Friends, if your articles do not come out as soon as you expect you must expect, you must exercise a little patience, for our columns are very much taxed at present. You shall all have a hearing.

The Board of Trustees of the Deaf and Blind Institution have bought a tract of land back of the old Watson mansion for a garden spot for the Colored Department.

Mr. John A. Galliard and Mr. Mark Williams, who graduated on April 24, 1897, in the Law Department at Shaw University, left the city Monday evening of this week for Charleston, S. C.

Rev. A. B. Hunter, President of St. Augustine School, is making many wonderful improvements on the above named school. He is enlarging the Lyman building, so that it will accommodate more students.

The A. & M. College at Greensboro will have its closing exercises next week. On Sunday Bishop Hood preaches the annual sermon and on Thursday Rev. E. J. Gregg delivers the annual address.

The Board of Trustees of the A. and M. College at Greensboro, will meet on Thursday, the 27th instant, in regular semi-annual meeting. The election of officers and teachers will take place at this meeting.

"S. A. L. Magundi" for April is, as usual, a hummer. It contains much valuable reading matter and many interesting illustrations. Our honorable townsmen, H. S. Leard, has a prominent place in it.

Miss Mary Eaton, of Henderson, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bemery, 130 Lenox St. We know the ladies and gentlemen will take pleasure in making everything pleasant for Miss Mary while she is in our midst.

The Charlotte Seminary, of which Rev. C. E. Williamson is Principal, closed Thursday night of last week with a great concert. Rev. Williamson is highly commended by all who are acquainted with him.

The commencement exercises of the Henderson Normal School on Wednesday and Thursday of this week was a scene of delight. The program was nicely disposed of and a wonderful display was witnessed.

I know a botanist (?) who knows Every blooming flower this climate

In his sweetheart's flower yard. This is true, you must not doubt it, He himself told me 'bout it, 'Bout his knowledge of the flowers In his sweetheart's flower yard.

You may collect them every where, Mix them with the greatest care, But he can tell you if you got them In his sweetheart's flower yard.

May the fragrance of them hover Round this lawyer botanist (?) lover— The fragrance of the flowers In Fannie's flower yard.

Rev. G. W. Dunn, one of the ablest and foremost ministers in the North Carolina Christian Conference, accompanied by Rev. Wm. Williams and J. H. Mabry, gave us a pleasant talk last Tuesday. We were glad to greet these gentlemen and especially Bro. Dunn, who has been sick quite a long time, but we are glad to note that his usual good health is being restored to him. He gave us a renewal. He is a staunch friend of the GAZETTE.

The reception given by Miss M. M. Cardwell on May 12th, in honor of Mr. Louis A. Fletcher, was one of the most brilliant affairs of the season. Miss Mamie had everything arranged for the occasion. The following distinguished persons were present: Misses Hattie Harris, Maud E. Young, Cora A. Pair, Hattie Johnson, Lizzie Johnson, Daisy Jones, Eliza Young, Daisy Ricks, and the Misses Gorham, Messrs. J. W. Ligon, O. L. Gary, John Haywood, Charles Fraser, and W. R. Taylor.

The closing exercises of the St. Ambrose Parish School were the latest work in the Metropolitan Opera House. The audience was very large; in fact, nearly every seat down stairs was occupied and the best of order prevailed. The galleries were not opened, so all the audience were seated on the main floor.

This school is conducted under the supervision and direction of Rev. J. L. King, who has charge of St. Ambrose parish. The school is taught by Mrs. King and Miss Mary Phillips. On account of the number of pupils in the school, about eighty, the exercises were necessarily a little long, but the interest and attention of the audience was held closely from the beginning to the close. The children all performed their parts well and the occasion was in every respect a success. The exercises consisted in songs, recitations, dialogues, drills, calisthenics, etc. The songs and the drills were especially good.

NEW ORLEANS LA, April 20, 1897. Mr. R. H. TATE, S. W. P. A., Seaboard Air Line, City.

Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I note your line has recently issued a circular advertising that all packages would be carried free over your line as baggage when accompanied by the owner.

As your line takes in all that beautiful riding territory in North Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia, no doubt many of our wheelmen in the South will take advantage of this, and it will be my great pleasure to advise them of your kind offer which you have so liberally given without resort to the State Legislature; in other words, this has been voluntary on your part and not compulsory as with other railroads.

It is evident that you are reaching for the business of the wheelmen, and as most every family have one or more riders, it will be my great pleasure to call the wheelmen's attention to your circular.

Respectfully yours, HARRY H. HODGSON, Chief Counsel, L. A. Div., L. A. W.

Seaboard Air Line Circular No. A-1133. PORTSMOUTH, VA., April 1, 1897. To Agents, Baggage Masters, Conductors and Connecting Lines:

The Seaboard Air Line will transport bicycles over its lines free of charge, when accompanied by passengers presenting regular passage tickets or passes. Owners must sign release agreeing to hold this Company harmless against loss or damage while bicycles are in transit.

One bicycle, only, will be checked and transported free for each passenger holding proper transportation, and forwarded on first train on which it can be conveniently carried. All employees of the Baggage Department are cautioned to handle them with all possible care at all times. They are of delicate and fragile construction, and every precaution must be taken for their safe handling.
