The Legislature.
The legislature is hard at work to-day finishing up the business before it, preparatory to a sine die adjournment on Monday morning. Many of the members will leave for their homes to-night and to-morrow, and by Monday night or Tuesday morning we suppose the last of them will be gone. We shall publish the stay law and other acts of general interest to the public as fast as we can get them.

The resolutions of Mr. Manly, of Craven, asking the President to grant a general amnesty to all the citizens in North Carolina who had participated in the war, was laid on the table this morning.

And the good-natured set of gentlemen that hold three sessions a day in the granite building in the centre of capitol square are to leave us on Monday. They have been here some time, they have done a good deal, and while they have not been able to please all, others might have done worse. They are a jolly set, personally, and we'll never be the man, personally, to fall out with law-makers because they do not agree with us politically.

There has evidently been a want of firmness of purpose and a want of organization and leaders but we must remember that everything was in rather a chaotic state when the body assembled: and we must remember that the labor of bringing order out of chaos is not so easy. We are willing to believe that every member of the Assembly has desired the good of his State and country, and that they have tried to do the best they could.

They go to their homes to render an account, and in August their successors will be elected, and if by that time the masses shall have conquered their prejudices sufficiently to send here only such men as will cheerfully submit to the condition of things, and zealously cooperate with the government in the work of restoration, we may hope for better results.

We devoutly trust the members may have a jolly good time in reaching their homes—may be prosperous and happy after they get there, and that their days may be long in the land. The holding of a seat in the legislature amounts to nothing—it is only a faithful discharge of duty as a representative that gives the occupant reputation.

SPEECH OF MR. GASH,
On the Bill to issue Six Per Cent. Bonds to meet the interest on the State debt past due, March 7, 1866.
MR. SPEAKER: I am very much in the situation of the senator from Wilson. I have given the subject much sleepless thought, and never until this morning have I been fully persuaded in my own mind how I ought to vote on this important subject; and even now, sir, I can scarcely say with certainty how I may vote on the final action of the bill. It may possibly depend on the retention of the amendment as now incorporated in the bill, and the impressions made on my mind in the further discussion of the bill.

It is well known here and at home that I am no reputationist, nor am I willing to support any measure that looks in the remotest degree to the reprobation of a lawful and honest debt. Yet, sir, I have been unable to decide fully in my own mind whether the passage or rejection of this bill will most likely lead to that most unfortunate result. When I listen to the arguments of its friends, both in and out of the senate, in their patriotic appeals to State pride and credit, I feel inclined to make any sacrifice of means to sustain the credit of the State. But, sir, when I retire to myself, and consult my own judgment in the matter with the facts and figures before me, I must confess that almost insurmountable difficulties and doubts loom up before me against the whole plan as now offered. It strikes me, sir, that the position taken last night by the senator from Mecklenburg, that the present revenue bill provides for, and fully meets the object aimed at in this amendment as being wholly untenable in law. This revenue bill does not repeal the old law exempting State bonds and the interest thereon from taxation, consequently the new bond-holder, under this law would claim, and rightly, too, that his new bonds were not taxable under the laws as they now stand. Therefore, I believe with the senator from Wilson, that we have the right to retain in our own hands the right to tax any new bonds that we may issue, or any corporation or charter that we may hereafter grant; and I hope, sir, that we will do it. All ready we are told that we are estopped from taxing certain railroads or the travel on them by charters heretofore granted. If that be so, I hope that this, nor no other legislature in North Carolina, will ever be able to consider that indispensable right again to any individual, company or corporation, except it be for religious or educational purposes. I do, therefore, hope, the motion to strike out will not prevail.

