POETRY.

VENUE DE MON JARDIN.

[Translated from the French.]

Oh! come to my garden of flowers,
If ye wish for a nosegay so fair—
I've kept 'd there in fanciful bowers,
And strew'd them with tendrest care.

From the richest Exotic I cherish
The wild flower so humble and sweet,
Oh! come then and see how they flourish!
Where pride and simplicity meet.

Ye Roses—I have plenty of Roses—
And some must deflorishly blow—
Ye Tulips, whose beauty reposes
The rainbow's celestial hue.

The Marigold shines for the jealous—
For the gallant, the Pansy shall blow,
And for those who in friendship are zealous,
I have evergreen wreaths to bestow.

The Poppy I'll give to the stupid—
The Cypress to those who despair;
The Rose to the votaries of Cupid—
And to Husbands the Prickly Pear!

For the brow of the love lorn maid
I've a chaplet of powerful charms!
'Tis the Heart's Ease that grows in the shade,
And Thyme, intermingled with Balm.

To him, who replaces the lone Gale,
For some sweet little wood nymph to love,
The Lily that fades in the vale,
Will surely acceptable prove.

To Sorcerers, the Sunflower may turn—
While Pinks on the wrong side of twenty,
From the Sea-Plant a lesson may learn,
When lovers no longer are plenty!

The soldier, so sudden is quarrel,
The Tuberose (lordly may have—
But the proud and glorious Laurel
Shall bloom for the wise and the brave!

The miser, the Gold-Eastus chooses,
On genius I seldom bestow it—
But as I'm a friend to the muses,
I've Bays for the brow of the Poet.

In the shade of the silent grove,
For the patrons and friends of RETIREMENT—
I've planted a shrub that they love—
The classic Perennial shall grow.

Whence have I fondly selected,
The Rose that blooms sweet thro' the year,—
For the one whom my heart has elected,
No thorn on its stalk shall appear!

AUGUSTA.

A young Girl on the eve of being married, poisoned her father and mother in order to secure to herself their property.

Come—let's away to the bridal hall,
I've done the deed—they are no more;
I'll dress me in their funeral pall,
And wear the ring my mother wore.

I do it all for love of thee,
Take—take the gold—I now need none;
For, oh! it cannot purchase me
Forgiveness for the crime I've done.

Better, had I the poison'd cup
Press'd closely to these lips accurst,
Than once infuse a single drop
For her whose care my childhood nursed.

You did not see her when she died—
No it was well, for you had wept
To see her call me to her side,
And bless me, till in death she slept!

And he whose fostering care upreard
A guilty child—he too is gone;
And as he blasken'd, he appear'd
To charge me with the deed I've done.

Then let's away to the bridal hall,
I'm thine, tho' Heaven is dost to me;
Quick—lest the wrath of God should fall,
And blast the joy I have in thee.

O, tarry not, the night comes on,
And spectre forms before me move,
Come—it is time the vile were done,
That make thee ever mine, my love!

Heed not my haggard look—awhile
And I will wreath my aching head,
And teach my lips to wear a smile,
For father—mother—both are dead!

The Newburyport Herald gives but a poor account of the prospects of the lawyers in that town and in the country. It appears, however, that though the civil business which is got up in that place by the gentlemen of the bar, is very small, the uncivil, or criminal business, is in a flourishing condition One case of this description, tried at the last Court of Common Pleas held in that town, is of a novel and rather amusing nature One Joseph Cuney had promised marriage to a Miss Polly Brown: but, for reasons unhivulged, saw fit to break his tender engagements; and as an atonement for the wounded pride of Miss Polly, and some compensation to her for her loss of himself, he gave her two promissory notes. The rest of the story we extract from the Herald.—Com. Adv.

"The story told by the girl was in spite of its occasional pathos, rater ludicrous. She was visiting at his mother's residence, in Gloucester, and had the notes done up in her reticule, which she carried with her. While there her quondam betrothed offered to take up the notes, and presented some bank bills for them. But love, it seems had not entirely blinded her to his failings; she, being apprehensive that the bills were counterfeit, declined to receive them. Soon after being requested by the lady of the house to step out of doors to treat her eyes to a 'nice pig,' lately purchased, she left her work bag behind, though with some hesitation, as she confessed; not putting unlimited confidence in the honesty of this second Giles Scroggins. While out of doors, and engaged in a conversation, in which she pronounced the animal to be 'clever,' the promissory notes were abducted from her work bag; and she forthwith complained of her lover as the thief. The sentence of the Court was seven months' imprisonment in the common gaol."

Wilson's Panacea

The subscriber takes the liberty to inform the public, that his having for the last five years been constantly in the employ of Mr. Swaim, assisting in preparing and making his justly celebrated Panacea, he has commenced the business for himself, at No. 130, Arch street, where he vends the same kind of medicine under the name of WILSON'S PANACEA, and he pledges himself, that the Panacea made by him possesses all the restorative powers of that sold by Mr. Swaim, it being composed of precisely the same ingredients, either a comparison or trial will establish this fact. As the subscriber offers his PANACEA much lower than the usual price of Swaim's, he respectfully solicits a share of public patronage.

This medicine has the decided preference over all other medicines for the cure of Scrofula, King's Evil, Rheumatism, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases; ulcerous sores, general debility, and all diseases arising from impure blood. It has proved beneficial in Nervous and Dyspeptic complaints generally, White Swellings, diseases of the Liver, Skin, &c. Those whose constitutions are broken down by mercurial diseases, should submit to a course of Wilson's Panacea. It is a safe, though powerful substitute for mercury, and removes those evils which an unsuccessful use of that mineral often occasions. It will be found of great service as a spring and fall medicine, by those whose constitutions require nourishment and new vigor.

