DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1865

NO. 214

The political canvass in Kentucky is said to be waxing warm, and much interest is felt in the result. The Democracy are sanguine of the success of all their Congressional candidates, and the republicans are afraid to accept any wager upon a single candidate.

The size of our army in Texas has been exaggerated. It consists of only fourteen thousand men, all told. It is not intended to be an army of observation, as the Government does not feel itself qualified, in the present condition of our finances, in indulging in such expensive luxury.

General Buckner -- How He Lest a Million of Dollars.

At the beginning of our unhappy civil war, the most prominent of all the military men of the West was Simon B. Buckner, then Inspector General of the Kentucky State troops. A graduate of West Point, serving with distinguished gallantry in the Mexican war, and possessed of very fine intellect, a career of fame and glory was predicted for him by his admirers and friends. It is not our purpose, however, to notice his military career, further than to remark that he surrendered the first and last armies in the war, and each time he was the subordinate of the command. The first time was to General Grant at Fort Donelson, when Generals John B. Floyd and Pillow, his superiors in rank, declined on the plan that if they were captured they would certainly be hung, and the last time was when he surrendered the army of General Kirby Smith to General Canby. This was done in the absence and against the orders Kirby Smith.

But there is something more connected with Buckner, which is not without interest, and probably has no parallel in the war. When he was a Captain in the regular army, Buckner married Miss Kingsbury, an heiruss, who owned an immense landed estate in Chicago, valued at more than a million of dollars. It was unimproved, however, and did not yield an income. Buckness finally placed it under the supervision of General Barnside, who, with judicious mangement, soon caused it to pay handsomely. When the war broke out, it was uncertain on which side Buckner would serve. He was offered a high position by Mr. Lincoln, and also by Jefferson Davis, and finally chose to cast his fortunes with the South. But before doing so, to preserve this great estate to his wite and children, it was made over to the brother of Mrs. Buckner, in whom they had full confidence.

A little later, and Kingsbury, the brother, entered the Federal army and was wounded in the battle of Fredericksburg. While lying on the field he spoke of his property and his desire to arrange it so that his sister would have no irou le about it, but delayed too long, and died without making his wishes further known. He had been but a short time married, and ome months after his death his wife gave birth to a child. The child necessarily inherits that princely estate, nor can Buckner or his wife receive a dollar from it, excepting what the widow of Mr. Kingsbury shall choose to give them. It is proper to say, to her honor, that she has been most liberal in that respect Buckner's property was long since confiscated, and thus the close of the war finds him, like most of the rebels, in a beggared condition.

HURBA FOR CRINOLINE. -The Queen of Madagascar, on the 15th of April, held a religious ceremony to inaugurate her Majesty's assumption of the dress called crinoline, which is henceforth a form of raiment reserved for members of the royal family only. The only exception made was in favor of her Prime Minister's wife, Madame Rainillairy vony. If her august Majesty and Royal Highness would only condescend to favor Raleigh with a visit, and witness the number of her dusky sisters who wear skirts of amplitudinuous dimensions, she would not be so exacting in her restrictions nor so proud of the style which she has appropriated exclusively to the royal house of Madagascar Isle.

The Heated Term. -The present summer has confessedly been the most oppressive known to that inevitable personage, "the oldest inhabitant." Our daily statement of the condition of the thermoneter here for the past two months, with August still in the front demonstrates a degree of heat heretofore almost unknown in North Carolina This year we have the mercury up in the nineties and unless eld Boreas does something for us in the way of breezes, we shall soon find mankind melting away to dreamy shadows.

As interesting to our readers, we transfer to the Progress from the columns of a cotemporary the following thermometrical diary, kept in this State during the year 1855, which is a fair representation of the annual general heat and cold to which we are exposed. It exhibits the salubrity of our State in a very fain light

Provost's Sanctum .- The Provost Marshal's office was comparatively thin yesterday morning. No cases ef thefis, breaking in or disorderly conduct were before the Assistant, and we trust it is indicative of a good time coming in the form of peace, order and good will.

Another bar room has been closed by order of the mil itary, making the third one since Sunday. The war of extermination goes bravely forward, and soon we hope to hear that toddies can no longer be indulged to an extent that jeopards the peace and dignity of the city. "

The freedmen came as usual with numerous wrongs, &c , which were administered upon as far as the jurisdiction of Capt. Barrett extended.

Missing .- Some blanks and tickets that had been printed for G. Crain, and placed in a pigeon hole behind the counter in the PROGRESS counting room, on Saturday evening, were removed before Monday morning by some one not connected with the office, and could not be found when called for. As they can be of no use to any one out the gentleman for whom they were printed, we hope that whoever has them will bring them back at once .-And we will thank all persons, not connected with the establishment, to keep from behind the counter and out of the press room hereafter. And no one will be allowed up stairs unless they have business to transact.

Baptized and Ordained .- Last Sunday at the Baptist Church in this city, Rev. T. B. Kingsbury, for many years in the ministry of the M. E. Church, was bap tized. At night he was ordained in his new connection, and thereafter a young lady immersed.

Fisticuff .- Yesterday afternoon a fist fight occurred between two negroes, in the alley in the rear of the Exchange Hotel. The fight had hardly commenced before the cry of police was raised and the crowd suddenly dispersed, the pugilistic negroes ran off and the scene closed with the usual "exeunt omnes."

"Wake Forrest College" -We have omitted through inadvertence allusion to the opening of this college, which occurred on the 21st of July; and though no information of its prospects have been furnished, we presume from its past repute that the scholarship is large. For particulars as to course of instruction, tuition fees, eto., we refer the reader to the advertisement of Maj. J. H. Foote, elsewhere in this morning's paper.
