NO. 292.

BY J. L. PENNINGTON.

GENERAL ITEMS.

- A bill authorizing the reception of negro testimony in the courts of Tennessee, passed the Senate of that State on the 15th inst. by ayes 10, nays 9. - Gen. Beauregard is to be suparintendent of the

New Orleans and Jackson railroad. - At the Fenian convention in Philadelphia, last week, Patrick J. Wheelan, a prominent Irish-American journalist, made his appearance, having just returned from a tour in Ireland, during which he was intimately connected with Irish Fenians, and informed himself of their plans. He reports the organization as powerful and under skillful leaders.

-It will be recollected that, during the conspiracy trial, two printers employed in the office of the Selma Dispatch, testified that George W. Gale was the author of an advertisement which appeared in the Dispatch, soliciting contributions of a million dollars with which to procure the assassination of President Lincoln and certain members of his Cabinet. Gale was in Washington when the testimony was given, and had engaged counsel to conduct his case, in the event of his trial in Washington. But he was removed South, where he has ever since been in confinement. Recently the President ordered that he be transferred to a civil instead of a military court for trial, in Alabama.

-The freedmen's bureau at Washington has received intelligence that John Davis, brother of Jeff., has written an important letter to an officer of the freedmen's bureau of the State of Mississippi, in which he demands the restoration of not only his own but his brother's land on the Mississippi river, which is now profitably cultivated, as it has been for two years, by most promising colony of active, energetic, intelligent and thrifty freedmen. So the Washington correspondents say.

- Forty millions of the new issue of fifty million Five-Twenty Bonds, for funding compound interest notes and certificates of indebtedness, have been taken. At this rate the entire issue will be taken in a few days.

- A register has been compiled in the War Department, and is now in the hands of the printer, which gives the name and rank of every volunteer officer who served since the commencement of the late war. The register contains also such other official information concerning each officer as can be of any interest to him or his friends.

-A post office has been established at Deep River, Guilford county, in this State, and Elihu E. Mendenhall appointed postmaster.

-The Troy papers state that Rev. Mr. Cahart, of that city, has disposed of the patent for an oscillating steam valve of his invention for the soug little sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

-That "private dinner" given to Hon. A. H. Stephens, at the Revere House, was, indeed, very private, as the entire company present, according to the Buston Traveller, consisted of three persons.

- Some of the papers announce that Mrs. Caroline Warden, of M dford, Mass, after a ride in the horsecar, Saturday, found that there was a diamond ring in her pocket. She remembers a fleshy chap sitting at her side, and as her pocket-book, with a few notes in it, was gone, it is supposed the ring accidentally lipped from his finger when abstracting it. The ring is stated to be worth $250.

- Senator Wilson has written a letter, in which e expresses a confident opinion as to the complete access of the Republican party, both in New York nd New Jersey, at the ensuing elections.

- William F. Lynch, formerly a captain in the U. Navy, and latterly holding the position of flog ofcer or commodore in the confederate navy, died at altimore on the 18th inst.

- Gen. Grant has two sons at the Burlington, N , college. The old warsman and his lady visited CLEMENCY .- The Richmond Whig says :- " Jeferson Davis, late President of the Confederate States, and Charles Clarke, late Governor of Missssippi, commanded the First and Second regiments Mississippi Rifleman in the Mexican war. The ame of those two regiments is historic. While heir commanders are incarcerated in powerful forfications, let some of the glory they added to the old flag" speak in behalf of clemency."

The President is daily in receipt of memorials in chalf of Jeff. Davis. A few days ago, Judge Philips, of Alabama, at the request of the petitioners. resented one signed by nearly five thousand ladies f Georgia, and on Monday an anonymous communication, eight pages long, apparently written by a female, was received, appealing for mercy for Davis on the ground that he had 'rendered valuable service to the country in various public positions, as Cabinet officer, and fought bravely in the Mexican war; that he was no more criminal than the others who figured in the rebellion, and who have been pardoned.

The Lawrence (Mass.) American tells a story of the marriage in that city of a couple, the bridegroom being from Wisconsin, and the bride a resident of Lawrence. Immediately after marriage the lady told her newly wedded husband that she was unworthy of him, giving reasons which emphatically proved the statement; said she loved another; that she was coerced into the marriage and would not live with her husband, and the two thereupon parted, the lady meantime being formally disowned by her parents.

