

For latest news see Fourth Page. Gov. Brough's last words were "I die happily and gloriously." Garibaldi has politely requested an editor of a paper published near him to announce that he is not fond of visits. A pretty good hint to bores.

The Monadnock, the monster monitor which Admiral Porter said he would cross the ocean in, is to be sent to San Francisco around Cape Horn.

Bishop Kavanaugh, in a sermon before the St. Louis Conference, last week, advised them not to obey the law requiring them to take an oath. Who can help doubting the piety and christianity of such a man.

Governor Anderson, of Ohio, requested that yesterday, Friday, be observed by the people of that State with due reverence, by abstaining from secular pursuits, &c., on account of the funeral of Gov. Brough.

A Richmond correspondent says that H. Rives Pollard has left the Times of which he was one of the proprietors, and is about to sue Wynne, the other proprietor. It will be a good case for the lawyers. The loss of Pollard is a serious one to the Times, as it is an all powerful name with the Southern people here.

Mr. John Swinton, of the New York Times, was robbed the other day of $4,000. The thief was caught and the money recovered.

Siamese papers received in New York last week contain full accounts of the assassination of President Lincoln, and represent that great excitement prevails.

"Allow me through your Journal,"—so writes Wm. Cornell Jewett to the New York News—"to inform Messrs. Raymond and Weed that they must, on my return from Europe, be prepared to give the satisfaction due between gentlemen, for late malicious printed insults to me, or be branded before posterity—in my proposed Peace History of the Civil War in America—as national cowards."

"Come till America, Pat!" writes a son of the Emerald Isle to his friend in Ireland; "tis a fine country to get a living in. All ye have to do is to get a three-cornered box and fill it with brick and carry it till the top of a four-story building, and the man at the top does all the work."

A correspondent who has been travelling through Nevada thinks the silver resources of that State "are sufficient to pay off a national debt of twenty billions, present each returned soldier of the Union with a silver blanket, and then plate all our war vessels with silver, thicker than they are now sheathed with iron."

"The Elgin (Scotland) Courier chronicles the death of an old lady who for years, 'cherished the pleasing, although perhaps erroneous impression that General Grant was her grandson.' The only foundation for her belief appears to have been that she had two sons who emigrated to America. One of them, Peter, after having attained the rank of Major, was killed in Mexico. Mrs. Grant subsequently went to America in search of Alexander, the other son, whose name she recalled for nine months, when she learned that he was then in the State of Ohio, but at such a distance that it was impossible for her to get his length; since she had not heard of him. This Alexander, a person of great muscular strength, and who stood six feet four inches high, if alive, is now seventy six years of age. It is surmised by many of the clan that one of these two brothers may be the father of Gen. Grant.

The official monthly statement of the public debt has been published. The recapitulation is as follows: Amount of outstanding debt bearing interest in coin, $1,108,315,191.80; interest, $64,500,596.50; debt bearing interest in lawful money, $1,478,103.16; interest, $73,537,017.74; debt on which interest has ceased, $1,508,020.00; debt bearing no interest, $373,398,256.38. Total debt, $757,689,571.43; interest, $137,031,628.24; legal tender notes in circulation, and one and two and five per cent notes, $33,954,330.00; United States notes, old issue, $432,757,601; compound interest notes, act of March 3d, 1863, $15,000,000; compound interest notes, act of July 30th, 1865, $22,090,150. Total $684,138,959. As contrasted with the statement published 21st of July, the principal has been increased only $275,000 within the last month, while the interest on the debt has increased nearly $331,090. The legal tender notes have been reduced $1,057,000. The amount of coin now in the treasury, is $45,500,000, or about 10,000,000 more than a month ago. The current now in the Treasury is nearly $43,000,000, as against $31,000,000, showing a reduction of currency in the Treasury for the past month of $38,500,000. The suspended requisitions amount to a little over $2,000,000.

A correspondent of The Maine Democrat says the father of Jefferson Davis was born in Maine, and went South when he had nearly arrived at manhood. He was not afterwards heard of until Jeff. Davis visited Maine some years ago, when he stated in conversation with a friend, that his father was born in Buxton, and had arrived in Mississippi a poor boy. The writer says Davis' parents were not married.

A suit has been commenced in the Johnson County Circuit Court, Missouri, by a Union soldier named Ryan Hornsby, against several distinguished rebels—including Sterling Price, James S. Raines, Stephen Lockertill and others—for $60,000 damages for false imprisonment early in the war. Price and Raines both own property in the State, which will amply cover the verdict, if one be rendered in the plaintiff's favor.