A MOST VALUABLE

EAST INDIA MEDICINE,

FOR THE CURE OF RHEUMATISM, &c.

Extract of a letter from the Rev. James English, dated Bengal, to his friend, Dr. F. Bedwell, in London.

"DEAR SIR.—Agreeably to your request I have with difficulty procured and now send you by the ship Jupiter, Captain Masterson, a few pounds of the Poludipha or what generally goes by the name of India Extract, a Medicine extensively esteemed among the people of India, for the cure of Rheumatism. Were I to inform you of the number of people who are daily relieved and cured by this valuable remedy, it would require more paper than I am able to purchase, and more time than I am able to bestow. Indeed, the effect of this Medicine is so immediate, that in RHEUMATISM you would in some cases suppose it acted almost like a charm in removing that painful disease. I am equal mode of taking it is in the form of pills. I shall use all my endeavours to send you a constant supply." J. E.

A judicious practitioner, speaking of the Poludelpha, expresses himself thus—"I have (says he) employed all my skill and talents to find out an article proper for the relief and cure of Rheumatism, and I must sincerely affirm that I have never found any thing so quick, so powerful, so efficacious, as Dr. F. Bedwell's India Extract. You may depend upon it, (says he) for I have often experienced that it possesses every virtue that can justly be ascribed to any medicine for that tormenting disease." Here then you have a medicine of superlative efficacy and of intrinsic value.

Dr. Jennings, of Edinburgh, speaking of these Pills, says, I have used them in my practice, as well as in the hospitals, and find them to be a most valuable remedy in cases of Rheumatism, and well calculated to do much good, and therefore recommend them to general use, being confident in my opinion, as well as that of others, no one will be disappointed who may have occasion to use this valuable medicine.

Dr. Clarke, of New-York, in a letter to the agent of the Proprietor, concludes by saying "Every class of people will find in the India Extract a cheap and valuable remedy for the Rheumatism. I have generally found from one to two boxes have produced a cure." ASA CLARKE, M. D.

From a respectable Physician in Bedford county Pennsylvania.

There is in my neighbourhood a gentleman who has been heavily afflicted with Rheumatism for many years. He has been using the Pannees, to the amount of over seven bottles, without any effect; on seeing the Poludelphia advertised, he got a friend to call for a box of the pills, which he is using, and receiving much benefit from it; I am of an opinion that one or two boxes more will produce a radical cure. I believe it to be a valuable medicine. J. R.

Since the Proprietor has received the above Medicine, wishing that the poor should benefit by it as well as the rich, he has put it up in boxes made for the purpose, with directions round each box, containing 60 pills, and has appointed Dr. ROBERT HARRIS, Jun. of Philadelphia, the only agent in the United States to dispose of the same, with full power to appoint agents where he may think proper.

Notice.

The subscriber will sell very cheap for cash, or on a credit to good hands, his well known Jack Ass DON PEDRO. An acquaintance with his colts is the highest recommendation to his character as a foal getter. They may be seen in the neighborhood of Raleigh, Smithfield and Pittsborough. I would also sell a Jenny, with a young Jack colt, for cash or credit.

I would sell, or exchange for young negroes, the Mills formerly belonging to Jones Brewer, on the east side of Haw River, 1 mile above Lambeth's ferry. The mills have been rebuilt this summer on a never failing stream. A Cotton Gin will be in operation in a few weeks at said Mills. The Mill Tract contains 400 acres; but would, to accommodate a purchaser, sell 2,200 acres adjoining the same. Payments made to suit the purchaser. The Mills command custom from the distance of 20 miles in the dry season.

I wish to employ a gentleman for the next year, qualified to take charge of the Spring Grove Academy, located near my residence, in the county of Franklin, N. Carolina. The situation is healthy and pleasant. Owing to the infancy of the institution, it was incorporated only by the last Legislature, the number of students, and, of course, the quantum of salary to the Teacher, will be uncertain. But I will guarantee a adequate compensation, to be agreed upon. The Teacher must be qualified to prepare the students to enter one University. Proposals addressed to me, near Louisburg Post Office, Franklin county, N. C. will be promptly attended to.

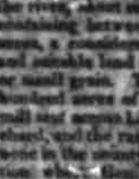
Ran Away



From the subscriber, living 6 miles south east from Winchester, Franklin county, Tennessee, Bedford Fork of Elk river, on the 8th day of September last, a negro man named CARY, about 27 or 28 years of age, five feet six inches high, close built, very black, and quick spoken, will weigh, perhaps, 150 or 160, he has one upper fore tooth out. The only clothing that he took with him when he absconded, was a shirt and a pair of pantaloons of country made cloth, which he had on. It is expected that he will endeavor to get into Martin county, North Carolina. It is also believed that he went off with a set of horse thieves, as there were several horses stolen in the neighborhood shortly before and since he ran away. A reward of twenty dollars will be given to any person for taking and securing said fellow in any jail or place of safe-keeping, so that he can be got again, and information thereof given to me.

Ran Away

From the subscriber, on the 2d instant, my negro man, named BOB, about five feet, seven or eight inches high, thin visage, cheek Bones high, small eyes, sprauls hat inclined to be grey, age between thirty-three and five years. He was raised about Halifax, and it is probable he will make his way for that county. I bought him of Doctor Gilchrist, late of this county, and as he has a wife at Capt. T. Hunter's, I presume he is lurking about the city. I will give ten dollars reward for his delivery to me at this place.
