

[From the Newbern Times.]
Holden and Worth.

GOLDENRO, Oct. 26, 1865.

From observation in an extensive tour in the State it is highly gratifying to see the feeling of the masses of the people in favor of Mr. Holden, the candidate of the National Union party for Governor.

The secession organ, which grinds out the daily lubrications of the quondam parson at Raleigh must see through visual organs which extend no further than the limits of his sentry box if he believes one-fourth of what he says about the popularity of the secession candidate for Governor.

Mr. Worth would do himself more credit to retire from the field than to make the tool of those wily disunionists who seek to make a cat's paw of him.

But the people of the West are not so much fascinated with the prospect of paying the rebel war debt as to place its champion in the chair of the Executive of the State.

The lawful taxes to meet the war debt hanging over the United States are sufficient to satisfy any man whose love for tax paying is anything short of a monomania, and I have not yet met one man who advocates the payment of these rebel obligations who was not directly interested in them.

We all know Mr. Holden to be opposed to the payment of a dollar of this bogus debt, and hence one great cause of opposition to him by the Shylocks who have foisted their champion, Jonathan Worth, on the people. Mr. Holden has been a steady opponent of this iniquitous scheme, and all others which are aimed against the rights of the people.

His opponents are not found among those brave men who fought in the Confederate armies for what they believed to be principle. These men emulate the noble example of Generals Robert E. Lee and Joseph E. Johnston, who have taken the amnesty oath in good faith and are doing all in their power to bring about a reconstruction of the Union on a permanent basis.

No, sir! the opponents of Mr. Holden are those old bomb-proof chaps who did so much to bring on the war, then bent all their energies to keep out of the army in the field, and now are striving might and main to prevent our restoration to civil government. These men must be defeated in their selfish and designing plots. The Union men of this State have borne with them until endurance has almost ceased to be a virtue, and have now determined, one and all, to give them to understand that their occupation is gone.

Holden, and our place once more in the Union, is the motto which will on the 9th day of November next bear us on to victory.

Prosperous.

There were in this port last evening four steamers bound for New York, and probably half a dozen sailing vessels. The steamer Euterpe sails this morning with every pound of freight she can possibly carry over the bar. The Commander follows her this evening similarly laden to her utmost capacity. The Fairbanks will sail as soon as she can fill up, and the Twilight, which arrived last evening, will probably get away on her regular sailing day, Saturday.

These steamers will hardly make an appreciable diminution in the freight now here waiting shipment north, while the railroads are bringing in cotton and naval stores much more rapidly than they can be taken away. Under this great rush of business, freights have advanced to nearly double the rates that have prevailed throughout the fall. Shippers beg the privilege of sending their cotton forward at one cent per pound, and their resin at seventy-five cents and a dollar per barrel.

This activity of business can but produce happy results. It speaks volumes for the recuperative power of the country, and will go very far to invite a healthy immigration to the State.—Wm. Herald.

Fenian Excitement in Canada—The Sanders Kidnapping Case.

New York, October 31.—The Herald's special Toronto correspondent says the ministerial organ of the 31st, L'Union Nationale, in speaking of the contemplated Fenian invasion, declares the Government is organizing an army of forty thousand men, to be stationed along the entire frontier of Quebec and Ontario, and to garrison all frontier towns. Depositors are withdrawing the funds from the banks and a panic prevails. The French cadets who left for Mexico have turned up on the other side of the lake, where they have unpacked kits and settled down.

The Sanders kidnapers have been committed to jail until the spring term. The jury were censured and discharged by the judge for not giving in a verdict of conviction, after being eight days locked up.

How the Issue looks Abroad.

The Boston Post, one of the most able, dignified and influential democratic journals in the country, in speaking of the approaching election in this State, says:—"Governor Holden, of North Carolina, is warmly supported for the office of Governor of that State by a decided majority. Mr. Jonathan Worth has been nominated against Mr. Holden, and, although a gentleman of ability, and said to be a union man, his chance of success is not deemed great. The Raleigh Progress says, "Every man who votes for Worth will vote to keep the State out and continue martial law and military rule in North Carolina." We think there is some exaggeration in this, but are confident that Governor Holden's election would be most beneficial to the interests of the State."