The buildings and other property belonging to the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va., which have been in the hands of the government during the war, are now to be restored.

Jeff Davis is sick again with erysipelas, boils and other skin diseases. It is thought to be nothing but corruption breaking out.

THE DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, SATURDAY, SEPT. 9, 1865. NO. 254.

Rare Scenes in Richmond—An Editor Cowhided.—A Duel and not a Duel.

Immediately after the establishment of the Richmond Times, Mr. John M. Reynor was employed as agent and canvasser for that paper in the city, and continued as such for some five or six weeks. Since then he has been in the habit of calling daily at the office, and was on friendly terms with everybody there. On Monday he was requested by Mr. H. Rives Pollard, the editor and part proprietor of the paper, who was then, and had been for several weeks confined to his room by sickness, to call at the Times office as he went to dinner and deliver a message to Mr. P. H. Aylett. Mr. Reynor complied with the request, but finding that Mr. Aylett was not in the editorial room, was about to retire, when Mr. Wynne stepped out of the counting room and insultingly ordered him out, telling him in violent language, never to set his foot in the office again.

Mr. Reynor—Mr. Wynne, what does this mean? Mr. Wynne.—It means that you are no gentleman. Mr. Reynor.—You are a d—d liar. Mr. Wynne.—I reupon struck at him, but Mr. Reynor warded off the blow, and the clerks then rushed in and separated them. As Mr. Reynor left the office, he said: "Sir, you shall hear from me again."

Mr. Reynor immediately sought the counsel of a friend, and determined to send Mr. Wynne a peremptory challenge, of which the following is a copy:

"RICHMOND, September 4, 1865. Chas. H. Wynne, Esq.: 'Sir: You have, without cause or provocation, insulted me. You took occasion to do this when you were surrounded by some three or four of your clerks. I have to demand of you that satisfaction which no gentleman will deny when he has insulted another. My friend, Mr. —, who will deliver this, is authorized to act for me in making all necessary arrangements for an immediate meeting. I am, very respectfully, 'Your obedient servant, JOHN M. REYNOR.'

After some consideration, and after applying to one or two of his friends to bear it, who declined on conscientious grounds, Mr. Reynor at length yielded to the advice of a friend, who had earnestly dissuaded him from sending a challenge, and decided upon more certain and summary redress. Upon coming to this determination, he went to the Times office with the hope of obtaining some explanation or apology, but not finding Mr. Wynne in, he walked round on Broad street, where he saw him come out of his dwelling-house and enter a hack. As he passed the corner where Mr. Reynor was standing, the latter called upon him to stop, that he wanted to have a word with him. Mr. Wynne, however, without noticing him, ordered the hackman "drive on," whereupon he gave whip to his horses and went off at a rapid pace.

Nothing occurred further until yesterday about half past one o'clock, when Mr. Reynor was standing in front of the Ballard House, conversing with a friend, he saw Mr. Wynne coming up the street. He thereupon went down the street and met Mr. Wynne immediately in front of the barber-shop in the basement of the Ballard. Without any ceremony, he drew back and struck Mr. Wynne full in the face, knocking him down.

Mr. Reynor then drew a cowhide, which he had concealed beneath his coat, and laid on blows thick and fast. During this part of the encounter Mr. Wynne managed to regain his feet, and drew a pistol, when Mr. Reynor grasped the hand in which he held it, and continued with the other to use the cowhide with increased rapidity. At this juncture of the affair the police came upon the ground and arrested both parties. They, however, soon released Mr. Wynne, who retired to the Ballard to wash the blood from his face. Mr. Reynor was taken before Lieutenant-Colonel Warren, Provost Marshal for the Second district, who, after examining several parties that witnessed the occurrence, sent him to the Provost Judge, Lieutenant-Colonel McEntee, who, after a brief examination, admitted him to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars to appear again before him at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Wynne was very badly injured, receiving several deep gashes across his face and ugly cuts about his head and shoulders. So swollen and disfigured by the closing of his eyes, in fact, was his face, that a short time after the termination of the affair his most intimate friends were able with difficulty to recognize him. Mr. Reynor sustained not the slightest injury.

The first announcement of the encounter at the hotels and other public places occasioned and unusual excitement, which increased as exaggerated rumors of the affair spread from street to street. This was not to be wondered at when we remember that nothing else bordering on the sensational has occurred in our great city since its occupation by the military—Both parties, of course, had their warm friends and partisans, who looked at the matter from different standpoints. The one characterized it as a brutal assault, the other as a mental chastisement, given in return for an unprovoked insult. Some of the former alleged that Mr. Reynor knocked Mr. Wynne down with the most positive and unequivocal terms, that prior to drawing the cowhide he had only used the weapons with which nature had armed him.

