

THE STAR,

And North-Carolina State Gazette.

No. 18.

RALEIGH, (N. C.) FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1819.

Vol. XI.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY,
BY THOMAS HEADRISON, jr.
SUBSCRIPTION, THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM—NO PAPER WILL BE SENT WITHOUT AT LEAST $1 50 CENTS IN PAID IN ADVANCE, AND NO PAPER DISCONTINUED, UNLESS AT THE OPTION OF THE EDITOR, UNLESS ALL ARREARS ARE PAID—ADVERTISEMENTS NOT EXCEEDING TWELVE LINES INSERTED THREE TIMES FOR ONE DOLLAR, AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR EACH CONTINUANCE.

Ross & Parsley,
HAVE FOR SALE 2400 pounds Bar Lead. Any person that will purchase the whole, can have it at eight dollars per cwt.—9 dollars for any quantity not less than 100—& 12 1/2 cents per pound. They have just received 10 kegs London White Lead, and five boxes Bristol Window Glass 8 by 10. Five boxes Putty, 1 bag Almonds—and have on hand a variety of Groceries, Dry Goods, Hardware, Cutlery, Nails, Shoes, &c. which they will sell cheap for cash, as that article is very much wanted.
Those indebted to Ross and Parsley, are requested to make speedy payment.
April 8, 1819. 15-4

SIR HAL,
WILL STAND this season, at my stable, at Machpelah, in the county of Transylvania, North-Carolina, 5 miles North of Williamsborough, and 14 miles South of Middleburg Court-House, and will be let to mares at the modest price of twenty dollars the season, if paid before it expires, or twenty-five dollars, payable the 25th of December next, with one dollar to the groom in every instance, payable when the mares are put. My pastures are large and well enclosed, and mares can be fed if required, and every attention paid them, but no liability for escapes or accidents. The season to commence the 1st of March and end the 1st of August. Should any gentleman prefer to put by the lease of insurance he can do so by writing to that effect, on proportionable terms with the season.
SIR HAL is 10 years old this Spring, the handsomest, most elegant mover, best formed and substantial horse, ever on the American turf—fifteen hands high, a fine dark brown, with black legs, mane and tail. Perhaps there never appeared on the turf a horse so generally admired. Read his performance—see if they have ever been equalled—and then examine the records of the different Jockey Clubs, and see if they are not correctly stated.
PONDIGEE.—He was got by the celebrated imported horse Sir Harry (who was got by Sir Peter Lezlie) his dam by the imported horse Astrucum (by Eclipse) his granddam by the imported horse Medley, (by Jimcock) his great granddam by Youg Aristote, who was by the imported horse Aristote.
PERFORMANCES.—The fall he was 3 years old, he ran a match race with Mr. Douglas's Francis, 2 mile heats, which he won very easy, in 3 m. 56 s. Spring he was 4 years old, he won a Cup at Fairfield, 2 mile heats, beating Mr. Hoopes's Mainstay, Mr. Wills's rig thomed, Mr. Totty's Fort Seven, and two others, without being put up. Fall he was four years old, he won the jockey club purse at Warrenton, 3 mile heats, beating Mr. Davis's Little Billy, and several others, with great ease. Same fall he went to Broad rock, entered for the Proprietor's Purse, 3 mile heats, and nothing would enter against him. Same fall, he went to Fairfield, and started for the jockey club purse, 4 mile heats, against Mr. Wyn's Cup Bearer, and four others, which race he lost, after winning the first heat in 7 1/2, and losing the second a few feet—he was taken with the tramp in an injured leg, and was with great difficulty got to the stable. Spring he was five years old, he was not trained, by way of recovery to his injured leg. Fall he was five, he won the jockey club purse at Warrenton, 2 mile heats, without being ever up, beating Mr. Drummond's Florizel, and some others. Same fall, he won the jockey club purse, 4 mile heats, at Broad rock, beating and breaking down, at one heat, Mr. Wyn's Cup Bearer, in 7 1/2. Same fall, he won the Proprietor's purse at Belkfield, very easy, beating Mr. Drummond's horse by Potomac, Mr. Wyn's mare by Bedford, Sir Coo's mare by Sir Harry, and three others. Spring he was six years old, he won the index purse at Fairfield, mile heats, beat three in five, beating very easy, Mr. King's Walk-in-the-Water, Mr. Watson's Sauson, Mr. Flournoy's scorer mare, and three others. Same spring he won the Proprietor's purse at New Market, three mile heats, very easy in five fifty-two, beating Mr. Worsam's mare by Jack Andrews, Mr. Minge's Black Eyed Susan by Sir Archy, and several others. Fall he was six years old, he won the Proprietor's purse at Warrenton, two mile heats, beating Mr. Forrester's mare by Sir Archy, and Mr. Tippy's mare by Sir Harry. Same fall he won the jockey club purse at New Market four mile heats, running both heats under eight minutes, and the second heat in seven minutes fifty-six seconds, 2 quicker than any heat ever run over that course, beating Mr. Worsam's mare by Jack Andrews, Mr. Jones's mare by Forizel, Mr. Forrester's Director by Sir Archy, Mr. Minge's brown mare by Sir Archy, and several others. Same fall he won the jockey club purse at Belkfield, three mile heats, without being put up, beating Mr. Wyn's young favorite and Mr. Tippy's horse. Spring he was seven years old, he made a season at Mr. Wyn's in the county of Sussex, where he was put to fifty mares. Fall following he was trained and carried to Maryland, where he runs races, one at Marlborough, four mile heats, seven starts in five, which race he won very easy, running both heats under eight minutes. The next week he ran at Washington city, beating very easy, three mile heats, Doctor Gowen's Romo, C. S. Kidley's Penelope, Mr. Tughe's Diana, and Governor Ridgely's Cuckoo, first heat five fifty-nine, second heat five forty-three.
WILLIAM HUNT.
March 1st, 1819. 12-

