

THE STAR, And North Carolina State Gazette. Published in the city of Raleigh, by LAWRENCE L. LEWIS, is devoted to News, Politics, Agriculture, Commerce, Literature, Science, and General Literature. It is printed weekly, on a large sheet of good paper, at three dollars per annum, one half payable in advance, and the remainder at the end of the year.

At the sign of the Cross Keys.

Communications. For the Star. To a Second Enquirer.

Five Dollars Reward. Strayed, or stolen from the subscriber, on the night of the 24th inst., a bright sorrel mare, between three and four years old, with a blaze face, five mane and tail, three white feet, and in good order when taken.

20 Dollars Reward. Ran away from Eatonton, Georgia, about the 1st of August, a bright white boy by the name of SANDY, about 14 years old, he has grey or very light blue eyes, his hair is straight, and he has considerable freckles in his face, his right hand has been burned, which causes his little finger on that hand to grow back towards his wrist.

For sale or rent. A comfortable house and lot in the north west part of this city. The improvements embrace every necessary building for the accommodation of a family.

COMMUNICATIONS

FOR THE STAR. To a Second Enquirer. Thine of the 19th inst. has just come to hand through the medium of the Star.

Temperance. Extract from the address of the North Carolina State Temperance Society. Fellow Citizens.—We want your aid in a great work, not your money, nor your time, nor the sacrifice of any real interest.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

As real and as cruel; and were then in the spirit of '76, if we are unwilling to make a sacrifice, if it be of personal gratification, or of pecuniary interest, that the community may be delivered from so great a curse.

The State is composed of individuals. If every individual adopts the resolution for the public good, "I will use no more ardent spirit," then the work is accomplished, or if you singly adopt this resolution, the making it known will exert an influence on some one or more to do the same.

Temperance. Extract from the address of the North Carolina State Temperance Society. Fellow Citizens.—We want your aid in a great work, not your money, nor your time, nor the sacrifice of any real interest.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

Sales at Auction. STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NORTH $10,000. AT AUCTION. OBLE, McKEE & Co. having determined to discontinue their business in this place, will sell the stock of Staple and Fancy Goods on Wednesday, 23d November.

James Litchford, Merchant Tailor. Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has just received a large and general assortment of Fall and Winter Goods.

the city and county of Philadelphia, having served out his sentence for last year. He immediately got on board one of the steamboats bound up the river, intending to go to New York, but when about half way to Bristol, he was discovered that he had no money to pay his passage, having gone on board, no doubt, without any intention of paying. The fellow was forthwith put on shore near Andalusia, which is about one or two miles from the river, and he soon found his way to the hospitable mansion of Mr. Chapman. With a sinistral address, and a plausible story of his misfortunes, rendered tedious more acute in having topped him, as he alleged, from the high estate to which his birth and parentage had connected him—he obtained, unfortunately, a place in that gentleman's confidence, which, it is too much feared, has resulted in his destruction.

From these combined advantages, our government will reap the benefit during the next year, of securing an increased revenue of from ten to twelve millions of dollars, evincing a state of national prosperity unexampled in the annals of our government.

There are other facts and circumstances upon which they could dwell, equally consoling to the patriot and to every true friend to the prosperity of our beloved country; they deem enough has been already said, to satisfy the most prejudiced of the ability and patriotism, with which the present administration has been characterized under the guidance of our venerable chief.

That he has demonstrated in his political career a degree of moral courage and capacity not incompatible with, nor disparaging to the laurels that he has achieved amid our happy ranks on the bloody plains of New Orleans, a name, who will lay prejudice aside, can deny.

What important measure, let it be asked, has been adopted by his administration, however censurable or gloomy on the first appearance, that has not, like pure gold, the more it has been handled and investigated the more brightly shone?

It never was expected that he would have given satisfaction to the malignant partisans, over whom he had so recently, signally triumphed. In fact the very reverse was anticipated, as the nature and history of political warfare; while it is believed that the unprecedented success and prosperity with which his administration has met, have more than realized the sanguine hopes of many of his most devoted friends.

The committee do not take it upon themselves to express a final opinion upon the propriety or expediency of the dissolution of the late Cabinet, as further disclosures are expected, but feel themselves constrained to say, from the facts yet discovered by all parties, they see nothing in the President censurable—nothing for which he should not be forgiven. On the contrary it appears to them to have been a measure loudly called for and demanded, by the best interest of the country.

Entertaining these views, they submit with great deference to the consideration of the meeting, the adoption of the following resolutions: Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting that for the able and efficient manner in which the administration of the national government has been conducted under the presidency of ANNA W. JACKSON, he is pre-eminently entitled to the warmest gratitude and increased confidence of his fellow citizens throughout the Union.

Resolved, As the approaching presidential election is a subject of the first magnitude to the American people, and as the practice has been sanctioned by custom as well as propriety for them to make a declaration of their preference in anticipation of the election, that this meeting, as a portion of them, embrace the present occasion to declare, and they do hereby declare their unqualified preference of the re-election of ANNA W. JACKSON, as President of these United States, over any supposable candidate.

