-The estimated cost of the monument to Mr. Lincoln, to be erected in Springfield, Ill., is two hundred thousand dollars, and the sum thus far contributed toward it is fifty thousand dollars .--Of this amount the city of Chicago has furnished a total of precisely two hundred and eighty nine dollars and fifty seven cents.

-The best fish story of the season is related by the New London Star, of a man who while bathing was seized by a huge shark and dragged twentyfive feet under the water. Thinking that depth sufficient, he plunged his thumb into the monster's eye, was quickly released and regained the surface and his boat. The shark so damaged him, however, that he cannot live.

-Gen. Butler was before the Surrogate, in New York, again a few days since, in relation to his deceased brother's will. The Surrogate decided that the General must include in the inventory of assets, all the Louisiana property, but to this the General dissents, on the ground that such property is beyond the jurisdiction of the New York Surrogate. He will now appeal from the decision to the Supreme Court.

-Trade is reviving in Galveston, and affairs generally in Texas are improving, notwithstanding the occasional trifling exception of the "pleasant pop of the pistol in the hands of some 'gentlemanly' marauder," or the "cheerful shriek" of the victim of some of the bands of desperadoes that infest that country.

-The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows met yesterday in National Convention, at Baltimore, and considerable interest attaches to the circumstance of its being the first body in which the States lately in rebellion will be represented in council with the North. .- The East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad is about to resume operations. The Bristol News of the 8th says, that the bridge over the Watauga, at Carter depot, will be completed in about ten days, when the trains from the West will run up as far as Union Depot. In the meantime, an engine brought from Lynchburg will run to the Holston river. Passengers, then, will only have that river to cross to get to the regular train.

-The Savannah Republican of the 7th contains an account of the murder of Captain Heisler, Thirty-third United States colored troops, at Augusta, on the night of the 6th, by three young men, members of three of the most respectable families of that place. It appears the captain was discovered in the company of a mulatto girl, who was the mistress of one of the young men, and they all attacked him with their revolvers, one of the shots penetrated his neck, and proving mortal. Not satisfied with this they fell on his prostrate body, inflicting several ghastly cuts with knives. The aftair had caused such wide-spread excisement that there was danger of riot, and threats were made of burning the city. The murderers were arrested and quiet restored.

-The tusk of a fossil elephant was found in Vermont the other day. It is forty four inches in length, eighteen inches in circumference at the largest end, and eleven inches at the smallest. It is in a fair state of preservation, although some parts of it crumpled after being exposed to the air. It belonged to a species of elephant long since extinct, supposed to be the Ephas Primogenius (or mammoth) Blumenback, that inhabited the northern parts of North America, having wandered across the Siberian plains to the Artic Ocean, Behring Straits, and beyond to this country south to about the parallell of 40 deg. Their bones show them to have been about twice the weight and one-third taller than our modern species.

-A tournament having for its object the glorification of the guerrilla Mosby, came off at Leesburg on Friday. The notorious partisan chieftain, Col. White, acted as chief marshal on the occasion. Mosby was, however deterred from being present by the knowledge of the fact that if he made his appearance on the ground he would have been arrested, so he prudently kept away. A detachment of seventy mounted federal soldiers from Winchester, was present to keep order and before the commencement of the exercises their commander, Captain Allen, ordered all the knights, judges, and other officers of the occasion, to take the oath of allegiance, which they did, White included-with some show of reluctance. All of the soldiers belonged recently to the commands of Mosby and

THE CITY.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION .- This body adjourned last Friday after a very interesting and harmonious session. Among other things, a lengthy report was submitted by Rev. G. M. Everhart, with respect to that portion of the Bishop's address concerning the freedmen, their condition and religious culture. The preamble recites that "By the changed relation hitherto existing between the white and black races, a new and to some extent, confused condition of things obtains; and as this revolution in society necessarily tends to create an alienation amounting at least to indifference on the part of the former owners of slaves, and distrust and suspicion on the part of the freedmen towards their former masters; and as the religious education of the Treedmen has been thereby already greatly hindered and in some cases almost defeated; and as the present civil status of the treedinen, to twithstanding these things, for many reasons, seems clearly providential, and should be accepted by us as such; therefore

Resolved, That the church in this Diocese address herself with all the energy and wisdom at her comnand, to r duce this confusion to order and to elevate the colored race as far as it may come within ber sphere of action. In order to a complish this end, be Resolved, 1st. That this Council commend the people of color to the continued and unabated forbearance, kindness and good will of the white population of this Diocese.

Six other resolutions follow, with respect to the establishment for their benefit of independent churches and sabbath schools; that the clergy seek for colored catechist and sunday school teachers; that colored young men be educated for the ministry of the church to their own people in the State; that whenever practicable each parish should make provision for the training of the colored children to such degree as the condition of affairs may justify.

