BY PASTEUR & WATSON, For publishing a Periodical paper, called the AROLINA CABINET

OF SCIENCE AND LITERATURE. By Obed Orrery, Esq. Leaning on the arm of Novemy, Yet friendly to the best pursuits of man, Priendly to thought, to virtue, and to peace. Cowpen. Leaning on the arm of Novelty,

PROSPECTUS.

Upon offering the projected publication, to the patronage of their fellow citizens, Pastrona and WATSON are aware of the magnitude of the attempt, but they are also aware that there is no paper in the State exclusively devoted to literapaper in the State, exclusively devoted to litera-ture, and they believe that the taste of North arolina needs but the offering of the collation, to meet with acceptance. Under these conside-rations, they confidently present this prospectus. For himself, Mr. Ohnnay would observe, that he is not ignorant of the difficulty of the task he undertaker. He is aensible that he mant vary hi lucubrations to meet the versatility of taste sos predominent in mankind, and that he must in, some degree, he all things to all men. He is al-so perfectly sensible that many I ditors are apt to promise more than they eventually perform. They promise to present nothing but the Urill nozici, to call bothing but the choicest flowrets. Irom the luxuriant parteries of Literature; and too often exhaust their whole steek of erudition in manufacturing a flaming prospectus that shall swell their subscription list.

Now, Onen has determined to avoid this course, that he may not subject himself to subsequent that he may not subject himself to subsequent censure; thinking it preferable to perform, and not to promise, than to promise and not perform. Therefore, his work shall speak for itself. In sid of his undertaking, he solicits the haudable assistance of mee of talents and leisure; and assures the Lantas, that the flowers they may weave into a literary garland, shall receive primary at-tention, although it must be distinctly under-stood by all, that their communications are to be subject to the discretion of Mr ORBERY.
