Latest Frem Georgia. From the Constitutionalist, Nov. 27. THE SITUATION.

We have some little news from a gentle-

the spot on which Atlanta once stood. The place is entirely destroyed. Prior to leaving, the enemy sent all the negroes up the road. Citizets stated that Sherman had gone forth with four army corps, each numbering about 15,000 men. These corps are commanded respectively by Davis, Osterbaus, Binir and Slocum.

The Yankees gave out that they were going with half their force to Augusta and half to Savannah.

They have torn up the Railroads behind them everywhere. The Savannah News has the following report of affairs. It is very certain that more or less fighting was going on at Oconee bridge yesterday. A dispatch from an official source was received -that the enemy had turned their artillery in , the opposite direction-towards Macon-and were shelling, from which it was evident they were attacked in the rear by our forces from Macon. This we look upon as highly encouraging, showing not only that we are holding our ground at Oconce, but that our gathflanks.

From all we can learn of Sherman's moveour mind all his movements thus far indicare Savannah as his point of destination, and unless his army is whi ped, routed, demoralized or captured, he will reach here. This however, can and will be prevented, if the men of the State rally in response to the call of Governor Brown, as they should. There is no necessity for us to say what our fore s amount to, or where they are. Suffice it, that if the men still left at home will now come up and lead their help, we have enough.

The main body of Sherman's army is reported at Sandersville and pushing forward rapidly. His advance has reached Tennelle on the Central Rail Road At that point a Yankee operator telegraphs to the Augusta office, desiring some information as the whereabout of our army. His trick was discovered | feint. and his curiosity will be satisfied presently. Several thousand veteran troops had arrived at Savannah and - thou-and more were expected. A cavalry raid is reported to have advanced as fat as Warrenton. This band is supposed to be the "gallant six hundred" which, when last heard from, were prancing about Sparta.

Reliable information has been received that east Macon had been feebly shelled by a small force of the enemy. As soon as opposition was shown, the Yankees retired. At present there are none of the Shermanites in the vicinity of Macon.

GREENSBORO', Nov. 25, 1864.

Great has been the excitement here for the last few days. The vandals have indeed visited us. On Sunday morning fifteen came .-They stopped first at Mrs. --- , on the Madison road. All the men under six y took to the woods. Had they known the truth the wretched creatures could have been captured. But the Yanki es s ated that they were fitteen hundred | under the control of their own unerring direcstrong, encamped about three miles from town, tion. OCONEE RIVER BRIDGE, Nov. 24, 1864. The enemy burned Griswoldville, between Macon and Gordon, Sunday evening, and went from there to Milledgeville, where they burnt the depot, but he other buildings that I have heard of. They had a fight at Macon Sunday evening, and were repulsed by our forces, and Wheeler fought their cavalry Friday at Gordon.

The fight at the bridge commenced about noon yesterday, and has continued up to this from Oconee late yesterday evening, stating time, and the bridge still stands, though the enemy have burned the trestle-work beyond the bridge. The enemy run the picket away from the ferry and began crossing. As soon as it was known; our cavalry were sent down there, and when about one hundred had cro-sed, our men charged them and drove them across the river. We lest two men ering hosts are falling upon the enemy's killed in the charge, and the enemy several, They became pavic stricken and left the opposite side in a hurry, and our men crossed ments and present position, we think he is and picked up twenty-three cavalry guns, aiming to march upon Savannah. Of course, several overcoats and a number of kaapsacks we cannot tell with any degree of certainty and other rigging and capturing one man .at what point he intends to reach the coast, They attacked the ferry again this evening, till his plans are more fully developed; but to but were repulsed. Wheeler's command,strong, is crossing the river about twenty miles below here.

From the Chronicle and Sontinel, 27th: From Macon - A gentleman who arrived in this city yesterday, from Macon, via Southwest Georgia and Savannah, informs us that on Sunday last the Federals attacked East Mac n. They succeeded in capturing one of our batteries, but it was immediately retaken by our brave soldiers, and the enemy signally

The loss on both sides was small.

The military authorivies of that place were as much mystified about the movements of Sherman's army, as those in this section .--The general opinion was that Augusta was Sherman's objective point.

There was a sufficient force in Macon, under the lead of a gallant officer, to hold the enemy

A fight occurred about six miles from Tennille, about ten miles from the Oconce river. The Yankee loss is estimated at ten killed and fifteen wounded. Our loss two killed.

Extracts from North Carolina Papers. PARTYISM IN THE LEGISLATURE. - We are opposed to organizing political parties in this State or in the Confederacy while the country is all ablaze with a war on the issues of which depend our very existence as a people. We think it is no fit time to gratify mousing, designing politicians or nervous and jealous minded men who see rain in every thing not those who show that they have none in their neighbors, but are found secretly plotting a d scheming against them. PEACE RESOLUTIONS .- It will be seen that Mr. Pool, of Bertie, has offered resolutions in our State Senate, proposing the appointment by the States, of commissioners to negotiate with the enemy. There is unfortunately a difficulty in the way of this proposition, viz : That the constitution has expressly vested the power here proposed to be exercised in the Confederate President and Senate, and consequently the States have no such power, and an attempt to exercise it would be an indignity The enemy have crossed the bridge at Mil- to those branches of the common government ledgeville in force, infantry, artillery and cav- The idea that the President and Senate will alry.
