Also about 400 acres on the south side of Neuse, and lower side of Falling Creek, joining the River and the Creek, including a seine place and a Limestone Rock, which has been proved and makes excellent Lime—this has one plantation. Also 436 acres on the south side of Neuse, a little below Spring Bank, joining the River, with one plantation.—There is a plenty of cleared lands on the above plantations.—They may be had at a fair price, and a reasonable time will be given the purchaser for payment.—For further information see the lands and subscriber. Walter Jones' Domestic & Factory Loom.

THE patent right to this LOOM, so far as respects the State of North-Carolina, has been purchased by a Company of Gentlemen, who intend as soon as possible, to have constructed a number of the Looms for sale.—They will have Looms in operation in different parts of the State in the course of the ensuing Spring. Those persons who wish to purchase Looms, will make application to Samuel C. Brame, at Raleigh, and the Looms will be sent to them at the expense of the Company. The Company can with confidence recommend this Loom as one of the most useful improvements in the Domestic Arts, which has been made: fifteen or twenty yards can with ease be woven in a day, of a thread which is usually denominated "a twelve hundred," and of a thread denominated "a six hundred," from thirty to forty yards can be woven in the day. A person can learn the art of weaving on this Loom in two or three days. The whole process of weaving is carried on by the motion of the Batton. The Loom is simple in its construction, and easily kept in order. 2 January 10, 1815.

30 DOLLARS REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the 8th inst. two Negroes, SAM, and AMY—sam is an African fellow, thirty five or forty years of age, speaks English tolerably plain, and about a middle stature. Amy is about 21 or 22 years of age, a small woman, yellow complexion and is marked with the small pox. One pit on the end of her nose, appears as if a small bit was taken out, keen black eyes, delicate appearance, having been brought up a house servant—she will aim for Norfolk from whence I have lately brought her. She ran away from me in July last, twelve miles west from Murfreesborough, going on my way home from Norfolk, she reached Norfolk in about two weeks, where she was committed to Jail. The fellow will no doubt accompany her.—They will aim for the following rout, Fayetteville, Averashborough, Raleigh, Murfreesborough, or Winton. The probability is, that Amy will leave Sam after a few days traveling, under the idea of passing for a free person, as she is a yellow girl. I will give the above reward to any person who will secure them in any Jail in this State so that I get them again, or if taken separately twenty dollars for Amy and ten dollars for Sam. JOHN M'RAE. STATE PAPER.

Extract of a letter to the Committee of Ways and Means from the Secretary of the Treasury, dated Treasury Department, January 17, 1815.

"I have deemed it my duty to wait with deference and respect, for a decision upon the measures which I had the honor to suggest to the committee of Ways and Means on the 17th October last. But the rapid approach to the termination of the session of Congress induces me again to trespass upon your attention, earlier, perhaps, than is consistent with a satisfactory view of the situation of the Treasury, as some important plans are still under legislative discussions. I have now, however, the honor to submit to the consideration of the committee of Ways and Means the following additional statements and propositions."

After giving a statement of the appropriations made by Congress for 1814, the secretary proceeds: "The conclusion from this statement of the situation of the treasury at the close of 1814, under the different views which have been presented, would seem to establish, that the ways and means provided for the service of that year were considerably more than the demands on the treasury would require. But it must always be recollected that the demands are positive and urgent, while a great portion of the ways and means rests upon a precarious foundation. Thus:

The unsatisfied demands on the Treasury for the service of 1814, positive and urgent in their nature, amount to 19,490,971 42 The cash in the Treasury and the outstanding revenue, only amount to 6,234,042, 25 13,156,929 17

And, consequently, the payment of the difference, amounting to $ 13,156,929 17, for the service of 1814, must depend on the success of raising money by loan, or by issues of Treasury notes, under the unexecuted authority constituting the remaining ways and means designated for the same year.

II. Statement of the situation of the Treasury for the year 1815.

1. The charges upon the Treasury for the year 1815, as already ascertained. The estimates for the annual appropriations amount to $ 40,538,889 39, consisting of the following items:

For civil, diplomatic and miscellaneous expenses 1,079,989 39 For the military department 30,342,238 8,217,362 40,538,889 39 The public debt will call for a sum of 13,493,143 30 56,032,034 69
