... For latest intelligence see fourth page. -All the stories about President Johnson and his intention to visit any place and any body are

-Gen. Butler suggests that the national debt could easily be paid by a tax of fifteen cents on every pound of cotton.

-It is said that Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi, has failed to keep promises made to the President regarding the policy he would pursue in re-organising the State Government, and that his head (metaphorically) is to be the penalty. We are of the opinion that this star is a little fishy. The President has been heard to say that Sharkey is his " best agent."

-Rip Van Winkle Welles has at last sent "something" after the Shenandoah. There will be a fine opportunity for sensation r pores during the trial of "the Fiendish Pirates"-if they are caught.

-Somebody has made, and presented to Mrs. Gen. Grant, a set of jewelry out of an apple tree under which her husband and Gen. Lee negotiated for the latter's surrender. The romance of presentation is spoiled by a statement that there was no tree in the vicinity of either of the two meet-

-The total cost of the Central Park in New York up to this time has been over nine millions of dollars, and there are in that city a hundred thousand people who hardly earn enough to support themselves. Six millions of visitors have enjoyed themselves in the Park during the past

-Inspector General Strong, of the Freedmen's Bureau who has for some time past been engaged in an inspection of freedmen's affairs in the Mississippi valley, says that the general condition and conduct throughout that immense stretch of country, notwithstanding the disturbed state of things and all the difficulties and prejudices which have had to be contended with, is most encourageing.

-- Gen. Howard has been rightly called the Havelock of the army. He is a christian soldier peur et sans reproche. Lately he administered a quiet rebuke to wine drunk toasts at dinner parties rising when called on for a sentiment, and taking a glass of water in his hand, he said : "Gentlemen. I am from the State of Maine. I don't go back on my State. I give you gentlemen, the Maine law, the true beverage of the soldier!"

-Champ Ferguson is sinking rapidly. He is now so weak that he cannot walk to the court from the prison, and has to be conveyed in a back. He still keeps up his indomitable spirit and iron nerve, and cherishes hopes of getting clear.

-Highly intelligent gentlemen from South Carolina say that the question of suffrage may prove somewhat embarrassing to South Carolina politicians in setting the basis of representation in that State. A strong party will be in favor of fixing it on the white basis, while the low country interest have heretofore controlled the legislation of the State by the preponderance in slaves. To insist now upon the negro forming any portion of the basis of representation will be more or less compromising upon the question of negro suffrage.

-A specie train arrived at Leavenworth, on the 19th, from Agnas Calientes, Mexico, with $40,000 in M xican silver coin, $20,000 in gold, and £200 weight in silver plates and bars. It is owned by Senor Don Francisco Guiterros de Bolis. An escort of twelve men accompanied the train. They were attacked by guerrillas in Chihuahua, and one of the escort was wounded. Affairs are reported in a terrible condition in Mexico, bush whackers swarming in all parts of the country. '

-The Iowa liquor dealors held a convention in Des Moines last Wednesday, and declared theirs to be a legitimate business, representing a capital of $1,000,000, and entitled to protection under the State laws. They regard the prohibitory law as "an act of usurpation and an infringement of the rights and liberties of the people, inconsistent with the spirit of the Constitution of the United States, and opposed to the best interests of the inhabitants of the

-Adjt. Gen. Terrell, of Indians, is completing a posthumous historical report of the part Indiana has borne in the war, the first volume of which will go to press in about month. It will embrace a full history of regiments, &c., and a descriptive account of each officer and soldier, showing promotions, casualties, and all other matter valuable for perusaeut

-A subscription is in circulation in Richmond for the relief of Mrs. Jefferson Davis and family, who, it is said, are in reduced circumstances. So far the effort has met with very liberal responses, and the probability is that enough will be raised to supply them with all they need.

-Some of the "saints' of Mormooland are getting disgusted. A large number of them, says the St. Joseph Union, reached that city on the 10th, on the way to the harems and workshops of Brigham and his elders. It is said that fifteen hundred of the "faithful" have deserted the Mormon faith and returned from the licentious territory.

-It recently became known to one of the military commanders in the western part of Virginia that there was, at a point in that State, near the Tennessee border, a large number of cattle formerly the property of the rebel government, and a small detachment was sent to take possession of them. On the arrival of this force it was attacked and driven off by the bush whackers of the vicinity, and was unable to accomplish its object. A larger number of troops has since been sent to the scene of the disturbance, and a summary disposal of the bush whackers will no doubt be made.

THE CITY.

SHARP. - We have in our repotorial corps an out and our Jenkins, whose lucubrations in the way of describing female apparel, accidents to water falls. &c., have undoubtedly attracted attention with our lady readers. Unlike some of the New York Jenkenses, he is distinguished for his varacity, and we have never had occasion to doubt any of his statements until yesterday when-he se t in the following questionable report of a conversation, which he says he overheard :

Army Chaplain, - " My young col red friend. can you read?"

