Bill Arp Addresses Artemus Ward. R ME, GA, September 1, 1865. Artemus Ward, Showman :

SIR-The resun I write to you in partickler are kaus you are about at the man I know in all God's country," so called. For sum several weeks have been wanting tu say sumthin. For sum seval years we rels, so-called, but now late of said unty deceased, hav been tryin mity hard to do mthin. We dish't quite do it, and now its very sinful, I assure you, to dry up all of a sudden and ake out like we wasn't thar.

My friend, I want to say sumthin. I suppose here is no law agin thinkin, but thinkin don't help e. It don't let down my thermometer. I must plode myself generally so as to feel better. You e I'm tryin to barmonize. I'm tryin to soften own my feelings. I'm endeavoring to subjugate vself to the level of surroundin circumstances. soalled. But I can't do it until I am allowed to say umthin. I want to quarrel with somebody and hen make friends. I aint no giant-killer. I aint no Norwegian bar. I aint no bear-constrikter; but I'll b horswaggled if the talkin and the writtin and the landering has got to be all done on one side any loner. Sum of your folks have got to dry up or turn or folks loose. Its a blamed outrage, so-called .-Aint your editors got nothin else to do but to peck t us, and equib at us, and crow over us? Is every man what can write a paragraf to consider us as bars a cage, and be always a jobbin at us to hear us rowl? Now you see, my friend, that's what's disarmonious, and do you jest tell 'em, one and all, e oluribus unum, so-called, that if they don't stop it t once, or turn us loose to say what we please, why we rebs. so-called, have unanimously and jointly and everally resolved to-to-to-think very hard of it -if not harder.

That's the way to talk it. I aint agwine to comnit myself. I know when to put on the brakes .aint agwine to say all I think like Mr. Etheridge, Mr. Aderrig, so called. Nary time. No, sir. But I'll jest tell you, Artemus, and you may tell it b your show. If we aint allowed to express our seniments, we can take it out in hatin; and hatin runs eavy in my family, sure. I hated a man so bad nce that all the hair cum off my head, and the man rowned himself in hog-waller that night. I kould o it agin, but you see I'm tryin to harmonize, to equiesce, to bekum kalm and sereen,

Now I suppose that, poetikally speaking, "In Dixie's fall, . We sinned all.

But talkin the way I see it, a big feller and a lite feller, so-called, got into a fire, and they fout and out a long time, and everybody all round kep holbring hands off, but kep helpin the big feller, until hally the little feller caved in and hollered enuf .-He made a bully fite, I tell you, Selah. Well, what dd the big feller do? take him by the hand and help him up, and brush the dirt off his clothes?sur! but he kicked him arter he was down, and rowed mud on him, and drug him about and rubbsand in his eyes, and now he's gwine about huntup his poor little property. Wants to confiskate so-called - Blame my jacket if it aint enuf to make

But I'm a good Union man-so-called. I ain't a ripe to fire no more. I shan't vote for the next r. I ain't no gurilla. I've done tuk the oath, d I'm gwine to keep it, but as for my bein subjuted, and humilyated, and amalgamated, and enered, as Mr. Chase says, it aint so-nary time.in't ashamed of nuthin neither—ain't repentin body needu't be piayin priest around me. I ain't no twenty thousand dollars. Wish I had; I'd e it to these poor widers and orfins. I'd fatten own numerous and interesting offspring in about o minits and a half. They shouldn' eat roots and nk branch water no longer. Poor, unfortunate ngs! to cum into this subloonary world at sich a e. There's four or five of 'em that never saw a us nor a monkey show-never had a pocket He, nor a piece of cheese, nor a reesin. There is Bull Run Arp, and Harper's Ferry Arp, and Chickahominy Arp that never seed the picters in a spelling bok. I tell you, my friend, we are the poorest peoon the face of the earth-but we are poor and proud. We made a bully fite, Selah! and the whole merikin nation ought to feel proud of it. It shows what Amerikins can do when they think they are mposed on-" so called." Didn't our four fathers te, bleed and die about a little tax on tea, when not one in a thousan drunk it? Bekaus they sukseeded, wasent it glory? But if they hadent I suppose it would have been treason, and they would have been bowin and scrapin round King George for parton. So it goes, Artemus, and to my mind, if the whole thing was stewed down, it would make about a half a pint of humbug. We had good men, great men,