Mr. Wynne is a well-known citizen of Richmond, and before the establishment of the Times was at the head of a large book and job office. For several years of the war he was a member of the First Richmond Howitzers. Mr. Reynor is a native of Maryland, and moved some years ago to Louisiana. At the commencement of hostilities in 1861 he came to Virginia with the Louisiana troops, and was severely wounded in the first battle of Manassas. He afterwards was employed by the Southern Express Company, and like Mr. Wynne, has sustained a good reputation with those who knew him.

A full investigation of the affair will take place this morning before the Provost Court, and as our reporters will be on hand, our readers may look to-morrow to the columns of the Republic for a full account of all that may transpire.

THE CITY.

VERY BADLY BITTEN—John Rhodes on employe in this office, while on his way home last night, was savagely attacked by a tremendous dog on Halifax street. John having all the courage which is predisposed to exist in all employes about a printing office, defended himself most manfully, and ultimately killed the cur.

IN SEASON.—With a public spirit which deserves all commendation, our tradesmen have been out stretching their arms to every variety of employment. Last night for the first time in four years, oysters graced our table fresh, full, glorious, from the waters of the western branch, near Norfolk, Va.—The Governor has not dared to luxuriate on such bivalves, but our friend Bishop furnished as the treat in spite of the distance of 90 miles between us. He has our thanks for the attention.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN THE PROVOST OFFICE.—By reference to the following copy of an order recently issued by Gen. Hardee, it will be seen that another change has taken place in the Provost office of this district.

HEAD QUARTERS, DIST. OF RALEIGH, Raleigh, N. C. Sept. 6th, 1865. SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 28. [EXTRACT.] Capt. David B. Purinton, Co. C., 28th Mich. Infantry, is hereby appointed Provost Marshal for the District of Raleigh, and will report with his company at these Head Quarters for duty at once. By command of Brig. Gen. M. D. HADEN, HENRY A. HALL, Capt. & A. A. G.

It has been hinted to us that the Progress is in the habit of "puffing" all new comers in positions of the above ilk; ergo, we forbear extended mention at this time and satisfy ourselves with the expression of a hope that this appointment will be satisfactory and permanent.

ARRESTED.—Two miscreants—both deserters from the rebel army, and subsequently members of the 76th Penn.,—were arrested in this city yesterday. Said arrest terminated a career of six months duration, as brilliant in the annals of crime as any we have heard of lately. These worthies have made a practice of going to citizens in the country, and taking from them the horses, loaned them by the government, in each case giving a receipt. Alternately one did the impressing, while the other sold horses.

REMOVED.—Charlie Belvin "the efficient," informs us that the post office has been removed to the building erected for the use of the Bank of North Carolina, at the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets. Charlie is an old attaché of the institution and his smiling face and accommodating manners are well known to all of our citizens.

SODA WATER, ETC.—Yesterday we happened to drop into Mr. T. F. Lee's establishment on Fayetteville street, and there procured one of the best, coolest and most refreshing glasses of soda water that have indulged in during this awful heated term.—Besides the soda water there are other things to be found there equally attractive.

AN AMATEUR match game of billiards occurred in Golden's establishment over the "Conservative Office" yesterday evening. The stakes were small, but the playing was excellent.

GOLD IN THE CARDS.—We have a large lot of fine paper on hand, and can print military blanks, court blanks, circulars, catalogues, &c., at the shortest notice, and at northern prices.

Also a large lot of cards on hand, which we can print at from $5 to $8 a thousand. Orders solicited at PROGRESS OFFICE.

AGENTS WANTED The Secret Service, the Field, the Dungeon, and the Escape. BY ALBERT D. RICHARDSON, N. Y. Tribune Correspondent. 1,000 COPIES SELLING PER DAY! The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experience for four years. Travelling through the South in the secret service of the "Tribune" at the outbreak of the war, with our armies and fleets, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for twenty months in seven different rebel prisons; his escape and almost miraculous journey by night of nearly 400 miles. It will abound in stirring events, and contain more of the fact, incident and romance of the war, than any other work yet published. Horace Greely says of it: "A great many books will yet be written concerning this war, in addition to the many already in print; but not one of them will give, within a similar compass, a clearer, fuller, more readable account, entirely from personal observation, of the nature, aims, purposes, tendencies, and instrumentalities of the slaveholders' rebellion, than does the unpretending narrative of Mr. Richardson." Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, in want of profitable employment, will find it particularly adapted to their condition.