The Mysterious Cave Under the City of Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28, 1865.—Parties have for several days past been exploring the subterranean passages under the city.

Mr. A. Stewart descended one hundred and twenty-five feet from a cavern under Church street into a chasm below, and was drawn out almost suffocated by foul air.

Several relics were discovered, including fossils, bones, buttons, and stones resembling agate and marble. The grand chamber of the cave is forty feet high, thirty feet wide, and eighty long. Further explorations are to be made.

John Mitchel, Esq., arrived in Richmond, Tuesday evening. The Enquirer says:

"Mr. M. is looking somewhat thin, and is apparently much troubled by a hacking cough, but otherwise his health and spirits are good. He states that before leaving the Fort he was permitted to bid adieu to Mr. Jefferson Davis and Mr. C. C. Clay. These gentlemen are in comparatively good health, and bear up bravely under their ordeal. Mr. Davis is ever the same courteous and dignified gentleman he was always found to be, and he and Mr. Clay have exerted the admiration of all the officers and soldiers who come in contact with them. Mr. Clay has made every effort to secure a trial, even declaring his willingness to be brought before a Military Commission, rather than endure longer imprisonment with the hope of some future trial by jury.

"Mr. Mitchel will remain, for the present, with his family, at his residence on Fifth and Canal streets."

THE DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, SATURDAY, NOV. 4, 1865. NO. 302.

Fearful Hurricane at Key West—Twenty Vessels Wrecked in the Harbor.

The United States steamer Massachusetts, just arrived at Philadelphia, brings the following intelligence in regard to a severe gale on the Florida coast:

On Sunday, October 22, while lying at anchor in the harbor off Key West, a gale sprang up in the morning, which towards night increased to a fearful hurricane, blowing until Monday afternoon. Every vessel in the harbor went ashore, except the Massachusetts.

Daylight on Monday morning revealed a frightful scene of desolation. Twenty wrecks were visible from the Lookout at Key West. A large ship, name unknown, went ashore high and dry on the reef near Key West light, at 9 A. M. It was afterwards ascertained that she was within seven miles of Moro Castle, bound into Havana, when the cyclone struck her.

Portions of the roof of the Government Coal Depot, Marine Hospital, and many private buildings were carried away, and other damage to a large amount done at Key West, the inhabitants of which place say it was the heaviest storm they have had since the hurricane of 1835, when the Sand Key Lighthouse was carried away.

At 9 A. M., on Tuesday, the 24th, the Massachusetts put to sea, homeward bound, the sea still running mountains high. Wrecks were visible along the whole extent of the Florida reef.

October 25th—Afternoon—Lat. 30 50 N., lon. 79 22 W., rescued the officers and crew of the brig Stella, from Cardenas for Portland, with a cargo of molasses. Nothing standing but her mainmast. Abandoned the vessel a complete wreck, and in a sinking condition.

—Ex Gov. Neil S. Brown, of Tennessee, has been pardoned by the President.

—A man in New York has recovered $225 damages for the bite of a dog.

—There have recently been large restorations of confiscated property to citizens of Charleston.

—Mr. J. Ad. Rogier declines the nomination of the National Democratic Convention of the Second Congressional District of Louisiana.

—If it is true, as poets say, that brooks are the most joyous things in nature, why are they always murmuring?—L.

—Rooms have been engaged at the Ballard House, Richmond, for the Tunis embassy, who are expected to visit Virginia.

—General Sherman visited Lawrence, Kansas, on the 19th, and was received by nearly the entire population of the place.

—Gen. McClellan is expected in England. He will not remain long there, but will soon return to the United States.

—Dr. Cobell has been convicted in New York of producing an abortion, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

—Jackson Hanes, the American skater, is to appear this winter before the Emperor of Russia and other crowned heads of northern Europe.

—The friends of Senator Yulee, of Florida, have asked the President to release him from Fort Pulaski.

—The Jackson (Miss.) Notes announces the death of Colonel Greenwood Leflore, the last chief of the Choctaw Indians.

—Mr. John B. Tarr fell dead near Marlboro', Md., on Tuesday last, while walking from the village to his home.

—Dr. Patrick Henry Cabell, of Virginia, but for the last ten years a resident of Selma, Ala., died in Brooklyn, N. Y., a few days since.

