A Druid Relic.

The yule log in England is a relic of Druidism; its name is believed to be a corruption of the wheel log, a wheel in Druidical symbolism typifying the march of the sun. The lighting of the vule fire is reminiscent of the sacred fires kindled by the Druids in midwinter at the round towers which yet remain in many parts of Great Britain, answered to roll-call, and the galleries Ireland. FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

Report of the Proceedings from Day to Day. SENATE.

Monday. - The extraordinary session of the Fifty-fifth Congress was opened by reading the President's proclamation convening it. Sixty-eight Senators were filled to overflowing. Mr. W. A. Harris, of Kansas, was sworn in as successor to Mr. Peffer. After appointnent of a committee to notify the President and the House that the Senate was ready to begin its duties, a recess was taken until 2 p. m. At this session the President's message was read and referred to committee, and on motion of Mr. Allison, Republican, of Iowa, the Senate at 3:35 p. m. adjourned until tonorrow at roon.

Tuesday. - Many bills were intro-duced and referred, among them bills from Mr. Allen, Populist, of Nebraska, directing the foreclosure of the government lien on the Union Pacific Railroad; to prevent over-capitalization of companies doing an inter-State carrying trade; to prevent professional lobbying; to preserve the purity of national legislation, and to increase the circulating medium. A bill to facilitate the construction, working and maintenance of telegraphic communication between the United States, the Hawaiian Islands, Japan and Australia, was introduced by Mr. Chandler. Also a bill to provide for the twelfth and subsequent censuses. A bill for a government telegraph was introduced by Kyle, Populist, of South Dakota, and one to amend the immigration laws by Mr. Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts. Republican, of new Nicaraguan Canal bill was introduced by Mr. Morgan, Democrat, of Alabama. Also a bill to create a board of trustees of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroad Companies to fund their bonded indebtedness. Bankruptcy bills were introduced by Senators Hoar, Republican, of Massachusetts, and Nelson, Republican, of Minnesota. Altogether there were 438 bills introduced and referred, most of them coming over from the last Congress. After a short executive session, at which today's nominations were referred, the Senate at half past 3 adjourned till Thursday next. THURSDAY. - After a two day's recess the Senate re-assembled and a large number of bills, most of them survivors We think Piso's Cure for Consumption is of the last Congress, were introduced and referred. Gear, (Rep.) of Iowa, from the committee on Pacific rail-CASCARETS stimulate liver, kidneys and roads, reported the bill, which was pending last session, for the adjustment of the government debt through FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great tary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Interior and the Attorney-General. It was placed on the calendar.

The constitutional amendment for the populer election of United States Senators was introduced and will be debated Monday.

At the close of the morning business the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business—the arbitration treaty. Morgan made a speech against it. A long debate is in pros-

FRIDAY. - The calendar of business in the Senate this morning contained only four items: The notice by Mr. Turpie Dem.) of Indiana, of his intention to address the Senate in favor of the proposed constitutional amendment to make United States Senators elective by the people. The amendment itself, which is on the table, and the two Pacific Railroad bills which were reported Thursday. The number of bills introluced in the Senate since Monday last, up to this morning was 768. Mr. Butler, Populist, of North Carolina, to establish a postal telegraph system; and one by Mr. Chandler, Repub-lican, of New Hampshire, as to first and second-class mail matter. On motion of Davis, (Rep.) of Minnesota, acting chairman of the committee Three Minutes! on foreign relations, the Senate at 12:50 p. m. proceeded to executive business, and at 4 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

The Senate confirmed the following nominations: Charles U. Gordon, postmaster at Chicago; John Hay, of to Great Britain; Horace Porter, of New York, ambassador to France; Henry White, of Rhode Island, secretary of embassy at London; Perry S. Heath, of Indiana, to be First Assistant Postmaster General.

HOUSE.

Monday-The opening of the Fifty fifth Congress in extraordinary session was witnessed in the House today by an immense corwd. Alexander McDowell, clerk of the last House, called the House to order. The election of Speaker was then proceeded with, the result being: For Mr. Reed, 199: for Mr. Bailey, 114; for Mr. Bell, 21; or Mr. Newlands, of Nevada, 1. The President's message was read and rewas given to the committee on ways and means to sit during the session of the House and to have all necessary