Then, sir, the question arises on the passage of the bill with or without the amendment. Will it revive State credit permanently, or will it not like whisky to a sick patient revive for the present only to sink it lower, soon as the superficial effects of the stimulant have passed away. Such, sir, are my silent forebodings. This is a large debt. If I remember the reading aright, it is about three millions five hundred and fourteen thousand dollars. The interest for twelve months would be $210,940, which falls due next January. Then we have made no provision in the revenue bill, (nor can we), to meet it. Then there is the whole of the old debt also on interest—some say eleven, while others say thirteen millions of dollars. Say eleven millions; take the lowest estimate and the interest on eleven millions would be six hundred and sixty thousand dollars, to say nothing of the interest on the new bonds which this bill proposes to issue which would be $12,650 40 more—making in the aggregate in interest alone of $672,640 40 to be met next January by a similar bill to this. Can any man see what such a policy must inevitably lead us to? And once the precedent be established, when and how are we to get rid of it? The people are not able to meet by taxation, and future legislators will shrink from the responsibility of leaving the taxes, as we are now doing, and for the same reason: that the debt is too large for the means available to pay with. And that new bonds may still be issued compounding the interest until the debt gets so large that the stoutest of us may despair of ever being able to catch up with it. Sir, I must confess these are my fears. I therefore dread the experiment, and have hesitated how I ought to vote; and even now have my doubts. But, sir, when I remember that we have just passed the stay law through this house, not only withholding compound interest between citizens, but stopping the collection of the principle for years, ought we, as we now propose to do, tax these very debts that cannot be collected to pay compound interest on the debts of the State, and at the same time surrender to the bondholders the right to these bonds as other interest-bearing notes held by individuals. Sir, I think not. If we strike out this amendment as now proposed, we forever surrender the right to tax them, no matter what our necessity or disposition may hereafter be to tax them or not. I hope, sir, the proposition to strike out will not prevail.

STATE ITEMS.
The Charlotte Times of yesterday says that Governor Vance is in that town, and that there is a rumor that he thinks of settling there.
The people of Wilmington on Thursday voted their town a city and A. H. Van Bokelin was elected Mayor. All hail, Wilmington city!
Maj. McKnight has signified his intention to deliver his lecture on "Babies" in Wilmington.
CARTERET.—At the first term of the county court of Carteret, recently held, John M. Perry, Esq., was elected county attorney. Rev. John Rumley was elected register. James Rumley, Esq., qualified as county clerk, and J. Henry Davis, Jr., as sheriff.

WHAT DOES HE MEAN.—The Greensboro Patriot says:—"We learn that the firm of Battle, Heck & Co., of Raleigh, has been dissolved by mutual consent, and we suppose is to be succeeded by the "Real Estate Bank of North Carolina," which institution will, doubtless, be more successful in transferring the lands of dejected Southerners to "Northern capitalists."

NEGRO HORSE THIEVES.—The Newbern Times says: A negro, claiming to hail from Greenville, Pitt county, rode a handsome young horse into the Trent settlement, a few days ago, and proposed to sell it. Mr. Fitz, Superintendent of Freedmen, suspecting his honesty, asked him several questions relative to his ownership, and very soon became convinced that the horse had been stolen from some one, so he took charge of the horse and put the rider in jail. Yesterday morning when the guard entered the jail to give the inmates their breakfast, this horse thief cocked a pistol at the guard, which some of his friends had managed to get into prison to him, and under the excitement of the moment sprang out at the door, and notwithstanding the guard fired upon him several times in his flight, which was with the fleetness of a wild buck, and pursued him three miles, he finally made his escape.

Mr. Fitz also informs us that a week or two since, a negro man rode into his camp and offered to sell his horse to some of his guard. The guard did not need the horse, and intimated to him that he was held as a suspicious character and his case would be reported to headquarters, whereupon the rider took flight, leaped from his horse and took leg bail on the regular 240 schedule. The horse was taken in custody and in three hours afterwards, the rightful owner from Lenoir county, who had been pursuing the thief all night, came up, proved property, and took the horse.

GENERAL NEWS.
—Gen. W. W. Wood, formerly of the rebel army, is lecturing throughout Mississippi, on the subject of emigration to Brazil. Maj. Hastings, who started from Mobile in December last, with a colony of emigrants, and was shipwrecked off Cuba, is not to be discouraged. He set sail on the 1st inst. from Mobile with another company in the steamer Margaret.
—Brevet Col. J. B. Sinclair, of the Fourth Regiment of U. S. Infantry, who was wounded seven times in the late war, is now with his regiment at Fort Vancouver, Washington Territory, where it is expected there will be some very busy times with the Indians.

—A private letter dated at Huntsville, Walker County, Texas, Feb. 18, says: "The men in our county are doing astonishingly well, and the prospect bids fair for a heavy cotton crop this year, as there are great deep heavier crops planted here than has ever been since our State has been a State."
—Complaints comes from Mississippi concerning the operation of the statute laws relating to the apprenticing of colored children. Colored people who are fully able to support their children may have them seized at the request of any white person and bound out, by the Probate Courts to white masters, for a small rate of compensation, until they arrive at the age of 21 years.