COMET ENDANGERING THE EARTH .- Southey, in his "Common Place Book," relates that in A. D. 1712, Whiston predicted that the comet would apar on Wednesday, 14th October, at five minutes after five in the morning, and that the world would be destroyed by fire on Friday following. His reputation was high, and the comet appeared. A number of persons got into boats and barges on the Thames, thinking the water the safest place. South Sea and India stock fell. A captain of a Dutch ship threw all his powder into the river, that the ship might not be endangered. At noon, after the comet had appeared, it is said that more than one huadred clergymen were ferried over to Lambeth, to request that proper prayers might be prepared, there being none in the church service. People believed that the day of judgment was at hand, and some octed on this belief, more as it some temporary evil was to be expected. On Thursday, more than 7000 tept mistresses were publicly married. There was a prodigious run on the bank; Sir Gilbert Heathcote, t that time head director, issued orders to all the fire ffices in London, requiring them to keep a good ookout, and have a particular eye upon the bank of England.

The Piedmont Railroad was taken possession of ome months since by the agents of the United states government, under the impression that it as built by the Confederate States, and justly conscatable under the acts of Congress. Governor ierpoint, of Virginia, and Dr. Powell, of North arolina, have succeeded in satisfying the authories that it was built by the Danville Railroad cororation and never passed out of its possession. he rebel government offered to advance a million collars for its construction, taking the bonds of the Panville road therefor; but the offer was declined. The Piedmont road will therefore be delivered to ts former owners.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, TUESDAY, OCT. 24, 1865.

Rebel Emigrants to Brazil-A Settlement of Missourians-How They Get to Brazil and How They Fare.

Dr. John H. Blue, of Missouri, is writing to the St. Louis Republican a series of letters from Rio Janeiro, descriptive of the adventures of the emigrants from the South who have settled in Brazil. He Judge John Guillet, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Carroll county, with several families and a Mr. Reavia, of Cooper county, Nissouri, with his interesting family, are now here (August), making about forty North Americans in all, the nucleus of a good settlement around Col. M. L. Swain, of Louisiana, who has located and paid for a body of land on the Assunguy, a branch of the Serro Negro river, which empties into this bay from the northwest, and which is the only practicable route to the mines and to the rich open country beyond. We have already houses and a little store, and will soon have a blacksmith shop and a school house, the government giving us five hundred milreis a year to support a school. We have small crops of corn, beans and potatoes growing finely and expect to keep ahead of the wants of new comers in the way of food. All of this dates from about the time I came into the bay, a period of less than three months.

Judge Guillet and the others say all the expense which they had with their personal effects was to New York, whence vessels have room enough, and charge nothing extra for bringing them to Paranagua, from which we are distant across the bay, northward, forty miles. They advise the shipment of all clothes, tools, and everything portable, which may be on band, and cannot be sold for a fair price, as farmers and others will find everything useful here to which they have been accustomed, and perhaps find it dearer and inferior. Clothing is cheap enough here, coming from England and France, but blankets and bedclothes are always wanted in a new settlement. Game is plenty and a shot gun would not be

Express companies ought to send movables through to New York with dispatch, but they charge much more than commission merchants. In either case, bind the parties to deliver them by a specified time, and examine the packages before paying charges in New York, to see that they are not broken open or injured. Any respectable commission merchant in St. Louis or elsewhere ought to arrange all these

You ought to have some friend or agent in New York to find you board or lodgings, or you may suffer from it. So, also, you ought to engage passage to Rio from some responsible ship agent or owner, who will stipulate demurrage, if you are detained on expenses.

When emigrants arrive in Rio they can go to the emigrant house in Praia Formesa, where the government has furnished comfortable quarters for them, except bedding and cooking utensils, at forty cents a day each, till they are sent forward gratis on the first steamer to their destination. The vexation of two dollars, gold, apiece for Drazilian passports from the consuls in the ports of the United States is not yet done away with, as it should be, in the case of bona fide emigrants; but a man and his whole family pass together, so that the expense is inconsiderable. I have written to have the whole fee remitted.