Entered,
ON the Stray-Book of Orange county, by Frederick Nicholson, on Calk Creek, west of Haw River, a sorrel mare, seven years old, some grey hairs in her fore-top, no brand, 4 feet 9 inches high, shod all round, two curls in her eye—valued at $120.
ALSO.
BY Henry Holt, near Huffman's Mill Haw River, a sorrel foal about 5 feet high, some white in her forehead, shod all round, her left eye out, she is old—valued at $10.
ALSO.
BY James Barnwell, near Cross-Road Meeting-House, a sorrel mare, some white in her right flank, 4 years old, near 5 feet high, shod before, some white in the root of her tail—valued at $50.
BARNABAS O'FARRIL, Ranger.
Hillsborough April 15, 1819. 17-20pd

State of North-Carolina,
Columbus County.
Court of Equity Fall Term, 1819.
James B. White, vs. Uriah Flowers.—Original Bill.
IT appearing to the court, that the Defendant resides in another State, it is ordered that publication be made six weeks successively, in the Raleigh Star, that said defendant appear at the next term of this court, which will be on the second Monday after the fourth Monday in September next, and plead, answer or demur to the bill, filed in this case, or the said bill will be taken pro confesso and heard ex parte.
Test, A. BRYAN, C. M. P.
of the County of Columbus
Columbus County, N. C. 17-6t

State of North-Carolina,
Orange County.
Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, February Term, 1819.
George McCulley, Ex'rs &c. vs. Henry Bracken.—Original attachment levied on land.
IT appearing to the satisfaction of the court that Henry Bracken, the defendant in this suit, resides beyond the limits of this State, or so absconds or conceals himself, that the ordinary process of the law cannot be served upon him—therefore ordered that publication be made in the Raleigh Star for three months successively, ordering the said Henry Bracken to appear at our next county court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions to be held for the county of Orange, at the court-house in Hillsborough, on the fourth Monday in May next, and then and there to replevy and plead to issue, or that judgment final will be entered against him, and the land levied on ordered to be sold.
17-3m Test, J. TAYLOR, C. C.

State of North-Carolina,
Mecklenburg County.
February Term 1819.
Henry and Charles Mason, vs. Elizabeth, Winfield and Richard Mason.—Petition for distributive of shares in the real estate of Richard Mason, deceased.
IT appears to the satisfaction of court, that some of the defendants live without the State—it is therefore ordered that publication be made for three weeks in the State Gazette, that unless the defendants appear at our next court, to be held for the county aforesaid, at the court-house in Charlotte, on the fourth Monday in May next, and then and there plead, answer or demur, otherwise judgment will be entered ex pro confesso.
A copy, test, ISAAC ALEXANDER, C. M. E.
Mecklenburg Co. N. C. 17-3t-pd

Strayed,
FROM the subscriber on Sunday the 18th instant, a sorrel horse about five feet high, with a white streak in his face. He had on a bell when he started; but this he may lose. He was raised in Tennessee and will no doubt make his way thither.—A liberal reward will be given and all reasonable expenses paid to any person who will return him or stop him, and give me such information that I get him again.
JOSIAH CRUDUP.
Wake County, Little River April 19, 1819. 17-5w.