Christian men, who thought we was right, and many of 'em have gone to the undiskovered country, and have got a pardon as is a pardon. When I die, I'm mity willin to risk myself under the shadow of their wings, whether the climate be hot or cold. So mote Well, maybe I've said enuf. But don't feel easy yit. I'm a good Union man, sertin and sure. I've had my breeches died blue, and I've got a blue bucket, and I very often feel blue, and about twice in a while I go to the doggery and git blue, and then I look up at the blue serulean heavens and sing the melankolly choryus of the Blue tailed Fly. I'm doing my durndest to harmonize and think I could succeed if it was'nt for some things. When I see a black guard going around the streets with a gun on his shouldes, why right then, for a few minutes, I hate the whole Yanky nation. Jerusalem, how my blood biles. The institution what was handed down to us by the heavenly kingdom of Massachusetts now put over us with powder and ball! Harmonize the devit! Aint we human beings? Aint we got eyes and ears and feelin and thinkin? Why the whole of Afriky has come to town, women and children and babies and baboons and all. A man can tell how fur it is to the city by the smell better than the mile-post. They won't work for us, and they won't work for themselves, and they'll perish to death this winter as shore as he devil is a hog, so-called. They are now baskng in the summer's sun, living on roastin ears and reedom, with nary idee that the winter will cum igin, or that castor oil and salts cost money. Sum of 'em, a hundred years old, are whinin around bout goin to cawledge. The truth is, my friend, sumbody's badly fooled about this bizness. Sumbody has drawd the elefant in the lottery, and don't know what to do with him. He's just throwin his mout about loose, and by-and-by he'l hurt sumbody. These niggers will have to go back to the plantations and work. I ain't going to support nary one of 'em, and when you hear anybody say so, you tell 'em " its a lie," so-called. I golly, I ain't got nuthin to support myself on. We fout our-well, my friend, I don't want much. I aint amitious, as I used to was. You all have got your lows and monkeys and sirkusses and brass bands orgins, and can play on the petrolyum and the p of a thousand strings, and so on, but I ve only one favor to ax of you. I want enuf powedr to a big yaller stum-tail dog that prowls round premises at night. Pon honor, I wont shoot at Thing blue or black or mulatter. Will you send selves out of everything exceptin children and land, and I suppose the land are to be turned over to the

it? Are you and your foaks so skeered of me and my foaks, that you wont let us have any amynishun? Are the squirrels and crows and black rakoons to eat up our poor little corn patches? Are the wild turkeys to gobole all around us with impunity? If a mad-dog takes the hiderfoby, is the whole community to run itself to death to get out of the way? I golly! It looks like your pepul had all tuk the rebelfoby for good, and was never gwine to git over it. See here, my friend, you must send me a little powder and a ticket to your show, and me and you will harmonize sertin. With these few remarks I think I feel better, and hope I haint made nobody fitin mad, for I'm not on that line at this time. I am trooly your friend-all ent or accounted for. BILL ARP, so-called.

P. S .- Old man Harris wanted to buy my fiddle the other day with Confedrik money. He said it would be good agin. He says that Jim Funderbuk told him that Warren's Jack seed a man who had jest cum from Virginny, and he sed that a man told his cousin Mandy that Lee had whipped em agin. Old Harris says that a man by the name of Mack C. Million is coming over with a million of men. But nevertheless, notwithstanding, somehow or somehow else, I'm dubus about the money. If you was me, Artemus, would you make the fiddle trade?