Contraband .- 'Yes sah !"

Army Chaplain .- " Glad to hear it. Shall I give you a paper ?"

Contraband .- Sartin Massa, if you please." Army Chaplain .- " Very Good. What paper would you choose ?"

Contraband. - "Well, massa, if you chews, I'll take a paper of terbacker."

The chaplain looked at the contraband, and the contraband at the chaplain, then the latter sighed, and passed on.

Col. McChesney .- In referring to the death of this gentleman, the New York Times remarks as

Col. J. M. McChesney, whose illness has already been noticed, died at Beaufort, N. C., a few days since, and his remains are now on the way to this city. Col. McChesney went out as a private in one of the Brooklyn Regiments, and eventually gained the Colonelcy of the Ninth New Jersey .-Afterward he was transferred to the First North Carolina Volunteers, and had command of Fort Macon and the district. About the time of Johnson's surrender, when he was satisfied that the war was over he resigned and went into business at Beaufort. Until the time of his death he suffered from the effects of a severe would received at the seige of Washington, N. C.

The deceased was well known to many of our readers both in Raleigh and Newbern.

Messrs. O. G. Parsley, T. J. Armstrong and Adam Empie are announced as candidates for the convention in New Hanover county.

Perdition take much wit as the Local of the Standurd attempts to get off at the expense of the Pro-

PERSONAL. - Mr. Phillips, of the firm of Phillips & Bowen, having become an invalid, has withdrawn from the co partnership which he has so successfully maintained in Raleigh for some months past; and Mr. Bowen, associating with him Mr. Randall, of the Exchange Hotel, proposes to run the "Shabang"-as the soluters say. All usual success to them say we.

RAPID. - The Evening Standard of yesterday announces that Gen. Ki'patrick and Ex-Brig. Gen. Jack Casement, of Ohio, were in the city. They had both left twelve hours before its issue.

A NEW PHASE OF MISCEGENATION. -There is an old saying that "it is a wise child who knows its own father; but the reconstruction movement now being developed in the South promises to "reorganize," even this adage, for from a precedent recently established by Col. Whittlesey, of the Freedmen's Bureau, it will hereafter be rendered "a yellow child may know its paternal." The precedent above mentioned was occasioned by the complaint of a black man, who had been absent four years, that he had two large a family to support. In short during his absence his better twothirds had added to his responsibilities two charm ing little yellow boys. He could not write, and consequently refused to acknowledge them. The parties lives near Hillsboro' and the statements of the freedmen were substantiated by a county officer. The Bureau decided that the woman may be allowed to declare the praternity of her doubtful offspring and that the father must support them or act towards them in accordance with the laws of the state provided for cases where the parties are

Mustering Out Negro Troops.

It was recently announced that all the negro troops in the service were to be mustered out at an early day. We sincerely trust that this may be so, Lit it would render the work of restoring the insurgent States much easier, and many good results besides, would result from such action of the govern-

Speeking of the mustering out of negro troops, the New York Times says:

We suppose that the mustering out of the pegro troops will now be in order. Thus far, while the white soldiers have been disbanded, until threefourths of the entire force have been sent to their homes, the colored military element has been retained intact. There are about a hundred thousand of them in service, which is about equal, we suppose, to the number of white troops yet on the rolls.

There are more difficulties about the disbandment of the negro troops than of the whites. They have not habits of self-help like the whites. They are not situated as the whites were, with regard to obtaining esistance from friends in civil life. Many of the regiments, especially in the Southwest, were composed of plantation hands who had come or were brought within our lines, and who have no place or locality resembling home to which they can now return. They would be in great measure helpless and triendless wanderers were they disbanded in mass as our white troops have been.

Yet we believe that the matter may be judiciously managed so that most of the menacing evils may be avoided. There is no doubt that most of them will desire to return to the places where they were raised and formerly lived; for the bump of "locality" is largely developed to the negro. And it is fortunate that the growth of industry, the organization of labor and the demend for leburers are now such, in most of the Southern States, that the disbauded tlacks will find it much easier to get along than if they had been thrown upon their own resources at an earlier period. The Freedmen's Bureau, through its extensive agencies and efficient system of action, will be enabled to render a great help to these people in this emergency, and will thus forward the interests of the South and the whole country.

We do not believe that the character of the blacks has been damaged by their army experience; on the contrary, we believe it will be found it has greatly elevated them. It has appealed to their manly in-stincts, has aided in the formation of habits of order and promptitude, has enlarged their intelligence, and has developed in them courage and patriotism .-These qualities and characteristics will make them more efficient workers, and will in every way exercise an influence for good upon the entire race.