Land for sale.
BETWEEN five and six hundred acres of valuable land lying situate on the waters of Brown Creek, about four or five miles west of Wadesborough in Anson County, will be sold on easy terms to the purchaser if immediate application is made to the subscriber or William Carr of Anson. The soil is well adapted to the culture of cotton, corn, tobacco and wheat. There are about forty acres of cleared land, some out houses contiguous to which is a spring equal to any in the county of Anson.
CHARLES C. COPPEIDGE.
April 12, 1819. 17-6w.

TAKEN UP,
BY Gottlieb Geimes, on the waters of Hamby's creek, six miles East of Lexington, a sorrel mare with a soap and blaze in her face, pad saddle mark on her back, dun brand under her main something like the letter U, 6 years old, 5 ft. high and shod before—appraised at $75.
17-2w-pd S. DUSENBERRY, Ranger.

Entered,
ON the Stray-Book, on the 30th day of March, 1819, by Thomas Wiggs, one chestnut sorrel mare, 3 feet ten inches high, short tail but square off, some white spots on her neck, a small wit in her face, one small white spot on the root of her tail, a scar on her left arm, appears as if she has been snugged, is much shaved on the sides and thighs with gear, supposed to be about 11 years old. Said Wiggs lives in Wayne County, about 10 miles from Wadesborough, on the road that goes to Raleigh.
17-2w-pd URIAH LANGSTON.

Domestic Economy.
From the National Advocate.
We learn much from books, but more from nature; and I would sooner study characters in a hut in a palace, in a parlour, or a farm-yard, than to mislead my fancy, bias my judgment, and cramp my understanding, by fictitious representations of human nature, or highly coloured pictures of rural economy and domestic happiness. Observation—personal observation does more in an hour, than reading can do in a month.
I called about 11 o'clock, a few mornings since to see an old friend—and, with an old friend, ceremony as to hours, is unnecessary. I found the breakfast table still in the middle of the floor, covered with crusts of bread and remnants of a previous meal—the young ladies had not yet left their pillows, having been up late the preceding night at a ball.—In a few minutes they entered, dressed ennegée, their hair in papers or papillots; and their eyes shodding dim lustre; their wrappers not of pure Castalian whiteness, and their kid slippers curved at the heels—they looked like roses beat down by a heavy shower, when the leaves are battered or bent with rain. They dropped a half reluctant courtesy, and then slid to a chair—sipped a cup of cloudy coffee and cold toast—talked of Mrs. Jasmine's pretty head dress, the cut of Bobby Pendragon's new coat, Mr. Phillip's "Soldiers Bride," and then inquired with a languishing drawl whether there was a "Croaker," in last Evening's Post. Now thinks I—How comes it that the father of these young ladies, who is well enough to live as the saying is should not take more interest in his domestic affairs; should not breakfast at a given hour, close his doors at a stated period, compel his children to dress, and to participate in amusements with system, and in a rational manner.—Young ladies do not think it proper that their fathers should govern their toilet, regulate their dress, and manage their time—but, it is his duty to do it, if the mother neglects it—nay, no family can go on prosperously or happily, where the head of it thinks it beneath his dignity or duty, to take a becoming interest in the concerns of his family. The entrance of a maid, with a brush and a bucket, announced that my absence was desirable, and I retired.
As I have nothing to do but live at my ease, visit my friends, and advise them what may be wholesome for their government, I made another morning's call, and entered the parlour where three young ladies were seated.—Here indeed, the aspect of things was changed and pleasing—each of them in morning dresses—white as the snow on the mountains—their hair waving in its glossy and luxuriant curls, and their lips and cheeks, of the vermilion hue; bespoke health and contentment. One of them had a neat work table near her, and was assiduously employed in darning cotton stockings; the other was intent hemming a ruff; and the third was attentively practising a sonata on the piano forte. The parlour was a type of cleanliness—the mahogany was bright, the brasses shone, the fire was cheerful, the conversation gay and innocent. This was a very pleasant sight—and had I been a young man, looking out for a wife, I certainly should have been tempted to make my election at that time.

