

their services may be necessary. The usual thorough fare through the Tower was stopped this morning.

About 12 o'clock there were about 5000 persons collected at Spa fields. At a quarter past, a hackney coach arrived, from which four persons got out, and one harangued the meeting. He began by saying, "you are no longer under the government of Pitt. Be firm, and you will conquer. Individually you are nothing—collectively you are every thing. You have enemies here, so mind. Indeed, wherever you meet, you have enemies." A second orator said, "Gentlemen, we have the monopoly of the world." The friends of equal rights and freedom would not hear him, but put an end to his speech by pelting.

The meeting had not broken up when our paper was put to press; and to the contrary hundreds were flocking to it.

BRUSSELS NOV. 2 SEC. ON CHAMBER OF THE STATES GENERAL.

A message was received from his Majesty, with the treaty concluded between the King and his Royal Highness the Prince Regent of Great Britain, Hanover, &c. of which the following is the substance:

Art. 1. The duty called the Droi d'Aubaine, and the imposts named Gabelle d'Heredité and Revellance d'Emigration, shall be no longer demanded or levied, whether an inheritance passes, from the States of his Majesty the King of the Netherlands to the dominions of Hanover, or from this last country to the former kingdom; but all such imposts are forever abolished and suppressed by these presents, on the footing of a perfect reciprocity.

2. This arrangement extends not only to the duties and imposts, the produce of which come into the public treasury, but also to those which may have been hitherto levied for the particular accounts of any Provinces, Towns, Villages, Corporations or Communities whatever, and which consequently shall not have in future the power to require or levy such duties or imposts.

3. The said Convention is applicable not only to all the cases which shall occur in future, but also to those which are at this moment still unfinished.

4. However, as it concerns only property and the free transmission, the two kingdoms maintain in full and entire vigour all the laws relative to the personal obligation to military duty, and neither of the two governments from which the present declaration emanates, shall be limited in respect to legislation on this subject.

This declaration was ratified by his Majesty the King of the Netherlands, the 6th of October, 1816, and by his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name & on the part by his Majesty the King of Great Britain, Ireland, and Hanover, the 20th of August.

About thirty British emigrants, returned, disappointed and cheerless, were landed here on Saturday, from the Cheerful. Beveridge, arrived from New-York. There are several weavers among them, who, of course, could not obtain a livelihood by their trade there, while British manufactures were selling so far below the original cost. Others whose expectations, perhaps, were unwarrantably high setting out, may have returned, not so much from being unable to get employment, as from finding the encouragement so far short of their hopes. Some descriptions of artificers, we believe, have fared better, such as masons, joiners, &c. laborers, also, have found employment in the agricultural districts. But withal, the rage for emigrating has been such, that great numbers, of almost all descriptions, have found themselves, after lingering some time penniless and still without occupation. The sea ports are full of them, anxiously seeking some opportunity or means of returning home. Capt. Beveridge says, that could he have taken them gratuitously, he might have got a thousand passengers of this description at New York. To show the height to which the emigrating mania has risen, we may notice that, as we are told among the persons returned by this vessel, is a game-keeper, belonging to Yorkshire, who could not believe, until he had actual demonstration of the fact, that the Yankees had no more use for his services, than the people of Buenos Ayres had for the stoves and hearth-ropes which some of our sage speculators sent out a few years ago in the incipency of our commerce with that quarter. Greenock Ad.

FAYETTEVILLE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1817.

At an election for magistrate of police, and commissioners, for the town of Fayetteville, for the year 1817, held at the court house on Monday the 6th instant, the following gentlemen were elected:

John Winslow, Esq.
Magistrate of Police.
John Thomas, Duncan M'Levan, Duncan Thompson, John Clark, E. Stedman, John Matthews, & Colin Shaw; Commissioners.

The Legislature of this state adjourned on Saturday last, after having passed one hundred and thirty eight acts, an unusual proportion of which were of an important nature. Among these may be enumerated the several acts incorporating companies for improving our internal navigation, and the one prohibiting the issuing or receiving of due bills. Upon the whole, the late session, although one of the longest was also one of the busiest of the legislature for several years—and I hope I may be permitted to add, is characterised by peculiar public spirit and liberality. Of this the appropriation of $10,000, for a statue of Washington, and the determination to educate the son of Capt. Blakely, are striking proofs.

RESOLUTIONS.

Passed at the late session of the General Assembly.

NORTH-CAROLINA.

In Senate, December 27, 1817.

WHEREAS it was Resolved, by the senate and house of commons of the General Assembly of North Carolina, at their session in the year 1814, that a superb sword appropriately adorned, should be presented to Captain Johnson Blakely of the United States, soldier of war was, upon his return to the United States: whereas, Capt. Blakely having perished at sea, the opportunity has been lost of tendering to him this tribute of affection and honorable regard; but having left a wife and child endeared to the people of the state, by his gallant conduct in the service of his country; & it being proper that the sword intended for him should be placed in the hands of his family.

