Ill wing correction of an error into which we were d in regard to the betrayal of Gen. Morgan:

The Virginian of the 8th inst., in an account of General Morgan's death, states that Mrs. Williams, upon him. It is not so. The Mrs. Williams whose necessaries without money. When the crash guest he was, is an old lady, a widow, and a true outhern woman. See would be the last person in the world to entrap even an enemy by professions of friendship and hospitality. She was a personal rand of General Morgan's. She knew nothing of the enemy until they had surrounded her house, when she at once roused the General from his sleep and assisted him to escape from the house. She has a sou an officer in our cavalry, and has done as much for our men and suffered as much from the enemy as

The "Mrs. Williams" suspected of betraying Morgan is the wife of a near relation of the old lady of the same name who is at Knoxville. She was here sell a guest of the house, and may, or may not, have given the information. If she did, it was a work of supererogation, for the town was full of bitter toties. From the moment Morgan reached Greenville, a hundred hostile eyes were on every motion he made. Instant and accurate information was sent to the enemy by messengers more certain tian any woman could be.

The identity of name has misled you or your informant. I doubt if the suspecied "Mrs. Williams" of the United States. did act the part ascribed to her. Be that as it may, Morgan's hostess was not privy to any of her acts. I know the old lady well-have known her long .-No one has been more shocked by the event, or feels more borror and detestation of the acts which led to it than the elder Mrs. Williams, who was sincerely a friend of Morgan and of our cause.

PROM THE VALLEY.

We have some late news from the Valley, through the Rockingham Register. A formidable raid started out from the enemy's lines on Friday or Saturday week, information of which caused not a little excitement along up the Valley. Commissaries and partermasters were busy removing their stores to places of safety. It was reported that they had passed up the Page Valley, but this afterwards proved to be a mistake; and it was ascertained that they had crossed over to the eastern side of the Blue Ridge. RALEIGH, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 116, 1864. Vol. I.

No. 126.

From the London Morning Post, July 28. CAN THE WAR GO ON! On Monday night Mr. Lindsay inquired if it was the intention of the Government, in concert with the other powers of Europe, to use their endeavors to bring about a suspension of hostili. ties in America, and Lord Palmerston replied that, in the present state of things, it was not thought there would be any advantage in such a step .--This incident forces us to ask how long it is really probable that this impracticable, aimless, hopeless war will last. Is it at all likely that it will survive the present campaign? It cannot seriously be supposed that the Northerners will go on fighting forever at the cost of national bankruptcy and universal ruin and the desolation of their homes, not only without any tangible profit or advantage at present, but even without any prospect of possible benefit in the future. We speak of the desolation of Northern homes, because, as the loss in killed and wounded is at least thrice as great on their side as on that of the Confederates, there must soon be not a single family in the Federal States but what will have to mourn the death of one or more of its members, or to witness the sad spectacle of a husband, a brother, a son, painfully dragging himself about a cripple for life. Is it creditable, is it conceivable, is it even possible, that the Federals should continue such a war much longer? Their doing so really seems to be inconsistent with the pature of man and of things, Man is not given to ruin himself systematically for rangean dates to the Sist: It was rumored in nothing. War cannot be carried on upon nationhis that Napolean would soon make another effort al bankruptcy. The mountains of debt which the Federals are piling up, like Pelien upon Ossa, marching home on the expiry of their term of

That a financial collapse is imminent does not admit of the shadow of a doubt. BY THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA A PROCLAMATION!

WHEREAS, IT IS REPORTED TO ME THAT MANY soldiers from the troops of this State have des rted their colors and comrades, and are now lurking in the woods and mountains, some of them subsisting by forcing their friends to violate the laws by aiding them and others by violent depredations upon peaceable citizens, entailing shame and obloquy upon themselves and their posterity, outraging the laws and the peace of society, and damaging the cause of their hard pressed country.

And, whereas, Gen. Robt. E. Lee, in General Order No. 54, Aug. 10th, 1864, has promised to deal leniently with all who promptly return to duty, though they may have it curred the penalties of desertion by prolonged absence without authorities. ty. Now, therefore, I, Zebulon B. Vance, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do issue this my proclamation, urging most earnestly upon all such misguided men to wipe out from their once respected names the foul stain of desertion by promptly returning to the post of duty in accordance with said General Order No. 54, promising to all such who voluntarily return or surrender themselves to the proper authorities a fail and tree pardon, or the infliction of only the mildest penalties of the military law, except those who have been guilty of capital felonies against the lives and property of the citizen, and this promise shall hold good for thirty days from the date hereof. And I hereby warn all such who refuse to comply with these terms that the atmost power of this State will be exerted to capture them or drive them from the borders of a country whose high honor and spotless renown they disgrace by relusing to defend, and that the extremest penalties of the law will be inforced without exception when caught, as well as egainst their aiders and abetiers in the civil courts .-Simultaneously with this proclamation orders will issue to the entire militia of the State to turn out for their arrest, and I hope by timely submission they will spare me the pain of hunting down like gulity felons many brave and misguided men who have served their country well and could do so again. Deserters from other States who hide in our woods and assist in giving our State a bad name, I can do nothing for, but to erring soldiers of North Carolina I confidently appeal. And I earnestly call on all good citizens to assist me in making this appeal effectual, both by their exertions as inditia soldiers and their influence as men, to take pains to seek out all deserters of their acquaintance, put this proclamation in and orge upon them to return to the path of duty, which is also the path of safety and of honor. If every good and loyal citizen would set about to reclaim or capture one deserter by every means in his power, as would succeed and he will have rendered a most vulnable and patriotic service to his State and country. Civil magistrates are also exhorted to be diligent in proceeding against all such as violate the statute against harboring, siding or abetting deserters, and warning is hereby given that in all cases where either civil magistrates or militia or home guard officers refuse or neglect to faithfully perform their duty in this respect, upon proper evidence submitted to me, the Executive protection extended to them under acts of Congress shall be withdrawn, as I cannot certify duties are "necessary to the due administration of the laws," which they will not execute.

Given under my hand, and the great scal of the State, at Raleigh, this 24th day of August, 1884. By the Governor: A. M. McPHERTERS, Private Secretary, pro tem. Aug. 24, 1864.