Domestic Economy.
It then occurred to me that young ladies generally should be active, industrious, neat and cheerful, if not from principle, then from policy. How can they expect to make good wives or good mothers without activity, economy and industry? Young men beginning life, seek for a partner among the most respectable and happy qualities they unite a clear head and good heart, why prosperity follows, as sure as the sun follows a cloudy day. Ladies may think that the name of a good house keeper may sound unfashionable to the ear, but if they are not so, it will be severely felt by the pocket. Instead of making pastry, brewing gooseberry wine, preserving fruits and tying up bundles of thyme, rosemary and sweet majoram, they should wholly neglect those useful duties, the economy of a house will be sadly deranged indeed, and the young husband, who fondly hopes that fortune has blessed him with a careful and assiduous companion, will find his prospects obscured and domestic troubles will pave the way for a decay of mercantile or professional prosperity.
Old school boys, like myself, have many excellent opportunities of looking into causes and effects—domestic peace and domestic prosperity—and I have seen and ascertained to my satisfaction, how much a well organized family, may contribute to the welfare, temper and happiness of a man of business.—I have seen a merchant worried to distraction, to raise money to meet his engagements—harrassed by creditors and usurers—worn out with anxiety and fatigue, return to his house after bank hours, and finding no table spread, no fire made, no cheerful voice to welcome him; gloomy, irascible and petulant, he has gone to some tavern, ate his dinner alone, mixed subsequently with company, drank fully to drown sorrow and bury reflection, and plunged into extravagance, play, and finally ruin. Reverse the picture, and I have seen a man equally harrassed worried and fatigued, go home to dine; his table neatly and cleanly spread, his wife pleasant and affectionate, his children interesting, and his fare well cooked, seasoned with health, contentment and good humor—he has forgotten his cares—given his troubles to the wind—enjoyed the present, and returned to his pursuits, with new energies and perseverance.
Thus it will be seen, that the influence of a good wife when properly exercised, tends eminently to smooth the brow of care, and to aid in advancing the interest and promoting the happiness of her husband and children.
HOWARD.

MISCELLANEOUS
FROM THE QUEBEC GAZETTE.
An extraordinary cure for the Lock Jaw.
Mr. NELSON.—The interest of suffering humanity tending at all times to excite public attention, I send you the following case, which even the gentlemen of the faculty will not peruse with indifference, and which the generosity of my two under mentioned brother doctors engages me to make public. It is well known with how little success the medical art has struggled with that terrible disorder, known by the name of Tetanus (Opisthotonos) especially when caused by a wound.
On the 15th of December last, Mary Saint Gelais, 19 years old, a servant of Mr. Saul, fell on the glazed frost, and lacerated the integuments of her right knee, but the wound not appearing dangerous, she continued her usual occupations; eighteen days after, although the wound appeared perfectly healed, she began to complain of stiffness in the back of her neck, & a certain difficulty in moving her jaw; accompanied with a pain in her knee, which the curing of the wound had not been able to dispel. The pain having increased in an alarming manner during the day, the patient was carried in the evening to Dr. Blanchet, who prescribed something for the night. Dr. Island being called in at Mr. Saul's desire, declared that the Tetanuse was then cured. During three

THOMAS COBBS,

COACH-MAKER, RALEIGH, N. C.
HAS employed from the City's of New Ark, New Jersey, & New York, a number of first rate work-men, of the several branches of his business—viz: Body-Making, Carriage-making, Trimming, painting Smith's, &c. who have been carefully selected by his friend in New Jersey. He has also received from the Cities of New York and Philadelphia, a large & extensive Stock of the best and most fashionable materials.
He is grateful for the very liberal encouragement he has already received, & hopes from his assiduity & attention to his business, to merit a continuance of their favours. Carriages of any description, or price, can be had at a short notice.
Orders from any part of the Continent are solicited.
Reference for excellence and elegance of his work, and the character of the artizan, is made to his numerous acquaintances in this and the neighboring States.
Raleigh, February 17, 1819. 8-cow-f

Entered,
ON the Stray-Book of Orange county, by Frederick Nicholson, on Calk Creek, west of Haw River, a sorrel mare, seven years old, some grey hairs in her fore-top, no brand, 4 feet 9 inches high, shod all round, two curls in her eye—valued at $120.
ALSO.
BY Henry Holt, near Huffman's Mill Haw River, a sorrel foal about 5 feet high, some white in her forehead, shod all round, her left eye out, she is old—valued at $10.
ALSO.
BY James Barnwell, near Cross-Road Meeting-House, a sorrel mare, some white in her right flank, 4 years old, near 5 feet high, shod before, some white in the root of her tail—valued at $50.
BARNABAS O'FARRIL, Ranger.
Hillsborough April 15, 1819. 17-20pd