How the Western Indians Fight .- A correspondent of a Cincinnati paper, describing a recent attack on a Government train on the Western plains, has the following as to the Indian method of fighting .:

E H Robinson, co G, 14 regiment, died Nov 8

They rarely, if ever attack except on horseback; and each man keeps his horse on the run, riding generally in a circle, so as to avoid shots, discharging in the meantime showers of bullets and arrows, and shouting to stampede the animals. When a weapon is pointed at one of them, he shelters himself almost entirely by hanging over one side of his horse, and from this position continues firing. Dashing suddenly upon a train in this manner, they can often discharge a great number of shots before the teamsters, taken by surprise, and encumbered by the care of their teams, can make any organized or effective resistance, and if unsuccessful in their attempts to shoot the drivers or stampede the animals, they are often able to make good their retreat without serious loss. The principal defence against an attack of a formidable nature is to form a corral, which turnishes a considerable protection, and cases have occurred where corrals have been beseiged for several days, by large bodies of Indians too numerous to be encountered on the open

Although arrows are still much used, many of the Indians are well armed with rifles and revolvers, though some of them at least do not understand the use of the breech-loading guns, and they have been known to leave captured weapons of that description, after breaking so as to render them useless.

MR. DAVIS' FAMILY .- A Montreal correspondent of the Le Canadien imparts the following para-

The children of Jefferson Davis have been for some time in Canada, as is well known. The two boys are just now in Chambly, and about to eater Lennoxville College. The young girl, nine years of age, is a pupil at the convent of the Sacred Heart, Sault-au-Recollects. Last Sabbath several Southern refugees went to see her. They brought with them the Federal General Cochrane, whom they introduced to the girl, telling her that he was a friend of the Southern cause, although circumstances constrained him to fight in the ranks of its enemies. The child, looking to the General, answered: " I shall believe that you are one of the friends of our cause when you shall have obtained the release of father." The General was deeply moved with this answer, and promised the child to use all his influence on behalf of Mr. Jefferson Davis.

The English police is horrified by the announcement, made in much detail by the press, that Prince Arthur's carriage was lately jostled by the hub of a dirt cart at Blairgowrle. But for the fact that the royal horses were going at a slow walk, serious damage might have been done. As it was, the accident was without results, except in the absurd paragraph which chronicles it in the newspapers.

THE CITY.

Persons in city and country are requested, at all times, to furnish us verbal or written information of any events of public interest which may transpire in their neighborhoods, or of which they may have knowledge.

ORDINANCE REVOKED .- Our city fathers passed an ordinance, at their meeting on Saturday evening last, making it an offence, punishable by fine, for a colored pursun to stand behind a counter in the capacity of a clerk. The commandant of this post, as we are informed, has decided that the city authorities could not enforce such a law.

We undertake to say, however, that the city authorities, in passing such an ordinance, did not suppose, (or intend,) that they were doing anything in cantradistinction to what they believed to be their duty to the well-being of society. It was far from them to take any power from its legitimate source, as they evidently would not offer insult to those who are at present put here to govern. If they had not seen, or believed they saw, evil resulting from the freedman's traffic in spirituous liquors, they would have taken no action in the matter.

We trust, however, that our city police of thirty men will be enabled to quell riot, and otherwise put down disorder.

INTERESTING TO PHOTOGRAPHERS .- The following Important decision has just been received from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in reply to a letter written to him in relation to photographers. The Commissioner, in referring to the letter, says: You state that the porcelain being transparent, the stamp destroys the symmetry of the picture, and you inquire whether the provisions of the law would not be complied with were the manifacturer to pay an ad valorem tax thereon.

In answer, I have to say that the late Commissioner did authorize monthly returns in cases similar to the above, for some time prior to March 3, 1865. with the the idea that Corgress would give the photographers the relief desired : but as that was denied. the Commissioner did not feel authorized to grant further indulgence, and has since required a full compliance with the law. Known violations of the law will be promptly prosecuted.

IMPROVEMENTS .- A stroll through the city vester. day merning afforded us a better idea of the improvements being made than we have hereion had. It is true that there are but few costly undertakings in hand at present, owing to the want of capital, but enough is seen to show the determination of the people to have houses enough for the accommodation of themselves and their trade operations. In every section we could hear and see the hammer and other tools contributing to the new em of business life upon which Raleigh has entered. It is hopeful and healthful to observe this spirit of activity, and we receive it is as indisputable indication that as soon as money can be had, such general prosperity will be seen among our population as has been heretofore unknown.