The report elicited some discussion, and was finally postponed under the subjoined resolution:

"Resolved, That in consideration of the interest and importance of the subject presented in this report, the Council postpone action upon it until its next meeting, commending, in the meantime, the temporal and religious interests of our colored population to the benevolence and wisdom of the Dio-

The next meeting of the Convention will be held at Newbern on the last Wednesday in May, 1866. A resolution of Rev A. A. Watson declaring the changes made in the Constitution of the Diocese at the Council held in Fayetteville in 1863, unconstitutional and hereby repealed, was withdrawn with-

The committee on the state of the church, among other things report that from the limited number of Parochial Reports that have been placed in their hands they are enabled to make but an imperfect exhibit of the condition of the Diocese. There are twenty-five parishes from which no report has been received, and among these are several of the largest and most important in the Diocese. From the Parochial Reports that have been submitted to them, and from the Bishop's address, it appears that there have been 665 baptisms of which 551 were children, and 114 adults: 275 persons have been confirmed of whom 225 were whites, and 50 colored, Marriages 59, white, and 278 colored: Funerals 323. Two Deacons and one Priest have been ordained and there are three candidates for Holy Orders. The contributions since the last meeting of the Council have been $19,710,60 of which $ 7,-614.50 in Confederate money and $2,059,10 in Federal Currency.

HORACE GREELEY WON'T BE HERE .- The emancipated about Raleigh will feel doleful, we expect, at the announcement that Massa Gree'y, of the New York Tribune, is not coming to this city. He says that he cannot accept the invitation of the freedmen of North Carolina to attend their convention at Raleigh on the 29th instant, being under an old and imperative engagement to be on that day in Minnesota. He has issued an address to the freedmen advising them to be hopeful, patient, peaceful, diligent; to respect themselves and stay where they belong, as North Carolina is a noble State, with her resources mainly developed.

Come In .- A gentleman asks us with respect to the parties who propose forming in Raleigh "circle" of the Fenian Brotherhood. We invite him to call at the office.

Scenes at President Johnson's Receptations A Washington correspondent, under date of Wednesdry, says:

The visitors at the President's reception to-day exceeded in numbers and bad behavior any previous occasion. They invaded the lobbies. the stairways, the ladies' reception room, and every nook and corner except the east room down stairs, where there was an abundance of space, but as every one wanted to be first in when the doors of the Green Room would be opened, the spacious hall of the east room was not so popular with the masses.

For five long hours the masculine crowd swayed and surged in the outer hall adjoining the Presiident's audience room, till it was almost impossible for the President's Secretary and ushers to get through them whenever it was necessary to pass from one room to another. The ventilation of this apartment being very limited, and the day extremely warm, the atmosphere became almost stifling, and many were compelled to leave being unable to stand the pressure.

So free and easy have these crowds of pardon seeking bec me, for ninety out of every hundred belong to this class, that some of them smoked pipes and cigars in the President's house till it was found necessary to stop it by putting up notices around the hall that "Smoking is positively prohibted" Some, however, who do not smoke chew tobacco immensely, and leave such deposits on the hall floor as to disgust cleanly disposed peo-

This is a sample of the crowds who latterly, on reception days, occupy the chief time of the President. The lady visitors are numerous, and are ushered into a nearly dark roon, with no windows, and as hot as an oven, to wait till the President is ready to receive them. They are waited on first, and to-day occupied the President from two till three o'clock.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the doors were opened, when the mob rushed in promiscuously and crowded around the President so rudely that he was obliged at times to speak snarply to several to bring them to a sense of propriety. A domen tried to speak to him at once, and some, on being told to go to such a Department or to the Attorney General's office to inquire about their pardons, did not appear satisfied and wanted to argue the point with him.

Oue young Southerner, with more assurance that judgment, accosted the President with

" Sir, I've called to see you about my pardon." "Have you made your application?' inquired the

"No, sir." "Well, then, you must make out your application. before you call upon me. Make your application first, then call again.' "But, Mr. President, I want to see you about

"I've told you once what to do; pass on, if you please. "But, sir-" persisted the youth, standing in the way, as if determined not to leave. The President turned upon his heel and addressed the next applicant, and the discomfitted youth moved off, grumuling and looking unutterable things. When the names were called of these whose pardons were ready for delivery, one person answered, " That's my brother's name; I am nere to answer for him, ' Auother said, "I come to represent my uncle, and will receive anything for him.

In this way half a dozen would speak at once, and what a crowding and justling to get near the table where the papers were lying; the scene was so indecorous that the President was compelled severa times to rebuke them to preserve order. The great majority of carlers are applicants for pardons. Out of upwards of one hundred, all waited on between three and four o'clock, only two were office-hunters, and they, for a wonder, were the most modest of the whole party, and waited till the President was disdisengaged before disclosing their business.
