There is hope for New Jersey. A committee of War Democrats call for a meeting and union of all who are willing to sustain the present Administration. If all who think alike can be induced to act together in New Jersey, that State may be carried against its present masters.

As the names of the conspirators who have just uffered for their crimes will be preserved in unenviable notoriety, it is but fair that no injustice should be done the poor wretches, even in so small a matter as the incorrect spelling of their names. Two of them have from the first been mis-spelled. David E. Harold should be Herold, and Atzeroth should be Atzerodt : usually pronounced Azerot, but more correctly Atzerot.

A tale concerning Kirby Smith is floating about the streets of Richmond A Captain Selden, of his staff, passed through the city a day or two ago, and says that after the surrender of the Trans-Mississippi Rebel army, the great cotton speculator, just on the eve of his departure for Mexico, swore upon a Bible

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1865 NO. 216

STATE ITEMS -- Original and Selected. ADVENTURE WITH A BEAR .- Mr. Tippet, a gentleman living somewhere beyond the Treut, had quite an interesting adventure with a large bear, a few miles from Newbern on Thursday last. His lordhip was walking quietly along, airing himself near the margin of a swamp, when Mr. T. spied him at a range of some sixty or seventy yards, and levelling his single-barreled shot gun at him, succeeded in throwing a load of buck-shot through the body near the region of the heart; but he immediately turned and came bounding forward at the height of his speed, displaying all the venom of a feroclous beast. Mr. T. took his hat in one hand and his gun in the other, and shaking them at the heast lustily, vociferated at the top of his voice: "Don't you come here, don't you ceme here." The bear, however, regardless of the threatening attitude of his antagonist, rushed forward apparently with vicious intents, until within a few yards of his opponent, when he turned abruptly to one side, and, being overhauled by the dogs, laid himself down and died.

THE CITY.

PRO VOST'S SANCTUM .- The hope had possessed us that a little common sense, infused by experience, would lessen the burdens of the Provest and Assistant Marshal, but yesterday's demonstration on the part of the sovereigns-white and black spirits-disappoints the fond anticipation.

Intelligence was brought to the provost marshal of an attempted burglary upon the premises of Mrs. Branch. The thief unfortunately escaped unburt,

A deserter, brought in from the country, was sent to Capt. Adams, provost marshal of the 10th army

A citizen from the county, in relating a long account of the manner in which a mule came into his possession, inadvertently admitted that it was a U S animal and legally belonged to the federal govern ment. The assistant provost marshal immediately ordered him to be turned over to Capt. Garoutte, A.

Cises coming up before the tribunal of Capt. Bar rett, do not require the possession of as much legal knowledge as his predecessors of the supreme court bench had, but we defy the reports to produce any fuller of lut icacy and perplexity.

"Sensible."-Referring to the late action of the Board of Commissioners of Raleigh, respecting the withdrawal of the military from this point, the Charlotte Democrat tersely says they are sensible that the bulk of the soldiers have been or are grad-The officers elected by the Court came forward and | ually being sent home and that the government intends to maintain only a small garrison in our midst for necessary purposes. The present authorities are doing yoeman service in behalf of good order and we hope will not relax their efforts until every species of criminality is almost unknown in the city -at least to the extent of rendering life, limb and property perfectly safe.

> FIGHT.-Last night about 9 o'clock, two pugnacious Celts "locked horns" near the corner of Fayetteville and Davy streets, and everything bid fair for a knock down, but an officer of the army interposed his good offices and parted them. One of them vowed that Patrick drank an overshare from their common stock of whiskey, arguing that an equal partition of drams was more than usually important as the provost had shut off the reservoirs of supply. He promised, too, unless restitution was made by the defaulter that when they met again they would renew the "argument wid sticks," in accordance with the time-honored code of "auld

> A New Tile.—Some of the "young bloods" who have recently made their exodus from New York appear on our streets in such modern fashion of tile as to defy their most intimate acquaintance in recognising them. It is a dove-colored stove-pipe, with a crown approximating the conical shape. Instead, however, of inspiring the impression that the wearers are from Gotham-the great centre of much that is ridiculous as well as fashionable,—the conclusion is irresistible, that they are "young men from the rural district's out for pasturage.

