The News from Georgia.

Some little gloom and a prehetsion prevailed on vesterday morning, in consequence of sundry rumors to the effect that dispatches had been received in this city ann uneing the pa-sage of the Oconce near Millegeville, by the enemy, who were likewise reported advaleing in the direction of Augusta.

It was thought that the two columns of the enemy would combine at or near Sparta and move on Warrenton, striking the United States Road at the latter place which leads to this cay. The recent rains, however, have made the country between Warrenton and Sparta one raiversal bog, and it is almost impossible to move trains or anything else through such obstractions,

We have it in our, power to middify the dark suspicions of the morning by facts of susstantial ment founded upon the most reliable restimony.

The Yankee force that captured Milledge ville remained there up to yesterlay evening. They had burned the State House, Brown's Hotel and the Peritentiary. A small quanper of fixed ammunition fell into thier hands. small us it was, it was the plain duty of the Odeance Officer to have destroyed it and mehing can excuse such culpable negligence. We hope this rumor may be untrue for of all things in the world ammunition is the last to leave in their way.

We have intelligence from Slocum's corps, which has been operating on the Georgia read, up to the hight of the 22d At that time but eleven Yankees had crossed the river a dot this number seven have been captured Soone's entire column has gone down the wast side of the river, indicutive of an attempt tens by America and suppling between it at the n. prince towards the sea by Savanin to Perusiya k.

Everything is quirt in the direction of Maout. We get no news by the Central train. The Yankees are probably so clated at the cannot of Miljedgavil that they will be in appropriated by becommitten for some days. The smalls has been gorged and requires time or Meretion. CAROLINA. AIR-My Maryland.

nov 26-d5t

Respectfully Inscribed to the 68th Regt., N. C. T. BY A. E. BELL.

Thy gallant sons are in the field, Carolina, Carolina. For layalty to none they yield, Carolina, Carolina; Thy sons are brave with hearts of steel, They go forth with burning zeal,

Carolina, Carolina.

Carolina, Carolina,

There are some who will revile, Carolina, Carolina. But their hearts are full of guile, Carolina, Carolina ; Thy sons are true as all must know, Who have seen them meet the fee, On many fields they've laid them low,

They'll make the foe their prowess feel,

From every mountain, hill and glen, Carolina, Caro'ina, Have gone forth our bravest men. Carolina, Carolina; On many fields their bodies lie

They would n't yield, they'd rather die, Freedom was their battle cry, Carolina, Carolina.

On many fields they've met and steed. Carolina, Carolina, The vandal foe and shed their blood, . Carolina, Carolina; Where the battle strongest raged, Where the strife was fiercest waged, There thy sons the foe engaged, Carolina, Carolina.

Who shall leave a brighter name, Carolina, Carolina. Inscribed upon the rolls of fame, Carolina, Carolina : Let history tell the story, How thy sons have won glory, On many fields red and gory, Carolina, Carolina.

IN REPLY,

Respectfully incribed to A. E. Bell. BY THE CSTH ELG'T, N. C. T.

Come to thy comrades in the field. A. E. Bell; trave A. E. Bell; In loyalty to none dare yield, A E. Bell; dear A. E. Bell; Come with thy stalwart heart of steel, Ch! come with all thy burning zeal. And make the fee thy prowess fee , A. E. Bell ; brave A. E. Bell.

Yes ! there are some who will revile, A. E. Bell; thee A. E. Bell; But prove their hearts are full of guile, A. E. Bell; brave A. E. Bell; Sure thou art true, as all well know, When they have seen thee meet the foe, On many fields, and laid them low, A. E. Bell; brave A. E. Bell.

Oh! fling aside the Poet's pen, A. E. Bell; dear A. E. Bell; And grasp the weapons used by men, A. E. Beii : brave A. E. Bell ; On every field our battle cry, Is never yield, we'd rather die;

Then to our help, Oh! quickly fly,
A. E. Bell; brave A. E. Bell. On gory fields we've met the foe, A. E. Bell; friend A. E. Bell; And caused their heart's best blood to flow; A. E. Bell; dear A. E. Bell; Whene'er the battle strongest raged, Whene'er the strile was fierces, waged, Where then wert thou? - and how engaged? A. E. Beil; brave A. E. Bell.

Who then shall leave a brighter name, A. E. Bell; thin A. E. Bell ? Inscribed upon the roll of fame, A. E. Bell; than A. E. Bell? Hist'ry's page shall tell the story, How he won immortal giory, Far from fields all red and gory,

A. E. Belt; this A. E. Bell. Hark ! fo our earnest loud appeal, A. E. Bell : dear A. E. Bell : The forman's foot no longer feel, A. E. Bell ; brave A. E. Bell ; Down with the pen, up with the gan, Come cut to Dixie-see the fun. From Y ankee rule, Ch I swiftly run,

A. E. Bell; brave A. E. Bell. Wipe the blush from a fond wife's cheek, A. E. Bell; brave A. E. Bell; Because thou art so strangely meek, A. E. Bell; sweet A. E. Bell. Oh! hash thy children's eager cry, " With brave men, Father, quickly fly, And guard our sacred liberty :"