Resolved, That this meeting entertain the highest confidence in the wisdom, the justice, integrity and exalted patriotism of ANNA W. JACKSON, and that it will strenuously exert itself and use all legitimate means to promote and secure his re-election. On motion, Resolved, That a committee of correspondence and vigilance be appointed, whereon the following gentlemen were appointed: Capt. James Gee, Lemuel Long, Jesse A. Dawson, Joel Atkinson, James Jones, senr., Thomas Vaughan, Jos. Higgs, Jacob Higgs, Charles Shields, Drew King, Thomas Filbery, Thomas Nicholson, Wm. Brinkley, Jeremiah Brinkley, Tippeco S. Brownlow, Leonard Daniel, John D. Neill, Willis A. Wilcox, Col. Wood J. Hamlin, Capt. Marcus A. Allen, Wm. P. Walker, Thomas Green, senr., Dr. Major A. Wilcox, Warren Harris, Joel H. McLenore.

On motion, Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the RANNOCK Advocate, Raleigh Star, and Richmond Enquirer, and signed by the President, Vice Presidents and Secretaries—whereupon the meeting adjourned sine die. GID ALSTON, Pres. WILLIS JOHNSTON, Vice Pres. JOE YACCO, Secy. JAS. A. BARNARD, & WILLIE HIGGS, Secretaries.

the city and county of Philadelphia, having served out his sentence for last year. He immediately got on board one of the steamboats bound up the river, intending to go to New York, but when about half way to Bristol, he was discovered that he had no money to pay his passage, having gone on board, no doubt, without any intention of paying. The fellow was forthwith put on shore near Andalusia, which is about one or two miles from the river, and he soon found his way to the hospitable mansion of Mr. Chapman.

From these combined advantages, our government will reap the benefit during the next year, of securing an increased revenue of from ten to twelve millions of dollars, evincing a state of national prosperity unexampled in the annals of our government.

There are other facts and circumstances upon which they could dwell, equally consoling to the patriot and to every true friend to the prosperity of our beloved country; they deem enough has been already said, to satisfy the most prejudiced of the ability and patriotism, with which the present administration has been characterized under the guidance of our venerable chief.

That he has demonstrated in his political career a degree of moral courage and capacity not incompatible with, nor disparaging to the laurels that he has achieved amid our happy ranks on the bloody plains of New Orleans, a name, who will lay prejudice aside, can deny.

What important measure, let it be asked, has been adopted by his administration, however censurable or gloomy on the first appearance, that has not, like pure gold, the more it has been handled and investigated the more brightly shone?

It never was expected that he would have given satisfaction to the malignant partisans, over whom he had so recently, signally triumphed. In fact the very reverse was anticipated, as the nature and history of political warfare; while it is believed that the unprecedented success and prosperity with which his administration has met, have more than realized the sanguine hopes of many of his most devoted friends.

The committee do not take it upon themselves to express a final opinion upon the propriety or expediency of the dissolution of the late Cabinet, as further disclosures are expected, but feel themselves constrained to say, from the facts yet discovered by all parties, they see nothing in the President censurable—nothing for which he should not be forgiven. On the contrary it appears to them to have been a measure loudly called for and demanded, by the best interest of the country.

Entertaining these views, they submit with great deference to the consideration of the meeting, the adoption of the following resolutions: Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting that for the able and efficient manner in which the administration of the national government has been conducted under the presidency of ANNA W. JACKSON, he is pre-eminently entitled to the warmest gratitude and increased confidence of his fellow citizens throughout the Union.

Resolved, As the approaching presidential election is a subject of the first magnitude to the American people, and as the practice has been sanctioned by custom as well as propriety for them to make a declaration of their preference in anticipation of the election, that this meeting, as a portion of them, embrace the present occasion to declare, and they do hereby declare their unqualified preference of the re-election of ANNA W. JACKSON, as President of these United States, over any supposable candidate.

Resolved, That this meeting entertain the highest confidence in the wisdom, the justice, integrity and exalted patriotism of ANNA W. JACKSON, and that it will strenuously exert itself and use all legitimate means to promote and secure his re-election. On motion, Resolved, That a committee of correspondence and vigilance be appointed, whereon the following gentlemen were appointed: Capt. James Gee, Lemuel Long, Jesse A. Dawson, Joel Atkinson, James Jones, senr., Thomas Vaughan, Jos. Higgs, Jacob Higgs, Charles Shields, Drew King, Thomas Filbery, Thomas Nicholson, Wm. Brinkley, Jeremiah Brinkley, Tippeco S. Brownlow, Leonard Daniel, John D. Neill, Willis A. Wilcox, Col. Wood J. Hamlin, Capt. Marcus A. Allen, Wm. P. Walker, Thomas Green, senr., Dr. Major A. Wilcox, Warren Harris, Joel H. McLenore.

On motion, Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the RANNOCK Advocate, Raleigh Star, and Richmond Enquirer, and signed by the President, Vice Presidents and Secretaries—whereupon the meeting adjourned sine die. GID ALSTON, Pres. WILLIS JOHNSTON, Vice Pres. JOE YACCO, Secy. JAS. A. BARNARD, & WILLIE HIGGS, Secretaries.