Be it therefore unanimously Resolved, By the senate and house of commons of the General Assembly of North Carolina, that his Excellency the Governor be requested to forward to Mrs. Blakely the sword which was directed by the General Assembly of 1814, to be presented to her husband, together with a copy of their resolution on the subject; and to express to Mrs. Blakely the deep interest which this Legislature will always take in her happiness and welfare;

Resolved further, That Captain Blakely's child be educated at the expence of this state; and that Mrs. Blakely be requested to draw on the Treasurer of this state, from time to time, for such sums of money as shall be required for the education of the said child.

Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to forward to Mrs. Blakely a copy of the foregoing resolutions:

Unanimously concurred with by both houses.

WHEREAS it is an object of great importance to the character of this state as well as to its commercial and agricultural interests, that a direct outlet to the ocean should be formed for the waters of Albemarle Sound of sufficient depth to admit the entry of vessels of burthen: and whereas, it is represented to this General Assembly that it is probable such an outlet might be found by closing in a suitable manner the communication which now exists between the Albemarle and Pamlico Sounds.

Resolved, That Blake Baker, David Clark, Samuel Treadwell, Josiah Holly, Joseph B. Skinner and John Little be and they are hereby appointed commissioners to employ one or more skilful engineers to survey all such parts of the Albemarle and Croatoa Sounds as shall be necessary to ascertain whether it be practicable to form an outlet to the ocean for the waters of Albemarle sound, at or near Roanoke inlet, of sufficient depth to admit the entry of vessels of burthen, and if practicable, how and in what manner such an outlet can be formed and at what expence.

Resolved further, That the said commissioners be and they are hereby requested to employ one or more skilful Engineers to survey the inlet at Ocracock, and to ascertain whether it be practicable to improve its navigation, and if so, in what manner:—And particularly whether the channel across the swash can be deepened in a way to prove lasting; and also to survey the Pamlico and Croatoa Sounds; and report the obstructions to their navigation, and the best means of removing those obstructions.

Resolved further, That the said commissioners be and they are hereby requested to have the foresaid surveys made with charts and observations explanatory thereof in time to make a detailed report to the next General Assembly—and that all expenses incurred in carrying the aforesaid resolutions into effect be paid by the Treasurer upon an account stated and signed by said commissioners or a majority of them, and be allowed to the Treasurer in the settlement of his accounts.

By a resolution of the General Assembly, his Excellency the Governor is requested to make such an election as he may think advisable respecting the attitude of the statue of the late Genl. Washington, directed to be procured, and in all other matters respecting the same.

Wm. Hill Henry Seawell, Samuel Goodwin, and John Haywood, Esqrs. are appointed commissioners to contract for the erection of a Fire Proof House for the preservation of the public records. The house to be 40 by 26 feet, 2 stories high, and to contain four apartments.

The board of Auditors to settle militia claims are by resolution continued for another year.

His Excellency the Governor is by resolution requested to enquire of the several commanding officers of the counties where public arms were distributed, under an act of 1812, the state of those arms, and to take measures to have them preserved.

Mr. Badger presented a protest signed by himself and 22 others, against granting an unlimited charter to the Roanoke Navigation Company.

The SENATE of the United States has been summoned by the Executive, to meet in their chamber, in this city, on the 4th of March next, the day after the termination of the present Congress.

Extract of a letter, dated Liverpool, Nov. 5, 1816, to a Mercantile House in New-York.

"Our cotton market is dull, and almost every holder is willing to sell, while the dealers and consumers purchase sparingly. Upland cottons we quote at 17 1/4 a 18 1/2; but very prime ones being scarce will bring 19 3/4. Sea-Island cottons continue particularly dull, and at a public sale of about 480 bags a few days ago, the prices obtained were 22 1/4 to 23 1/4, the quality from ordinary to rather fine.

Our grain market is not brisk, for the prices have advanced so rapidly that the dealers do not buy with confidence. Wheat may be quoted at 17s a 19s 6d for 70 lbs. and old hard wheat, fit for grinding, would bring somewhat more. It would not surprise us if the prices of grain should rather decline, for the immediate opening of the ports will bring a quantity into the market, and we have arrivals now beginning to take place from the Baltic, though these will soon be stopped by the season of the year. American flour would probably bring 65s a 70s per bbl.

Potashes on hand would bring 43s—Pearls, duty paid, 70s.—Tar is a little on the advance, as it would bring 14 a 14s per bbl.—Turpentine 13 a 14s per cwt. Rice may be quoted 35 a 40s in bond. Hhd. staves are in demand at 16 a

COMMUNICATION

DIED.—In this town, on the 3rd instant, Mrs. REBECCA BOWELL, at the advanced age of about 85. She had been a resident of this place for the last 62 years of her life, during which time she deserved the esteem and affection of all who knew her. In the latter part of her days she was much afflicted by two paralytic strokes, but in the midst of her afflictions she enjoyed in a remarkable manner the supports of the Gospel. She had long been a Professor of the Religion of Jesus, and her uniform conduct in health, and her exercises in sickness and death, gave the most satisfactory evidence, that she was indeed born again. May my death be like the righteous, and my last end like his.