State of North-Carolina,
Columbus County.
Court of Equity Fall Term, 1819.
James B. White, vs. Uriah Flowers.—Original Bill.
IT appearing to the court, that the Defendant resides in another State, it is ordered that publication be made six weeks successively, in the Raleigh Star, that said defendant appear at the next term of this court, which will be on the second Monday after the fourth Monday in September next, and plead, answer or demur to the bill, filed in this case, or the said bill will be taken pro confesso and heard ex parte.
Test, A. BRYAN, C. M. P.
of the County of Columbus
Columbus County, N. C. 17-6t

State of North-Carolina,
Orange County.
Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, February Term, 1819.
George McCulley, Ex'rs &c. vs. Henry Bracken.—Original attachment levied on land.
IT appearing to the satisfaction of the court that Henry Bracken, the defendant in this suit, resides beyond the limits of this State, or so absconds or conceals himself, that the ordinary process of the law cannot be served upon him—therefore ordered that publication be made in the Raleigh Star for three months successively, ordering the said Henry Bracken to appear at our next county court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions to be held for the county of Orange, at the court-house in Hillsborough, on the fourth Monday in May next, and then and there to replevy and plead to issue, or that judgment final will be entered against him, and the land levied on ordered to be sold.
17-3m Test, J. TAYLOR, C. C.

State of North-Carolina,
Mecklenburg County.
February Term 1819.
Henry and Charles Mason, vs. Elizabeth, Winfield and Richard Mason.—Petition for distributive of shares in the real estate of Richard Mason, deceased.
IT appears to the satisfaction of court, that some of the defendants live without the State—it is therefore ordered that publication be made for three weeks in the State Gazette, that unless the defendants appear at our next court, to be held for the county aforesaid, at the court-house in Charlotte, on the fourth Monday in May next, and then and there plead, answer or demur, otherwise judgment will be entered ex pro confesso.
A copy, test, ISAAC ALEXANDER, C. M. E.
Mecklenburg Co. N. C. 17-3t-pd

Strayed,
FROM the subscriber on Sunday the 18th instant, a sorrel horse about five feet high, with a white streak in his face. He had on a bell when he started; but this he may lose. He was raised in Tennessee and will no doubt make his way thither.—A liberal reward will be given and all reasonable expenses paid to any person who will return him or stop him, and give me such information that I get him again.
JOSIAH CRUDUP.
Wake County, Little River April 19, 1819. 17-5w.

Land for sale.
BETWEEN five and six hundred acres of valuable land lying situate on the waters of Brown Creek, about four or five miles west of Wadesborough in Anson County, will be sold on easy terms to the purchaser if immediate application is made to the subscriber or William Carr of Anson. The soil is well adapted to the culture of cotton, corn, tobacco and wheat. There are about forty acres of cleared land, some out houses contiguous to which is a spring equal to any in the county of Anson.
CHARLES C. COPPEIDGE.
April 12, 1819. 17-6w.

TAKEN UP,
BY Gottlieb Geimes, on the waters of Hamby's creek, six miles East of Lexington, a sorrel mare with a soap and blaze in her face, pad saddle mark on her back, dun brand under her main something like the letter U, 6 years old, 5 ft. high and shod before—appraised at $75.
17-2w-pd S. DUSENBERRY, Ranger.

Entered,
ON the Stray-Book, on the 30th day of March, 1819, by Thomas Wiggs, one chestnut sorrel mare, 3 feet ten inches high, short tail but square off, some white spots on her neck, a small wit in her face, one small white spot on the root of her tail, a scar on her left arm, appears as if she has been snugged, is much shaved on the sides and thighs with gear, supposed to be about 11 years old. Said Wiggs lives in Wayne County, about 10 miles from Wadesborough, on the road that goes to Raleigh.
17-2w-pd URIAH LANGSTON.