THANKS.—We are under obligation to some of the attaches of the Southern and the Adams Express Companies for late papers in advance of the mail .-The embarrassment which the newspaper, business and reading worlds experience for want of proper mail facilities is forcibly illustrated by the fact that we are two days in advance of the post office department by these attentions.

THE TWO POWER PRESSES of the Progress establishment are capable of turning out an immense amount of work, and as we believe in low prices and constant employment merchants, manufacturers, pressional men and others having printing to do will find it to their advantage to call on us. We promise promptness, dispatch and accuracy.

ANY Business that will not justify advertising will soon close its own doors. Make liberal investments in advertising if you would prosper, and remember that without mails the Progress circulates by thousands. A few dollars invested in its columns will bring a rich return. Try it.

TEMPESTUOUS, VERY. -Old Boreas, as if responding to our appeal, was on a rampage night before last, and contributed a heavy instalment of wind and water towards lessening the oppressive heat from which we have been suffering for two months. Yesterday, however, the god of day was out in all wonted strength, and we are again in the retroleum

SPOTTSWOOD HOTEL. - We invite attention to the card of the preprietors of the Spotswood Hotel, at Richmond. It is one of the largest establishments of the kind in the South, and ne doubt Messrs. Corkery & Millward will maintain its olden celebity in all particulars.

CITY SUBSCRIBERS who are in arrears for the Progress, and can pay, will confer a favor on us by doing so. We have been furnishing the paper to most of our subscribers, since the occupation of the State by the Union forces, without money, but as we have to pay cash for stock and labor we must collect some money. We trust that those who can pay their subscription will do so a: once. We need the money or we would not remind them of it.

()LD PAPERS -For wrapping purposes can be had from our counting room at 59 cents per hun-

BILLIARDS. - As a great many people don't know how to play billiards, we make room for a description of the game, from the pen of Doesticks, in order that they may remain in ignorance no longer. A game of billiards consists of punching ivory balls about on a table covered with green cloth, that looks like a half an acre of meadow land with an india rubber fence about it. The balls are punched with long wooden ramrods, with wax on the little end to save the wood and leather from wearing out. You take your ramred and rub some chalk on the table end; then you lean over the table; then you squint; then you lift your leg; then fiddle a little on your left hand with your ramrod : then you punch your ball. If your ball hits the other man's ball and some other ball, you've done a a big thing, and you poke up a lot of buttons are strung on a wire. This is all there is in a game of bilijards. Anybody can punch billiards, I can. and may be you can.

In Sussion .- We presume the stockholders of the Bank of North Carolina are in session here, but if anything has been accomplished, the press is without knowledge as to what has been done. The task before them is not light or irresponsible, and at the proper moment whatever is reached will probably be fully spread before the public.

Coming Down. - A gentleman cites as one of the evidences of the purpose and spirit of our people, the fact that cotton is daily reaching this city by rail and otherwise, for shipment North on private account. He well says we are not dead-only crippled.

APPOINTED .- Mr. D. W. Bain, for many years connected with the State Comptroller's office, has been appointed chief clerk of the present Treasurer's office. He is a modest man and brimful of merit, and having entered upon the discharge of his new duties, we wish bim abundant success.

GOVERNMENT SALE .- Those of our people who desire to supply themselves with horses, mules, army or spring wagons, harness, &c. should not neglect the sale at the Baptist Grove in this city, at 9 o'clock this morning. It is a rare opportunity for supplying their wants at fair prices.

PERSONAL -Hon, Wm. A. Graham, Ex-Governor Dadd L. Swain, president University of North Carolina, Hon. P. C. Cameron, of Orange, and many others, once or now prominent in public affairs in North Carolina, are in the city.

ANOTHER STEAMER FOR NEW YORK .- As will be seen from notice elsewhere the steamer E. S. Terry, of the Goodspeed line, will leave Newbern for New York next Saturday. Good accommodations for passengers and freight.

Business men who do not advertise by the year will understand that all bills for advertising are due as soon as the advertisement appears. Those who contract to advertise by the year will be expected to pay by the month or quarter, as we may desire.

MEAL. - Tuesday meal was offered in this city at 80 cents per bushel-yesterday the same article was offcred at $100, with no purchasers. The fact is, things generally must decline in price until they reach a natural standard of valuation.