—On the 1st inst., Mr. Ransom, a landholder in Marshall county, Tennessee, was attacked by a party of rebel guerrillas, to whom he had made himself obnoxious by renting portions of his land to negroes. The guerrillas, thirty in number and armed, succeeded in driving the negroes off the place and taking possession. Col. Shafter, commanding at Nashville, on being notified of the proceeding immediately dispatched a company of troops to the aid of Mr. Ransom.
The Texas state constitution continues its sessions. Resolutions involving a repudiation of all the public debts contracted by reason or on account of the rebellion, were being considered at latest advices.

—The British ship Orient experienced the shock of an earthquake in mid-ocean, while on her passage from Australia to London November 17.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Persons who have business to transact with the PROGRESS OFFICE will find us in the same building on Fayetteville street. Pass through the store to the back room and some one will be found to attend to all business connected with the paper.

AN HOUR EARLIER.—As soon as the legislature adjourns we shall put the PROGRESS to press an hour earlier than at present, thus enabling the carriers to serve city subscribers before sunset. At present we have to wait for our legislative reports.

RECEIVED.—Brevet Major G. C. Winslow, depot and post quartermaster here, has been relieved from duty on account of family affliction and will soon leave for home. He has proved to be a capital officer and will take with him to his native land the kind wishes of a host of friends.

THE CONCERT—ANOTHER SUCCESS.—Mme. Pozzoni and her associate artists must derive a vast deal of satisfaction from the character of the audiences each of their concerts in this city have attracted. Nor should the manager, Mr. J. H. Rogers, feel less sensibly the compliment conveyed to him by concert-goers in their patronage of his efforts, for despite the forbidding temperature another full house welcomed the troupe last night.

The selections were from operas of the first repute, with here and there in the programme ballads of the most popular authors set to music by approved composers. As the successive pieces were produced, they were received with the most hearty approbation. In some points, at least to our thinking, the concertists were in rather better voice than on the preceding evening. At all events, ladies who were present—amateurs of no mean capacity or cultivation—express to us their high estimate of these musical festivals and regard them as meriting encouragement.

The arrangements of Mr. Rogers elsewhere make it certain that the concert to-night will be the last in our city. We bespeak for them a crowded house in demonstration of the fact that our people can appreciate and will sustain entertainments of a worthy stamp. The programme is of the most inviting character.

THE MARKET.—There was an apparent improvement in the domestic market this morning with respect to quantity and quality, but not so as to prices. We quote:
Eggs, per dozen... 40 cents
Butter... 20 "
Beef, per lb, by the quarter... 10 "
Pork, per lb... 15 "
Chicken... 50 "
Flour per bbl... $13.50
Fodder, cwt... $2.00
Potatoes, (sweet) per bushel... 1.25

THE DIXIE PRIMER.—Messrs. Branson & Farrar have sent us a copy of this primer, one of their own publications, well printed and bound, and admirably arranged as well as illustrated for the juveniles. We see that the present is the fourth edition—pretty clear testimony as to the popularity of the series. M. B. Moore is the compiler.

A SMALL MISTAKE—THE LAST FIGHT ON "VINEGAR."—It appears on further inquiry that the row at the dance house on Vinegar hill, last Thursday night, was more serious than at first reported. We were mistaken in saying, yesterday, that John Doran, a colored barber, had been knifed during the progress of the disturbance; it was Doran who, with a sword cane, stabbed another darky, named John Johnson, in eight different places. Five of the wounds are on the body and one on the face, frightful gashes all. We understand the attending physician entertains fears that the injuries will prove fatal.

Since the occurrence the police have been on the look-out for Doran, but up to this time he has not been secured. If caught, even should his victim survive, the screws will probably be applied to him without stint.

LOUGE BROTHERS.—We wish to say to such of our readers as may wish to purchase stoves for parlor, chamber or kitchen, tin-war or any other article in that line, that they may find them in any variety at the store of the Louge Brothers, on the west side of Fayetteville street. This is one of the oldest business houses in our city and has withstood the shock of every financial crisis occurring during the last forty years. This fact speaks volumes for its character and the principles by which its transactions are governed.

DRINKERS—or in other words, persons of a bibacious turn, may consult the proclamation of Mr. E. E. Harris. No doubt he can do all he promises.