THURSDAY. - The Speaker laid before the House the recommendations of the Postmaster General for an appropriation of $200,000 to be immediately available, to enable the government to defray the necessary expenses of the postal congress which will assemble in for its reception and entertainment. Speaker Reed FRIDAY. - The first executive day of the House of the Fifty-fifth Congress gave every indication of an unusually lively session. Dingley, from the committee on ways and means, returned the tariff bill with the recommendation that it do pass, which, with the accompanying report, was placed on the calendar, and the general debate will begin Monday and end Thursday. The vote on the passage of the sundry civil bill was: Yeas, 157; nays, 73. The Republicans only voted for it, all others against it. The reading of the general deficiency bill was completed at 8:10 o'clock, but its third reading (by title) was ordered without a division, and the bill was then passed-131 to 89. One minute later the House adjourned. The Democratic members of the ways and means committee have anthorized Mr. Bailey, of Texss, to prepare the minority report on the tariff bill. It will be laid before the House on Monday next.

SATURDAY. - The first week of the extraordinary session of the Fifty-fifth Congress closed with to-day's session of the House of Representatives. The record made is extraordinary. The tariff bill has been reported, and an order regulating its discussion adopted. Four appropriation bills, which failed to become laws in the Fifty-fourth Congress necessary for the prosecution of important parts of the public service. carrying a total of over seventy-two millions of dollars, have been passed, with the exception of one paragraph as they were finally agreed upon by the last House. Two of these, the agricultural and Indian, were considered and disposed of. The former, appropriating $3,182,950, was passed, as had been the sundry civil and general deficiency bills Friday without change. One feature of the Indian bill provoked much opposition and was finally stricken out, by unanimous consent, before the bill passed. This was the paragraph opening the gilsonite or asphalt lands in the Uncompaghre reservation, Utah, to entry under the mineral laws, which the Senate added to the bill. The debate on the tariff bill will begin

Monday. COTTON FARMING.

How Two to Four Bales Per Acre

Are Made on Very Poor Land. To have not the slightest desire to assist in any manner in bringing about an increase in the number of bales annually raised throughout the Sunny South in general nor in Mississippi in particular, but we do desire that Southern farmers everywhere should realize the fact that the same 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bales that are now raised annually may be just as easily, just as surely and far more economically and profitably raised on one-fourth the area it is to-day, leaving the other three-fourths to be put in provision crops, fruits or grass. We have had the good fortune to see and walk over many Georgia farms-farms, too, that were worn out and washed away many years ago-that are now made to produce from one to four bales of cotton per acre. This condition of things is made possible and actually brought about by the "intensive" system of culture and liberal yet economical

As early in the new year as the weather will possible admit of, the old cotton stalks are "knocked," or cut, the roots are then plowed up with straight shovel; green cotton seed are then strewn in this shovel furrow at the rate of ten to twelve bushels per acre; two half-shovel furrows are next thrown on the seed to prevent the loss of ammonia; in a few weeks this small bed is opened with a long, narrow scooter and 200 to 300 pounds of some good commercial fertilizer distributed in this furrow; phosphate and potash being all sufficient, the cotton seed furnishing the the District of Columbia, ambassador | necessary nitrogen; the land is then bedded out and out with straight shovel and is now ready for the reception of the seed. Under this plan, persistently followed, Georgia farmers have succeeded in so increasing the fertility of the soil that with a slight increase in amount of fertilizer used and a favorable season four bales per acre have rewarded their efforts. A good heavy cow-pea stubble turned under will be found to be fully as beneficial to the coming cotton crop as the cotton seed; either one will supply all the nitrogen needed; but in the absence of a cow-pea stubble, the cotton seed should by no means be ferred, on motion of Mr. Dingley, to neglected. Georgia farmers break their lands deep (eight to ten or even twelve inches) once about every three years; they say it does not pay to break them deep any oftener. In this deep breaking, the land is broken with a twohorse turning plow, plowing about one inch deeper than the surface soil, thus gradually deepening the soil. No crops are planted here at all without fertilizer being applied, and in the sandier portions of the State the farmers seem to be unanimous in the declaration that "Potash is the element that is most needed" and that "any fertilizer that does not contain as much as four per cent. of it is not worth applying." Prentice's Advice.

Once when George D. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, was coming out of a public building in Louisville, he was about to pass through a double door which opened both ways. He started to push at the door on his right. A young man coming from the opposite direction was pushing at the same door, being his own left. Prentice lost patience, and throwing himself against the door, it flew open, and the young man went sprawling on the floor. Assisting the youth to rise, Prentice remarked: "Take my advice, my son, keep to the right in your way through manded an increase of twenty-five life, and you'll never run against anybody but a blamed fool, and you needn't apologize to him."
