RECONCILIATION.

Be Ye Reconciled to God. 2-Cor. 5:20. Here is a text that has had hard usage. The Book does not contain words more tender or beautiful; yet as generally presented they startle and repel us rather than attract. Have you ever halted at a mountain inn travelstained, weary and well nigh famished asual many States are represented, and asked for bread and they gave you Pread of Life is not really served to one, but rather hurled at him as something hard, sour and unconquerable. Let us rise to the truth and privilege of reconciliation by easy stages. The whole effort of all life in plant or animal is to reconcile itself to the world in which it lives, to those active powers of God which make the world what it is. The vine spreads its leaf to the sun and projects its root into the water that it may live. Birds by strange instinct travel afar seeking a genial climate and feeding ground. In fact human life only becomes strong, Norfolk and Nashville Limited, leaving masterful and noble through reconcili-Norfolk daily 9:20 a. m., leaving Ral- ation. We build houses to protect us eigh 5:40 p. m., leaving Greensboro from the rigors of winter. We invent machines to give us the control of natural forces. We study the laws of industrial, commercial and social prosperity. In truth civilization itself, with all of its peace, bounty and happiness Jersey City, Washington and Greens- reconciliation. The difference between boro to Nashville, connection from the civilized and the savage man is found at this point. The civilized man has struggled up into more harmonious working with the forces of God that organize and govern this world; he has adjusted himself better to God's wholesome laws of health, industry, enlightenment and progress. Hence civilized men are, exempt from the forces whach have destroyed savage races, famine, want, violence, insecurity, simply because they are reconciled Herbert Spencer denfles life to be "continual adjustment of internal relations to external relations." Now the Apostle says all that and more in one word and that world is reconcillation. We reconcile our bodies to the material world in which we live and realize comfort. We reconcile our minds to the laws of nature and civilization is the result. We reconcile our souls to the higher spiritual laws which are dim in nature but quick within purselves and live in joy and blessed-

So, when the Apostle pleads with us to be reconciled to God he is simply appealing to every man to rise to his wn best, to overtake his true and noble selfhood and be complete in God. One day a bird flew into a church where worshippers were bowed in rayer. A poet addressed lines to the bird which you may recall, contrasting the condition of the bird unburdened by a sense of sin, unconcious of having failed to realize its best, with that of the human worshipper with the keen sense of responsibility, aspiration and defeat. The contrast is just. All life below man finds itself complete in the physical process. Even the checks and restraints upon the animal are wholly physical. With man it is not so. He finds the restraining forces in reason and in conscience. A higher order is revealed in him. He feels himself under moral pressure to be right and to do right. If one doubts this putting of the case, let him examine competent testimony. Speaking after the manner of Paul at Mars Hill, certain of your own poets have said, as Byron for in-

"Ours is a false nature 'Tis not in the harmony of things." What bitter experience underlies that ad confession? What perception of a etter life possible and obligatory? What sense of waywardness and error? And Shelley sings likewise Nature in silent eloquence declares hat all her works fulfill the law of love

All save the outcast man.' Where but from his own heart did that child of genius learn that man is out of harmony with the law of truth, duty and joy. If we should interrogate the philosophers the result would be the same. Ben Franklin, one of the best poised of men, used to carry a white tablet with a list of the virtues on it, upon which he would punch a hole for his failures. Well the tablet soon became like a target after the rifle practice of a regiment of soldiers. Goethe, who was wholly devoted to self ulture, records the same result. Whence comes this pressure impelling men to seek their best in upright Hv-ing? Whence comes the serse of failure, of shame, of remorse that follows wrong doing. Watch the needle of the compass tremble under the grip of the polar star. Well the grip of another world is upon the human soul. Let any man attempt to account for the sense of responsibility that is strong upon us, the meaning of the word ought, the wherefore of shame, the word of remorse and see where he will land philosophically. The only true interpretation of human nature is the spiritual one. Hence the appeal of the Apostle CURED Dr. Hair's cure to every one to come into harmony with the spiritual laws of his being is rational and timely. Through Christ divine life has entered humanity. He wears our human nature in its pure and rational and timely. Through Christ wears our human nature in its pure and perfect form. In him humanity offers a perfect righteousness and a perfect casrifice for sin. He stands in organic and vital relationship to every man who will receive him—"To as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the Sons of God." Only through Christ can be standard to be some the sons of the sons of the standard to be some the sons of God."

DEMAND FOR ATGANTA LIQUOR,

The Southern and Seaboard Refuse to Haul It Into South Carolina, An Atlanta special says, the recent tangle between the liquor dealers of Atlanta, the railroads and the State officials of South Carolina, over the shipment of liquor into the latter State, has reached a novel climax. Under the ruling of Judge Simonton as to what constituted an original package, the ailroads have been sending large quanities of liquor across the line, and the dispensa v business has ceased almost entirely. The Southern Railway refused to continue the business, and has a big lawsuit in consequence. The Seapoard Air Line notified the dealers that hey would continue to carry liquor unil midnight on the 29th, when the raffic would cease. In the scramble to take advantage of the limited time, caroad after car-load of strong drink has

Mr. Henry Fries, of Salem, is now building an electric plant on the Yadkin river that will furnish power for the mills at Winston. It is the only plant of the kind in the State, and is been shipped from Atlanta, one firm creating much talk among the indusalone sending seven cars. The result is trial men. There is a plant in Anderson, that in Atlanta liquor is at a premium. S. C., and one in Columbia, S. C., something like this plant will be. Mr. Fries' plant is thirteen and a half miles from town, and when completed will furnish motive power for the two cotton mills, the woolen mills, a grain mill, a planing mill, the city electric lights, street cars and lights and the waterworks. Contracts for the above power 2,000 and 2,500 horse power. Before Christmas the plant will be in operation. The material for the pole line is and a more direct Southern outlet is a lready at hand and work will begin at once. It is a big enterprise and will be looked forward to with much interest by the mill people of the State.

The Charlotte Observer says: The Pamlico county costs in the oyster entry matter are giving State Treasurer Worth sleepless nights. There are 695 cases, and the costs aggregate $4,200. There was judgment in the Superior Court for this amount, the cases having been consolidated to save the State further expense. The solicitor appealed because the cases were consolidated. The sheriff and clerk of Pamlico are the sole parties in interest. Judge Bryan, in his findings in this case, said the amount was honestly due. JAPAN'S ENTERPRISE, Money Appropriated to Teach America cans How to Make Tea.

Several months ago the Japanese Tea Guild sent to this country a special commission to investigate the condition of the Japanese tea trade in the United States and Canada, and to co-operate with its American representatives in giving publicity to the merits of Japanese teas and the best methods of preparing them.

Tea bazaars are to be opened in many of the principal cities in the United States and Canada, where ladies can enjoy a cup of fine Japanese tea made by experts, and at the same time receive instructions which will enable them to make it equally well at home. More than half the tea consumed in the United States and Canada is of Japanese growth, yet most Americans apparently do not understand how to prepare it so as to develop its delicious qualities. The Japanese Government has appropriated a large fund to aid in prosecuting this educational work. The Japanese Tea Guild has issued this official recipe for making Japanese tea: First. - Use a small, dry and thoroughly clean porcelain teapot. Second. -Put in one teaspoonful of tea leaves for each cup of tea desired. Third .-- When using Japanese teas, pour on the required quantity of fresh boiled water, and let stand with closed have been closed. The cost will amount | lid from two to three minutes. Never to over $100,000. The power will be boil the leaves. In order to retain the natural flavor, Japanese tea leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

Note. - To thoroughly enjoy the natural, delicate and sweet flavor, neither sugar nor cream should be used.