IN A NEW DRESS .- The last issue of the Newbern Times comes to us in an enlarged form, eight pages instead of four, as originally established. The type are new and our friends, Messrs. Vestal & NcKnight, deserve what they are receiving: large patronage .-By their present arrangement they can accommodate their friends who advertise and yet have room sufficient to make the Times a full and reliable newspaper. The typography is excellent and few newspapers in the South are more carefully and ably man-

RESPONDING .- We are glad to hear that the citizens generally are very cheerfully responding to the summons of the Mayor pro tem. with respect to handing in lists of taxable property. Some few seem a little reluctant, but will have to come to the scratch at last. Indeed, law and order, as well as improvement, can only be maintained through the agency of taxation. Let all, then, toe the mark promptly, and do all that is needful to make the city prosperous.

Homes for Friendless Children .- In many charlties the South is far behind the North. We see that since the conclusion of the war Philadelphia and other cities have nobly undertaken to provide homes for friendless children. A similar necessity exists for founding such homes in our section, and we hope that Raleigh will not fail in providing for the orphans made by the war or from other causes.

BETTING .- We regret to hear that there is a large disposition among the friends of different candidates for different offices, to indulge in election bets. We have seldom known it to fail in producing wrangling and alienation, and, therefore, beg them to keep cool. The questions at issue are far too important to be associated with speculation.

SEVEN HUNDBED .- In Tuesday's Standard a list of nearly seven hundred pardons appeared. This is wholesale, but eminently wise, as showing the disposition of the Governor towards a large number of the very men who most roundly abuse him.

THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION-which meets at Wake Forrest next Monday-is expected to attract full representation from every part of the State. It will be well, therefore, to make every possible arrangement for accommodating the members.

ANOTHER .- Mr. H. O. Parker this morning proclaims himself a candidate for the House of Commons from Wake.

"James Monroe, the sixth President of the United States, died in York so poor that his remains found a resting place through the charity of one of his friends. They remain in a cemetery in School street, but no monument marks the spot where they repose."

NO. 300.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

Sizs: I clip the above from your paper of the 7th inst, which may mislead some of your readers as to a historic fact, which I know you will readily

Ex-President Monroe died at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Samuel L. Gouverneur, in the city of New York, where the warmest filial tenderness soothed his latter days. He was buried in New York by his relatives, and not he the charity of his friends. In 1858, under escort of the New York Seventh Regiment, his remains were removed with great pomp and ceremony to Richmord, and on the 5th of July following were reintered in Hollywood Cemetery, near that city, where they now repose .-This State, as a token of its high appreciation of the distinguished services of her son, caused to be erected a splendid monument to his memory. The remains of his beloved and amiable consort still rest in the family burying-ground at Oak Hill, in this county, the President'f residence, which is ten miles south of our county town. The property now belongs to Col. John Minor Fairfax, who has inherited many of the good qualities of his ancestors who settled here during the reign of George III. I am, dear sirs, very respectfully, Your obedient servant. WM. B. DOWNEY. Leesburg, Va., Oct. 13th, 1865.

FELLOW-CITIZENS OF THE COUNTY OF WAKE.—Having been solicited to become a candigate for a seat in the next Legislature in the House of Commons, I take this opportunity of announcing myself candidate. If elected, my vote on all occasions will be for the strictest and most economical management of all State and county affairs. I shall oppose the borrowing of money by issuing State bonds, which, at the present time, would have to be sold at a very great sacrifice. Economy is, in my opinion, the only safe road.

I have been raised, and have lived all my life, and am known to nearly all the voters in the county. My views and opinions are, therefore, as well known as I could make them, should I visit every precinct. I am opposed to negro suffrage and negro testimony. If elected, I promise to make you a faithful servant.

I shall support W. W. Holden for Governor.