I opened a correspondence with Senor Marcondes. the Minister of Agriculture, and obtained the favorable coucessions. And I have taken pains to impress the Brazilians with the fact that this is no colonization scheme, to empty poor houses and penitentiaries on their shores, and to tell our countrymen at Rio that it is no speculation of myself nor any other individual; but an emigration of independent families, like the pioneers of Kentucky and Tennessee, whom the fortunes of a deplorable war have made refugees and who seek here an asylum. We believe in the future greatness of Brazil, and are willing to brave the ocean and the wilderness to begin a new and prosperous career under the patronage of the good Emperor, whose character, in the estimation of all parties, is most saintly.

> EXCHANGE HOTEL, RALFIGH, N. C.,) October 17, 1865.

MR. EDITOR :- Aware that virtue always has its reward, whether known or unknown, yet it becomes every one to speak of marked incidents and instances when this reward is especially due.

It is a common opinion that the Northerners and ourselves will never again harmonize; that neither side care for the other; and even that irritation is intentionally practiced daily in order to widen the

Having the pleasure of being a boarder at this most accommodating and prosperous house, and seeing constantly the intercourse existing between Northerners and Southerners, I can safely say it seems the sincere desire of these strangers amongst us to render themselves truly agreeable in courtesies and intelligent conversation, and, as far as by me seen, is likewise responded to by the other party. I am very glad to see it, because deeming it both a political and moral duty.

But my article to-day is designed more especially for reference to our most worthy Provost Marshal, Captain George L. Montgomery, of Detroit, whose constant wish is to serve all coming before him for relief of any kind, and most strikingly careful to be prompt and earnest in answering every call the peculiar institution of the Confederate population makes upon him in his official capacity.

This, his natural and uniform conduct has so struck me, that I cannot forbear speaking of it, and trust he will pardon me for so doing, as I know he would not consent to praise if he knew of its application to

May he continue thus in the office so adorned by him, and set a good example to all in like position; while the army remains may there be no change in our Provo, and when he leaves may it be to find happiness wherever he goes. CONFEDERATE.

-George N. Sanders, in his greed for notoriety. was "kidnapped," it will be remembered, at Montreal, and was rescued at the toll-gate by the timely and pre-arranged presence of police who overhauled the carriage. The case has just undergone judicial examination, and the only sufferers seem to have been the jury, who were locked up over Sunday and finally discharged because they could not agree. It was shown by Sanders' own testimony to have been a "made up" affair. George acknowledged that he wanted to exhibit himself in St. Lawrence Hall with handcuffs. Not a particle of evidence was offered to show that the kidnappers were United States agents; and the counsel for their defence urged with reason that Sanders was a fellow conspirator, equally liable with themselves to any charge of disturbing the peace.

- Gen. Sherman is on an excursion to the western terminus of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

THE CITY.

Persons in city and country are requested, at all times, to furnish us verbal or written information of any events of public interest which may transpire in their neighborhoods, or of which they may have knowledge.

THE TIME. - Through some instrumentality to us unknown, the pendulum and hammer of the town clock moved yesterday and the merry tones of olden times fell upon ears that had not heard such music for many months. "Egad," exclaimed a grey-haired citizen, "we have a live board of commissioners; they are not dead, but have been seeping, and now, like men, awaken to a just sense of duty. They have given us a sufficiently numerous police force, if kept up to their duty; and now they propose to repair the cemetery and town o'clock."

The old gentleman aforesaid at once proceeded to the Yarborough Saloon and drank the health of the town authorities. We hope his prognostications may be realized to the full measure of his expectations. They have authority-let them exercise it judiciousky and at once.

We must put in a plea for the board with those who have been disposed to charge the members of it with gross incompetency. The corporation has, like individuals, been oppressed for means, and this fact pleads largely in extenuation of apparent legislative delinquencies. But the people have in their complaints manifested readiness to be taxed rather than that law and order should be overthrown; the institutions of the city permitted to decay; and person and property have no security. Having the support of the people, they may now venture to take hold of the reins of government firmly and show themselves reformers of the first type.

