The Washington Republican, Lincoln's organ, speaking of Burmi le's recrussing the Rappahannock. says the failure at Fredericksburg has taken the public, and possibly military authorities so much by surprice, that opinions are hardly yet formed as to what ought either now be done, or what is likely to be done. For ourselves we hope that as a few weeks will terminate the winter of this tableaux, that the army designed for the defence of Washington will go at once into winter quarters.

WHAT THE YANKEEN LEFT AT FREDER-LEKSBURG.

RICHMOND, Dec. 18. The Yunkees left a large number of guns, knap-sacks and a quantity of ammunition at Fredericksburg. They also led about six hundred of their dead in and about town. Nearly every house was sacked and contents wantedly destroyed. Every conceivable injury that malice could suggest was resorted to. In their retreat across the river they propped up the dead bodies of their soldiers to represent pickets.

II. The enemy are pressing apon us in great numbers, with the intention to overwhelm as by a winter campaign. Our danger new comes from the South side of James Our danger now comes from the South side of James river, and as the scene of war appreaches nearer to our borders, it becomes North Ca olinians to rush even more promptly than before to the defence of our own territory. If we can drive him back once more, as we have so often done, there is every reason to hope that his strength will be effectually book in. The various officers entrusted with the extension of this order are again commanded to not all diligence in a resting deserters and absentees without leave from the army, and all good citizens who prize liberty and independence are each sily invoked to assist in hurrying off all such to their regiments. The brave and patriotic soldier will not over-alsy his faringsh unless providentially hindered. The coward alone will shirk inthome, whilst his braver comrades endure the heat and but then of the fight.
