The circumstance is a second of the country of the circumstance of the country of the circumstance of the country of the circumstance of the circumstance of the country of the co Monday in April next. The circumstances under which the crime was perpetrated and the causes which led to the causetrophe we hear? from a near neighbor whom we have no reason to dishelieve. It appears that Bonds has always been distinguished by a certain recklessment of character, and it is difficult to say, whether this recklessness was ready a wilful disregard of all convequences which might result from his following the impulse of his passions, or whether it was produced by mental incapacity to foresest and weigh such consequences.

Even those of his neighbors who were the next of the medium of the normals the etymology of curmind geon. Some one shortly afterwoods answered the Doctor's advertisement, by observe Bombs want into a Smith's alon, spent a tay or two in making a cirk, and as noon as it was finished, ratered a neighboring tayeen, where Crunk was opacted the dirk into his boson. He was accounted prize at the findle, and plunged the dirk into his boson. He was accounted united before a learned and intrancipalities, who is attained and incompletely and the ribs are 9 feet in length. It is calculated from the size of the bosos, that the animal, when living must have been about 50 feet in length, 20 to 25 in width, and about 20 feet in height; and it must have weighed at was about to presounce the sentence of the law, the reassel of Bonds objected that he was a honoric, but the judge upon inspection, and after due consideration pronounced the sentence of the law.

The Supreme Court of this state finding no error in the proceedings of the court below, were about to pronounce sentence of the ath again on the defendant, when an affidavit by the jailor with whom Bonds has been confined since his arrival in this place, was presented. This affidavit stated saveral distinct facts which went to impress the jailor with a belief of the defendant's lunacy. The Storeme Court heard the affidavit, but after mature deliberation, sentenced the prisoner to be hung on the first Monday in April next.

It is proper to say, that our informa-tion relative to the character of Bomis, nd the circumstances of this transac were obtained from a near neighbor of the partiestal any part of it be erroneous, we shall correct it with pleasure. Of the propriets and justice of the sentence, any person acquainted with the character of the two courts to which the case. has been submitted, can scarcely enter vain a doubt.—Whether such a defect of mind, as would even permit a man in this age and country to believe that he was cruelly beaten in his sleep, be a cause worthy the interposition of executive elemency is not for us to determine.

At a late Court held in a neighboring county, b. New Jersey, a presecution was tried a-coinst a Methodist preacher Mr. D. for as sault and battery upon a young man, who was prosecuted by the preacher for having distributed his congregation at one of their religious occurrings, in the course of the trial it appeared that at the time the alledge disturbance took place, the preacher laid hold of the young man, and shook him pretty roughly, which was the assault complained of. The gentleman of the law concerned in the cause, seemed very anxious to know the extent and evering, and so fath, of this same thaking, and utterrogated the witness as to this matter a long time.

One of the witnesses, a start, athletic man, was asked "Howelld he shake him?" See, and not having satisfied Mr. H. one of the counsel, as to the extent ac. Mr. H. asgain pressed the matter, by saying, "Well, now, can't you tell how he shook him, and in what way he did it." The witness there upon laid hold of the counsel by the collar, "suiting the aution to the word, ut the word to the action," and laving given him some half dozen must tertiale shakes, observed very coolly, "He shook him that way, at," to the so small amusement of the judges, spectators, are who were convulsed with I ughter.
