LAND BANK NOW READY TO LEND

W. T. Old and W. G. Gaither
Identified With New Norfolk Institution

The Virginia-Carolina Land Bank of Norfolk, Va., capitalized at $250,000, is now ready for business, having been chartered by the Federal Farm Loan Board under an Act approved June 17, 1919. W. T. Old, formerly of Elizabeth City, who for some years has been prominent in Norfolk financial circles is vice-president of the new institution, and W. G. Gaither, first vice-president of the First & Citizens National Bank of this city, is a member of the board of directors.

Under the provisions of the Farm Loan Act, the new bank is authorized to make loans and advance money for the following purposes: (a) To loan, on first mortgage on farm lands within the Land Bank District, which in this case comprises Virginia and North Carolina; and which mortgages may subsequently be used as collateral for issues of Federal Farm Loan bonds to this bank; and that money may be loaned for the following purposes: (b) To purchase land for agricultural use. (c) To purchase equipment, fertilizer, live stock, etc., for the operation of the mortgaged farm. (d) To provide buildings, drainage, and other permanent improvements of the mortgaged lands. (e) To pay off existing debts, and

LOVE YOUR HUSBAND BY RALPH POOL

There is a wail that's loud and long arising over our fair land, from hubbies who would sing a song of why the wives should love their band. The grimy and unshaven male, back home from hours of strife and toil, of frantic grabs for frisky kale, in this world's den of strife and moil, with honest sweat upon his brown, and tales of varied business woes, his fair wife's love, he doth allow, should last until Gehenna froze.

The Old Maid sings a rhapsody on how the children should be raised, and therefore, though not married, I discourse on wives and am not fazed. What though her man be full of prunes, his talk replete with sordid things? Her heart should thrill with cheerful tunes when'er his carcass home he brings, for though he be a battered guy, with little in the line of charms, the weekly bacon he does buy, and keeps her safe from all alarms. The poor, mistreated married gent, who works all day and does not rove at night upon some mischief bent, is sure well worth his helpmeet's love; you wives should plant a soft caress upon his wrinkled, care-worn brow; you simply could not ever guess how that would stir his tired heart now.

While fast we tread upon the road of Progress to a better state, friend wife, make happy your abode, and love your man ere it's too late.

to consolidate same into one long easy-payment loan.

The Joint Stock Land Bank has authority under this law to make loans for periods of from 5 to 40 years, but is not permitted to charge a commission. It is however entitled to receive compensation for examination of titles, surveys, appraisal expenses, etc., and the extent of loans permitted to a single borrower is 15 per cent of its capital, in this case being a maximum of $37,500.

These loans may be repaid on the installment plan, of fixed amounts to be paid annually or semi-annually, and sufficient to extinguish the debt in not less than 5 years or more than 40 years; and at the end of the first 5 years additional payments in multiples of $25 if tendered must be accepted, it being thus provided that the borrower may pay off the entire loan with interest charges to date, at any time after the expiration of the first 5 years.

The bank will be subject to the same federal examination that is provided for other banks under the national banking act. It is therefore under the supervision of the United States government at all times.

It is stated that the policy of this bank will be to loan money on the most desirable farming lands in North Carolina and Virginia, and while loans may be made up to $37,500, this bank will encourage the borrowing by individual farmers with smaller areas and thus as far as practicable to attempt to carry out the spirit and intent of the law in an effort providing for aiding the greatest number to engage in farming to be benefited and encouraged by the liberal lending facilities. The temporary offices of the bank will be maintained with the Guaranty Title and Trust Corporation, Law Building, Norfolk, Va.

DERRICKSON-SPEARMAN

A wedding of more than usual interest in the social circles of this city was solemnized at the First Methodist church last Friday evening, when Miss Frances Elizabeth Derrickson became the bride of Mr. Roy Johnson Spearman, of Lynchburg, Va. Since her early childhood the bride has been conspicuous for her remarkable beauty and personal charm. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Derrickson, of this city.

An elaborate reception was tendered the bridal party and their immediate friends after the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Spearman leaving on their bridal tour on the night train. They will make their home at Lynchburg, Va., where the groom is prominent in the business and social affairs of the city.

SATURDAY IS WOOL SHIPPING DAY AT ELIZABETH CITY

County Agent Grover W. Falls announces that all farmers who wish to make co-operative shipments of wool for sale or manufacture into woolen articles should have their wool in tow bags, with fleece rolled and placed upon each other, with outside of wool on inside of roll, so as to insure the shipper getting full value for his wool. Saturday, July 19 is designated as the shipping date, and all shippers should have their wool at the Norfolk Southern freight office not later than 10 a. m. Mr. Falls will be there to see that weights and returns are made correctly according to the quality of the wool.

THE INDEPENDENT BUYS TYPE SETTING PLANT

About to Install Most Complete Linotype Equipment in Northeastern North Carolina

THE INDEPENDENT has just concluded the purchase of a Model 15 Mergenthaler Linotype typesetting machine. This machine and its equipment when installed will be the most complete machine typesetting outfit in northeastern North Carolina.

The machine and its equipment will cost over $4,000 in addition to the cost of installation. It has six type magazines with a range of ten different faces of type, enabling the operator to set practically every line of type required in the most complicated display advertisement, as well as the general run of straight reading matter.

Years ago THE INDEPENDENT found it cheaper to contract for its machine typesetting, than to buy a machine. But times have changed and THE INDEPENDENT is growing all the time. This newspaper has reached a point where it can no longer depend upon outside plants for its machine type composition. THE INDEPENDENT also contemplates improvements which will require greater typesetting facilities. An illustration of the machine purchased is shown herewith.

This machine is the same model used by Jack Wells Linotype Printery, the only difference being in the number of magazines and equipment. Mr. Wells at present handles practically all of the machine type composition required by this newspaper.