PROMPT ACTION.—We had only time, yesterday afternoon, to state the origin and successful extinguishment of the fire which broke out in the upper part of the house occupied by Mr. J. B. Franklin. Since then we have been advised that to Mr. J. F. Edwards, a young man of our city, chiefly belongs the credit of preventing a very destructive conflagration. In a few moments after the alarm was sounded, he appeared on the roof and by energetic, well directed effort, put out the destroying element. He deserves praise for this action.

ALL QUIET.—The watch report the city quiet last night—not an offender was caged.

THE CIRCUS will reach here early Monday morning. Look out for fun.

Coin Restored to Richmond Banks.

The following appears in the Northern paper corresponding of the Northern papers:
At the time of the evacuation of Richmond the banking establishments of that city continued to send away the amount of coin belonging to the different institutions to a point further South, for the purpose of securing it. The amount originally reached the sum of $350,000, of which 150,000 were lost by plunder, and the remainder placed on deposit at Washington, Ga., in charge of a special agent, of the Richmond banks, who owing to the unsettled condition of affairs, was unable to get back to Richmond, and was therefore compelled to remain there for some time. While this coin was at Washington, Ga., claim was made to it by Gen. Weld of the Freedmen's Bureau, on the ground that it was captured property, and an investigation of the case by General Winslow resulted in giving the right of possession to the agents of the banks. Afterwards about the 20th of April last, an order was received by General Steedman, then commanding the department, to hand over the captured coin on deposit to a treasury agent. This was done, and the coin was sent to this city, where it was placed on special deposit with the treasurer of the United States.

Claim is now made on behalf of the Richmond banks for the restoration of this money, and it is alleged that the order of the President was made without full information of the facts of the case.
After a full and careful examination by the Treasury Department the matter has been referred to the President, who has ordered that the coin be restored, provided that the identity between the amount now on deposit in the treasury and that claimed by the banks can be established, and a compliance made with certain formal conditions required by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Gen. Devens has been appointed to succeed Gen. Bennett in command at Charleston, S. C. Among the orders he has issued is one revoking the order previously issued for the closing up of the city bar-rooms. The revocation however is conditional.

—Madame Murat, of Tallahassee, Florida, widow of the late Col. Archibald Murat, and first cousin to the Emperor of France, has received as a gift from Louis Napoleon a life annuity of 50,000 francs, in consideration of her losses by the results of the war.

—The news from Mexico confirms the report of the death of Gen. Pedro Mendez, of the Imperialist army. The Mexicans show much bravery in their conflict with the French force but the correspondent of the New-Orleans Crescent says that they are gradually being driven from their positions, and that the Empire gains in stability from day to day. One thousand additional troops had left Vera Cruz for Bagdad. Gen Wright's administration of affairs at Brownsville and vicinity is highly commended. The results of the investigation into the Bagdad raid are not yet made public.

The wheat crop in Ohio is said to be exceedingly unpromising.
—Mr. G. H. Hammond, a teacher of the freedmen in Virginia, is reported to have been assaulted by armed ruffians, ducked several times in the Shenandoah, and threatened with death unless he left the place within three days. He was sent out by the American Missionary Association of New York.

—Hon. T. L. Clingman of this State, is in New York.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Congressional.
WASHINGTON, March 9.—The bill securing civil rights to all persons, without regard to color, in the several States, was discussed in the house and referred to the judiciary committee. Many republicans doubt their constitutional power to pass the bill in its present shape, believing that it invades to too great an extent the rights of the States.
In the senate, the constitutional amendment apportioning representation among the States, was discussed.
Mr. Henderson, of Mo., offered a substitute that no state, in prescribing qualifications for voters, shall discriminate on account of color or race, and said that his own state, Missouri, would yield negro suffrage, and that the south would be compelled to do the same in five years.

The substitute was disagreed to and the original resolution was then rejected by a vote of 25 to 22. Sumner and other radicals voted against it.

Markets.
NEW YORK, March 9.—Cotton dull; declined 1/2 cent; sales of 1,000 bales at 40 1/2 cts. Gold $1.30 1/2.

Fenian Excitement in Canada.
TORONTO, March 10.—The excitement is intense throughout Canada, and large reinforcements are coming from England to meet the threatened Fenian raids. English gunboats have been ordered to the fishing grounds in view of the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty.

OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETEXTS.—Vending tupperry imitations of Lubin's extracts as genuine. The game is about played out, however, for the universal popularity of Pealton's "Night-Blooming Cereus" has literally taken the wind out of the sails of the tricksters who pretend to sell articles that cannot now be imported except at a dear loss.—Canadian Democrat.