—The delegates to the Alabama Convention have memorialized the President to order a speedy trial of Clement C. Clay, of their State.

—General T. Glover has been fined four hundred dollars for practicing law in St. Louis without taking the oath required by the new Constitution.

—The O'Connell monument at Ennis, county Clare, Ireland, was uncovered October 4th, with considerable ceremony.

—Henry W. Hilliard, a member of the late Confederate Congress, is about to publish a novel entitled "De Yane."

—D'Union Nationale states that Captain Bennett Young, leader of the St. Albans raiders, has obtained from Judge Wilson, in Toronto, a full acquittal.

—At a recent Baptist Convention in New Hampshire it was stated that there are to-day three thousand less Baptists in New Hampshire than there were twenty years ago.

—Six thousand milk skins, worth fifty thousand dollars, or more than their weight in silver, have just been brought into St. Paul by the Hudson Bay Company.

—Two men, while racing on horseback, in Nashville, on Sunday last, came in contact with a clothes-line, which catching one of them by the neck, killed him instantly.

—The bonds of the "Irish Republic" are "payable six months after the acknowledgment of the independence of the Irish nation," with interest at six per cent. from the time of issue.

—The first-class hotels in Boston, which reduced their price to four dollars per day a few months ago, have again increased it to four dollars and a half.

Sir Morton Peto, one of the English capitalists now in this country, is the President of the Baptist Missionary Society of Great Britain, and on Thursday delivered a brief address before the American Bible (Baptist) Union, New York.

—The passengers by the steamship North Star, which recently put into Norfolk, Va., leaking badly, have published a resolution declaring that the vessel was sent out in a totally unseaworthy condition.

—The fifteenth of November—first anniversary of the day on which Sherman began his march to the sea—will be celebrated in Chicago by a Union Convention of officers from the army which accompanied him. Gen. Jno. A. Logan is to pronounce an oration on the occasion.

—There were twenty thousand persons weighed on the scales at the Boston Mechanics' Fair. The average weight of men was 141½ pounds; average weight of women was 124½. The largest man weighed 298 pounds; the largest woman weighed 274½.

—J. B. Furniss, who was, a few years ago, attorney of Jefferson county, Kentucky, and a very accomplished lawyer, was arrested in Zanesville, Ohio, on Thursday, for stealing a pistol, which he, doubtless, intended to pawn for whisky.

THE CITY.

Persons in city and country are requested, at all times, to furnish us verbal or written information of any events of public interest which may transpire in their neighborhoods, or of which they may have knowledge.

A MISAPPREHENSION.—We hear that there exists among certain of the soldiers here an impression that they are not in good odour with the civil authorities, particularly the city police. In this idea we have every reason to suppose they are wrong. It comes to us from a source entirely reliable that the officers of the corporation make no discriminations between citizen or soldier in suppressing out-lawry. Their only basis of operation is that which springs from a desire to perform their duty impartially and with a view to the peace of the city. In fact, citizens appear to think they are not tolerated as freely as soldiers. We believe both parties are wrong. There is no reason why the police should desire the arrest of either class unless they insist, after admonition, in misbehaviour, or are detected in the commission of flagrant crimes. The prime object of law is the prevention, not the punishment of crime, and this we hope is the light in which our local officers move towards the performance of duties imposed by their position.

We are earnest in the desire to see the old order of family restored—a cordial friendship established not only between citizen and soldier, but equally with respect to North and South, until geographical distinctions are absorbed in unbroken harmony in the Union. Let us without technical distinctions labor for such a result.

A MISTAKE.—The Raleigh correspondent of the "Nation" newspaper, printed in New York, writing from here under date of October 16th, furnishes the following:

"No one man was the acknowledged master and leader of the convention, as might very likely have been the case had William A. Graham received his pardon, or had Mr. Badger been a delegate. The absence of Mr. Badger, who is now an inmate of the State lunatic asylum, was frequently mentioned with regret, and reference was repeatedly made to him as "that great light."

We copy the preceding paragraph merely to say that the correspondent errs in his statement as to the whereabouts and condition of Hon. George E. Badger. He is at his residence in this city and the "great light" is undimmed so far as intellect is concerned. The matter in a nutshell is, that Mr. B. is partially paralyzed. He occasionally, however, appears on our streets and is at all times free from any approach to insanity.

