AILY PROGRESS. FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1863.

HOW I LOST HER. sold her that her marble brow, O'er which her auburn locks were straying, as like a drift of purest snow, Where golden sunset rays were playing.

and her that her bright blue eyes Would shame the brightest spheres of Heaven, that walk the chambers of the skies Upon a moonless, summer even.

told her that her lips did seem Like cherries ripe, with dew upon them ; With teeth like rows of pearls between, And that her breath shed fragrance on them.

nd then I gazed upon her form, And pressed her small, soft hand with fervor, and asked her if, 'mid calm or storm, She would be mine, and mine forever ?

And then I swore I'd keep my vows, As true as rule, or square, or plummet ; And she placed her finger on her no (u)se, And told me that - I couldn't come it.

ALL QUIET " IN RICHMOND.—We suppose there thave been great shaking in the boots among speculators and money changers in Richmond le the Yankee cavalry were sloshing around in the chborhood of the City. The Whig thus notices

The Swiss Bell Ringers - Since the disappearance the Swiss Bell Ringers, all of whom were from ew Hampshire, the people of this city have never en so regaled as on Monday Last. The impression ized somebody that a small body of Yankee cavalwere about to burn and sack a city of 100,000 inbitants. Mamelukes might have attempted the ad exploit; Yankees never. Of the many citizens ho had guns in their bands, not one in a hundred elieved the Yankees were coming. Somebody-not private citizen-some influential controlling mind, id believe it. Hence, naturally enough, the people ccame excited. Seeing their leaders alarmed, they ecome alarmed themselves.

There was great danger of a general panic and tampede. No mortal can tell what would have hapened, had not a party of intoxicated youths-men of sense would never have dreamed of doing such a thing-commenced ringing the fire bells furiously. The effect was magical. The public mind, diverted from the idea of war, became instantly tranquil. The ringing was somewhat too loud, too fast and too long continued; but the people relished it much. A lew miscarriages occurred and a number of persons, male and female, fainted and went into historics; but the great mass of citizens enjoyed the ringing very considerably.

A little later in the day, a mischeivous newspaper boy ordered all the stores to be closed in the name of the Governor, Mayor, President, Commandant of the Post, or somebody else. The order was promptly played. Doors were closed, people went into the streets and made a boliday, over the bell ringing,

The beneficial effects of the bell ringing were so apparent yesterday; that a General Order will soon be issued from the War Office, commanding the fire bells to be rung madly fitteen consecutive hours one day in each week for the next six months.

DEPARTURE OF PRISOSERS. - The Examiner of Thursday save :- This morning, agreeable to the arrangement entered into by Commissioners Ould and Ludlow, the Confederate and United States ag nts for exchange, all the prisoners of war, commissioned office s and privates, held at the Libby Prison, will be sent forward to-day for exchange. The number embraces two Brigadier-Generals Willick and Stoughton.) twenty-one Colonels, seven Lieutenant Colonels, nine Mojors, a company or two of Captains, First and Second Lieutenants. Thirteen naval officers captured with the gunboat Isaac Smith, in the Stono river, near Charleston, were received on Sunday. and included in the list of paroled prison as sent away

Ges. Brace - The Atlanta Confederacy, of Wednesday says ;-"This distinguished commander reached our city last evening, and proceeded to West Point. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bragg, who has been so long confined to her room with severe illness at Manchester, Tennessee. She has not yet recovered but is able to travel. The General, we learn, will leave her with her relatives at West Point, where she can be cared for."
