of Gen. Williams and others, within 6 miles of Warrenton and 4 from the Shocco Springs, with a convenient Dwelling House, newly built, and other necessary improvements, which I will exchange for Land in Tennessee, or sell low for cash or good paper, and give possession on or before the first of January next.

TAKEN UP

AND committed to the jail of this county, (Georgetown) in this place a man of color, who on examination says he was one of the who deserted about eight months since, from the Havannah Spanish regiment of Militia at St. Augustine, and calling himself a free man, by the name of Uchito Franco: His having no proof of his being a free man, he was committed to prison, under a belief of his being a runaway slave; he also states, that he fell in with John Harris near St. Nicholas on the American side of the St. Mary's river, who brought him to Pitt County, N. C. He is of a light complexion, considerably marked with the small pox, slender made and near six feet in height, and speaks tolerably well the English language. Any person owning the said Negro, is hereby requested to come forward, prove property, pay his expenses, and take him out of my custody.

FOREIGN. BRITISH PROCLAMATION. From the Plattsburgh Republican.

By his Excellency Lieut. Gen. Sir George Prevost, Baronet, commander of his majesty's forces in North America, &c. &c. To the inhabitants of his Majesty's provinces in North America. A PROCLAMATION. The complete success which has attended his majesty's arms on the Niagara frontier, having placed in our possession the whole of the enemy's posts on that line, it became a matter of imperious duty, to retaliate on America, the miseries which the unfortunate inhabitants of Newark had been made to suffer upon the evacuation of Fort George.

The villages of Lewiston, Black Rock, and Buffalo, have accordingly been burnt. At the same time that his excellency the commander of the forces sincerely deprecates this mode of warfare, he trusts, that it will be sufficient to call the attention of every candid and impartial person, both amongst ourselves and the enemy, to the circumstances from which it has arisen, to satisfy them that this departure from the established usages of war has originated with America herself, and that to her alone, are justly chargeable, all the awful and unhappy consequences which have hitherto flowed, and are likely to result from it.

It is not necessary to advert to the conduct of the troops employed on the American coast, in conjunction with his majesty's squadron, under Admiral Sir J. B. Warren, since, as they were neither within the command, nor subject to the controul of his excellency, their acts cannot be ascribed to him, even if they wanted that justification which the circumstances that occasioned them, so amply afford.

It will be sufficient for the present purpose and in order to mark the character of the war, as carried on upon the frontier of these provinces, to trace the line of conduct observed by his excellency, and the troops under his command, since the commencement of hostilities, and to contrast it with that of the enemy.

The first invasion of Upper Canada took place in July, 1812, when the American forces, under brig. gen. Hull, crossed over and took possession of Sandwich, where they began to manifest a disposition so different from that of a magnanimous enemy, and which they have since invariably displayed, in marking out, as objects of their peculiar resentment, the loyal subjects of his majesty, and dooming their property to plunder and conflagration.

Various instances of this kind occurred both at Sandwich and its neighborhood, at the very period when his majesty's standard was waving upon the Fort of Michilimackinac, and affording protection to the persons and property of those who had submitted to it: Within a few weeks afterwards, the British flag was also hoisted on the fortress of Detroit, together with the whole of the Michigan Territory, had surrendered to his majesty's arms.

Had not his excellency been actuated by sentiments far different from those which had influenced the American government, and the persons employed by it, in the wanton acts of the destruction of private property, committed during their short occupation of part of Upper Canada, his excellency could not have failed to have availed himself of the opportunity which the undisturbed possession of the whole of the Michigan territory, afforded him of amply retaliating for the devastating system which had been pursued at Sandwich and on the Thames.

But strictly in conformity to the views and disposition of his own government, and to that liberal and magnanimous policy which it had dictated, he chose rather to forbear an imitation of the enemy's example, in the hope, that such forbearance would be duly appreciated by the government of the United States, and would produce a return to the more civilized usages of war.

The persons and property, therefore, of the inhabitants of the Michigan Territory, were respected, and remained unmolested. In the winter of the following year, when the success which attended the daring and gallant enterprise against Ogdensburg had placed that populous and flourishing village in our possession, the generosity of the British character was again conspicuous, in the scrupulous preservation of every article which could be considered as private property; such public buildings only being destroyed as were used for the accommodation of troops and for public stores.

The destruction of the defences of Ogdensburg and the dispersion of the enemy's forces in that neighborhood, laid open the whole of their frontier on the St. Lawrence, to the incursions of his majesty's troops, and Hamilton, as well as the numerous settlements on the banks of the river, might, at any hour, had such been the intention of his majesty's government, or of those acting under it, been plundered and laid waste.

During the course of the following summer by the fortunate result of the enterprise against Plattsburgh, that town was for several hours in the complete possession of our troops there not being any force in the neighborhood which could attempt a resistance. Yet even there, under circumstances of strong temptation, and when the recent example of the enemy in the wanton destruction at York, of