The paper in which the report we quote originally appeared, will of course repair the wrong unintentionally done Mr. Badger.

COUNTERFEIT NOTES.—A new counterfeit fifty dollar treasury note has been detected, and it is said a considerable amount has been taken by one of the government officials. It is pronounced by experts to be the best counterfeit yet issued and very difficult to detect. It can be known by the two following points: In genuine fifty words "fifty" and figures 50 on end of the note and surrounding note and forming the border of the circle in the center of the back, are octagonal. In the counterfeit they are nearly circular. In the genuine the large black letters, "United States," the black has straight lines and looks fair; in the counterfeit the black is picked and scratched, especially the "S" at the end of the latter word. In the genuine the lower half of "0" in 50 on the end, is a white line. In the counterfeit it is all covered with straight lines.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.—Two vehicles, approaching at a rapid rate on yesterday, came within an ace of running into each other by the recklessness of one of the drivers in not turning to the right. This is the law of the road, the sidewalk and the bridge. When you pass a pedestrian on the sidewalk or street crossing, keep to the right. When you cross a bridge, take the right hand. When you are driving a team on the public highway, turn to the right and give half the way. In the case of a light vehicle meeting a heavily loaded wagon, we know it is customary for the former to turn out and give the other the track, but this is mere courtesy, as the law requires each to turn to the right and give half of the beaten way. This simple rule will avoid much confusion and prevent many collisions. So, in driving or walking, keep to the right.

MORE PARDONS.—The pardon policy of the government is operating largely in behalf of restoring men to property, political rights, and we hope, cementing their devotion to the old flag. In spite of the clap-trap of enemies, Gov. Holden is laboring to enfranchise his fellow-citizens upon as liberal scale and principle as any provisional officer in the regenerating States. It was announced from the executive office, yesterday, that the following persons would be entitled to vote next Thursday: Chatham—John E. Nettles, Hastin P. Straughan, M. J. Ramsey, Robt N. Green, H. Henderson, Jos C. Hooker, Isaac T. Brooks. Granville—H. H. Rowland, Peterson Thorpe, Warren Overby, Benjamin F. Cheatham, Isaac H. Davis. Greene—Kinchen Corbat, S. W. Ormond.

GIPSIES.—Several families of these nomadic people are encamped, we understand, a short distance north of the city. They are living in tents of the shape of wagon covers, which are well filled with children and dogs. We have frequently read of the romantic life which these wandering people lead, but "can't see it" in the light of the encampment mentioned.

SIDEWALKS.—The sidewalk in front of this office is very much out of repair, so that when the rain descends a small pond of water accumulates much to the annoyance of sundry pedestrians, male and female. It ought to be repaired and will doubtless improve as soon as brick and sand can remedy the evil.

By-the-by, this is precisely the period of all others—before the cold weather sets in earnestly—for the people to look to the pavements in front of their dwellings as well as business places. If they long hesitate in doing the needful, the authorities who have the supervision of such matters will be apt to take it in hand.

BEWARE OF THE HORSE FLESH.—It is needful for persons in town and country to be careful how they trade horses—at least, swapping should never be indulged without the parties know each other. It seems that in cases which have been investigated the evidence was conclusive that the animals had not been stolen by the individuals who had them in hand. The real rogues capture horses, ride to some somewhat distant from the scene of theft, trade them to innocent parties, and their dupes not being able to identify or locate the real rascals, the blame and loss fall on the guiltless.

We make mention of these facts in order that as few victims may be made as possible.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—We ask attention to the advertisements of B. P. Williamson & Co.—Table ware and a variety of good things to fill it.

Bryan Brothers & Co.—Half Million Dollars Worth.

Maj. N. J. Frink, A. I. G.—He wants board in a private family. Capital officer—clever gentleman—good pay.

A GOOD THING.—A fellow on the train from Raleigh to Gaston, as we learn from the Petersburg Index, insulted a lady by some light remarks. When the train arrived at Weldon he was escorted aside by two gentlemen and most decently flogged. Served him right.

HACKMEN.—The Jehu population have occasion to be jubilant. The commissioner of internal revenue has decided that hereafter hackmen and cartmen will not be required to pay internal revenue taxes on the amount of their gross receipts.
