

Prof. Walter Wilson,
Of the Savannah High School, says: "I feel it my duty to testify to the wonderful curative properties of Tetterine. It has cured in a few days my son, whose feet has been very badly afflicted with some stubborn skin trouble, after having used a number of remedies without any benefit." 50c, at druggists or by mail from J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

Engineers on several of the big western lines are preparing to lead a campaign against the use of more than one engine in the drawing of a train. The main objections to "double headers" are that they increase liability to accidents, in which the engineers of the second engines are almost always killed, and that the dust and cinders are especially injurious to the eyes of the crews of the second engine.

At Law Over a Cat.
A curious suit to determine the ownership of a cat has just been ended at Bluffton, Ind. Mrs. Mike Dally, of that place, was the owner of a large Thomas which was regarded as a great family pet. Without cause, so Mrs. Dally alleges, the cat strayed to the house of Morris Sawyer, and took up his quarters there, forsaking Mrs. Dally. Demand was made on Mrs. Sawyer for the surrender of the cat, and she peremptorily refused. Then revivin proceedings were begun, and at an expense of $20 Mrs. Dally got a writ, and a constable went after the wayward Thomas and carried him back to the Dally domicile in triumph. Mrs. Sawyer threatens to carry the litigation to determine the ownership of the cat to the Wells Circuit Court.—Cincinnati (O.) Enquirer.

Plumes of the Giant Moa.

Government naturalists are much excited over the arrival of the National Museum of some feathers of that wonderful bird, the moa, which are the first ever discovered. When it is considered that this fowl was probably the largest bird that ever existed, attaining a height of fourteen feet, and a weight of 1,000 pounds, one realizes in some degree the interest that must attach to such a "find." For the moa became extinct a long time ago—some authorities say as much as 500 years ago, though there is no absolute certainty on that point—and, inasmuch as no feathered creature resembling it seems ever to have lived in the world before or since, any facts that throw light upon its history are eagerly sought.

The reason why the feathers in question are known positively to be those of a moa is that they were found attached to a piece of skin which still hung to some bones that were readily recognizable as having belonged to a moa. They were discovered in a cave in New Zealand.—Washington Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

Half a Mile of Babies

"Baby boulevard" is the popular name of the long stretch of broad cement walk which skirts the west edge of Lincoln Park, from North avenue to Center street, in Chicago. An observant man, walking south, passed twenty-six baby buggies and met thirty-two; in two buggies were howling twins. A Lincoln park policeman is authority for the statement that there are more babies trundled over this walk than over any other length of sidewalk in the city. He said in one day he checked up 124 fond fathers, doting mothers, nurse maids and small brothers and sisters shoving baby buggies, go-carts, wheeled chairs and perambulators over the cement slabs. "And that was only five hours during the whole day. That was on a Saturday. On Sundays they come in droves

A number of influential papers in Berlin have published articles about Emperor William's "personal regime," some approving it and others disapproving. The Cologne Volks Zeitung points out that the Emperor's fashion of speaking about the German Navy as "my navy" is against the Constitution, adding that the advisers of his Majesty ought to tell him so.

It is an interesting statistical fact that the number of British tourists has never been less in German watering places than this year. The German papers say that the Anglophobia shown by the Germans recently is the cause.

THE BLACK DEATH

BUBONIC PLAGUE, ASIATIC CHOLERA, YELLOW FEVER,
all begin in the bowels. It's the unclean places that breed infectious epidemics, and it's the unclean body—unclean inside—that "catches" the disease. A person whose stomach and bowels are kept clean and whose liver is lively, and blood pure, is safe against yellow fever, or any other of the dreadful diseases that desolate our beautiful southland. Some of the cleanest people outside are filthiest inside, and they are the ones who not only "catch" the infection, but endanger the lives of all their friends and relatives. There's only one certain way of keeping clean inside so as to prevent disease and that is to take CASCARETS. Perfect disinfectant and bowel strengtheners. All diseases are