Going to Work .- Judge Reade, in his farewell address to the State Convention, referring to the future of the African race, beautifully and with truth affirmed that we would in time to come as in years past, prove to be their best friends. We have entire confidence that the action of the southern people in the premises will clearly substantiate the prediction. In the direction of their education, especially in the principles of sound morality, we hear that in at least one congregation of Raleigh there is a fixed determination among the white members to organize a sabbath school for freed men and women, as well as juvenile piccaninnies. A number of the ladies connected with the denomination express entire concurrence and promise their cordial co-operation in the undertaking when the work is begun.

This scheme will doubtless secure the approbation of all christian minds, not only in our community but throughout the State. The plan is an admirable one and promises not only to promote the spiritual. but temporal interests of the negro race. We must give them a higher idea of moral obligation; a more perfect comprehension of social ethics; and by every well considered step advance them in the estate of manhood.

GREAT SPORT .- We see that Mr. O'Daniels has engaged an opera troupe, which appears to-night at Market Hall. The bill which is offered presents a goodly number of attractive features and if concertgoers turn-out they will doubtless hear some good music. No one can deny that Wilcox plays the violin with rare power, while Dudley excels in all those "light, fantastic toe" arts which appertain to fancy dancing. The other members of the troupe are of good repute and "burnt cork" will probably be in the ascendant this evening.

Of one thing we feel confident: Mr. O'Daniel, the manager, is competent to direct such a company acceptably to the musical public by preventing disappointments and interdicting those gross jests which, while they have no merit as witticisms, offend good taste and disgust refined sensibility. No such practice, we are assured, will distinguish the series of entertainments which are prospected this week, and with this promise as the warrant for it, we commend the Raleigh Minstrels to the patrons of song, the dance, and imitations of plantation life in the sunny South.

LADIES' ASSOCIATION .- We have always contended that the ladies were not only purer, but more energetic than men. This has been exemplified in a thousand forms time and again. We have no idea that our fair friends here intend that Richmond shall excel them in brave and good deeds, and we call to them in each religious denomination to form societies to aid theological students and domestic missions. In such an enterprise they might accomplish much in behalf of religion and while thus practically illuminating their own christianity, send the word of life to others. Organize and have your regular meetings from this time forward.

THEO. HILL is a candidate for the Reading Clerk to the House of Commons.

THE CASTLEMAN MURDER.-We mentioned some time since, immediately after the sad occurrence, the murder of Rev. Mr. Castleman, an Episcopalian minister, at Summit Point, near Gaston. 'The whole affair was then shrouded in mystery, but it now seems that an intelligent theory has been promulgated with respect to the dreadful transaction. About three weeks since, a portion of the cotton on a freight train took fire, a note of which we made at the time, and to save the remainder that part which had ignited was hurriedly cast overboard. There was no roof or shelter near for storage, and the cotton was left by the roadside in an exposed condition. The present high price of the article excited the cupidity of an individual in the neighborhood, and he was not slow to avail himself of so favorable an opportunity to pilfer the exposed cotton. These thefts, which are said to have been conducted chiefly at night, were brought to the knowledge of the Rev. Mr. Castleman, who at once proceeded to acquaint the owner of the cetton with the facts. The suspected party, we learn from the Petersburg Express, has been heard to often vow vengeance upon the informer, but Mr. Castleman.

On the night of the assassination, Mr. Castleman went to the house of his friend and neighbor, Mr. W. K. Broadnax, took tea, and sat until bedtime, engaged in pleasant conversation. When he arose to depart, the family importuned him to remain all night. He declined, stating that his own family would certainly expect him. He was then laughingly told that his life had been threatened. This he received with great calmness, remarking, that as he had never injured any one, he presumed there were none who would injure no attention to the matter.

In accordance with his determination, Mr. Castleman left the house of his friend for home. That home he never reached alive. His famly anxiously awaited his arrival through all the long night. He never came. At early morn a messenger was dispatched to the home of the friend, whither he had declared his intention of going the evening previous. On the route the mangled body of the worthy man was found, perforated by a bullet, evidently fired in close proximity, as the wadding was in the clothing. No scener than the matter became known, the man who stole the cotton and made the threats disap-