Domestic Economy.
From the National Advocate.
We learn much from books, but more from nature; and I would sooner study characters in a hut in a palace, in a parlour, or a farm-yard, than to mislead my fancy, bias my judgment, and cramp my understanding, by fictitious representations of human nature, or highly coloured pictures of rural economy and domestic happiness. Observation—personal observation does more in an hour, than reading can do in a month.
I called about 11 o'clock, a few mornings since to see an old friend—and, with an old friend, ceremony as to hours, is unnecessary. I found the breakfast table still in the middle of the floor, covered with crusts of bread and remnants of a previous meal—the young ladies had not yet left their pillows, having been up late the preceding night at a ball.—In a few minutes they entered, dressed ennegée, their hair in papers or papillots; and their eyes shodding dim lustre; their wrappers not of pure Castalian whiteness, and their kid slippers curved at the heels—they looked like roses beat down by a heavy shower, when the leaves are battered or bent with rain. They dropped a half reluctant courtesy, and then slid to a chair—sipped a cup of cloudy coffee and cold toast—talked of Mrs. Jasmine's pretty head dress, the cut of Bobby Pendragon's new coat, Mr. Phillip's "Soldiers Bride," and then inquired with a languishing drawl whether there was a "Croaker," in last Evening's Post. Now thinks I—How comes it that the father of these young ladies, who is well enough to live as the saying is should not take more interest in his domestic affairs; should not breakfast at a given hour, close his doors at a stated period, compel his children to dress, and to participate in amusements with system, and in a rational manner.—Young ladies do not think it proper that their fathers should govern their toilet, regulate their dress, and manage their time—but, it is his duty to do it, if the mother neglects it—nay, no family can go on prosperously or happily, where the head of it thinks it beneath his dignity or duty, to take a becoming interest in the concerns of his family. The entrance of a maid, with a brush and a bucket, announced that my absence was desirable, and I retired.
As I have nothing to do but live at my ease, visit my friends, and advise them what may be wholesome for their government, I made another morning's call, and entered the parlour where three young ladies were seated.—Here indeed, the aspect of things was changed and pleasing—each of them in morning dresses—white as the snow on the mountains—their hair waving in its glossy and luxuriant curls, and their lips and cheeks, of the vermilion hue; bespoke health and contentment. One of them had a neat work table near her, and was assiduously employed in darning cotton stockings; the other was intent hemming a ruff; and the third was attentively practising a sonata on the piano forte. The parlour was a type of cleanliness—the mahogany was bright, the brasses shone, the fire was cheerful, the conversation gay and innocent. This was a very pleasant sight—and had I been a young man, looking out for a wife, I certainly should have been tempted to make my election at that time.

Domestic Economy.
It then occurred to me that young ladies generally should be active, industrious, neat and cheerful, if not from principle, then from policy. How can they expect to make good wives or good mothers without activity, economy and industry? Young men beginning life, seek for a partner among the most respectable and happy qualities they unite a clear head and good heart, why prosperity follows, as sure as the sun follows a cloudy day. Ladies may think that the name of a good house keeper may sound unfashionable to the ear, but if they are not so, it will be severely felt by the pocket. Instead of making pastry, brewing gooseberry wine, preserving fruits and tying up bundles of thyme, rosemary and sweet majoram, they should wholly neglect those useful duties, the economy of a house will be sadly deranged indeed, and the young husband, who fondly hopes that fortune has blessed him with a careful and assiduous companion, will find his prospects obscured and domestic troubles will pave the way for a decay of mercantile or professional prosperity.
Old school boys, like myself, have many excellent opportunities of looking into causes and effects—domestic peace and domestic prosperity—and I have seen and ascertained to my satisfaction, how much a well organized family, may contribute to the welfare, temper and happiness of a man of business.—I have seen a merchant worried to distraction, to raise money to meet his engagements—harrassed by creditors and usurers—worn out with anxiety and fatigue, return to his house after bank hours, and finding no table spread, no fire made, no cheerful voice to welcome him; gloomy, irascible and petulant, he has gone to some tavern, ate his dinner alone, mixed subsequently with company, drank fully to drown sorrow and bury reflection, and plunged into extravagance, play, and finally ruin. Reverse the picture, and I have seen a man equally harrassed worried and fatigued, go home to dine; his table neatly and cleanly spread, his wife pleasant and affectionate, his children interesting, and his fare well cooked, seasoned with health, contentment and good humor—he has forgotten his cares—given his troubles to the wind—enjoyed the present, and returned to his pursuits, with new energies and perseverance.
Thus it will be seen, that the influence of a good wife when properly exercised, tends eminently to smooth the brow of care, and to aid in advancing the interest and promoting the happiness of her husband and children.
HOWARD.