By a majority of about seven hundred in a total vote of one hundred and forty thousand, the voters of New Jersey, at a special election, ratifled an amendment to the constitution which forbids the legalizing of lotterles, poolselling, "book-making," or gambling of any kind. There are several race-tracks in the State which have been notorious resorts for gamblers, and a few years ago the gambling elements were strong enough to elect a race-track "starter" Speaker of the Assembly. The moral sentiment of the State was aroused to put an end to the scandal, and this amendment is the result.

IHE NEGRO OF THE SOUTH.

Receives More Recognition Than the Negro of the North.

SOME RICH PULLMAN PORTERS.

Manley's Reformatory and Bible School-The Blacks in the Majority. Items of Race Interest.

There is little or no room for doubt that the Negro in the South is the more intelligent, the wealthier and the better equipped morally and physically than the Negro element in the North. The statements often published in Northern journals, both white and colored, would lead one not acquainted with our condi. tion to believe that the Negro in the South is in a bad fix: that down here the Negro is still a slave; that we receive no recognition politically and that we do not receive as much attention as do the dumb brutes. These statements are false-are blasphemous libels on Southern chivalry and manhood. Viewed from any part, any section, the Negro in the South can meet and defeat his brother of the North. Politically, we Negroes receive more recognition in the South than do their brothers in the North. twenty - two colored men who have been elected to the Senate and

House of Representatives, how many can the Northern Negroes point to with pride-that pride that one can receive from their home folks and friends of childhood days? Not one. The South has furnished all the brain and manhood of the Negro race. Did it not produce Laugston, Bruce, Lynch, Cuney, Cheatham, Revells, White, Turner, Douglass, Bishops Gaines and Turner, Ida Wells, C. H. J. Taylor, Pinchback and a host of mighty intellectual giants? Is not Tom Fortune, the pet of New York, a product of the South, and in fact did not all the brains of the North come from the Southern huts and lowly plantations? Of the Negro Representatives and Senators that have occupied seats in our National Legislation, South Carolina reputed to be the meanest doggone home on earth, | that the shock was felt at many places. leads the list with eight, North Carolina furnishes five, Mississippi four, Virginia, Georgia, Louisiana, Florida and Alabama each producing one. "The Color Line." I recently saw a paragraph in a Negro newspaper which said that "The men who had the most to say about the color line among Negroes had mullatto wives." This is no argument and it cannot effect the settlement of this question of caste among Negroes. It exists and it ought to be knocked in the head, for the Negro with a preponderance of white blood in his anatomy has no more rights in law and no better opportunities for rising in the world as a Negro than the blackest Negro that lives .- Bruce Grit in Star of Zion.

A Tribute of Virtue.

The blacks are in the majority in this country and their steady growth since the war closed is a splendid tribute to the virtue of the black woman of the South, who, while not as perfect as she should be, is as perfect as it is possible for her to be considering her environments and the character of her late instructors in morals. - Bruce Grit in Star of Zion.

McKINLEY AT THE BANQUET.

The President Addresses the National Association of Manufacturers.

The third annual banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers of Negroes of an Entire County Orderthe United States, which was served at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, was one of the largest and most elaborate affairs of the kind ever given in AND that city. One thousand guests were seated at the tables. The fact that President McKinley would be present, caused a rush for tickets. At 9 o'clock Warner Miller rapped for order. Among those who occupied seats of honor on the raised dias were: President McKinley, M. E. Ingalls, Derwin R. James, Rev. R. S. Mc-Arthur; Thos. W. Cridler, Randolph Guggenheimer; Elihu Root, John Addison Porter, Attorney General John W. Griggs, Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, Senator Wm. P. Frye, Chas. Emery Smith, Warner Miller, President Theo C. Search, Henry E. Howland, ex-Mayor Wm. L. Strong. Clement A. Griscoem, St. Clair Mo Kelway and Abner McKinley.

The wildest enthusiasm prevailed then Preident McKinley was introduced. Men stood on their seats; women in the boxes waved their handkerchiefs and the uproar drowned the speaker's voice. The cheering and clapping of hands were redoubled when a toast was drunk to the President.

A special from Little Rock, Ark. says: Trouble between blacks and whites in Lonoke county is apprehended in the town of Lonokesville. Negroes have been killed by whites and others have been driven away. Notices have been tacked on the doors of nearly every negro cabin in town, and on many cabins in the surrounding country, ordering every negro in Lonoke county to leave Lonoke in thirty days and never come back, threatening to kill those who remain. The notices are not signed but are adorned with a skull and cross bones. Notices have also been placed on the doors of the schools, warning the teachers to close the schools and leave. Many negroes have taken their families and moved, but a large number have avowed their purposs of remaining.

One prominent colored man, in an open letter to his race, advised the colored men of Lonoke to supply themselves with arms and be prepared to protect themselves. mistake in the Bible just because he has run across something he doesn't want to believe. There are two classes of men who never profit by their mistakes-those who blame it on their wives and those who lay it all to Providence.

The Loneliness of Age. Be kind to the aged. How few think of this and treat with due consideration those who have outlived their generation, and whose early companions and friends have been taken from them. Unable to engage in the activities of life, they are no longer brought into contact and sympathy with those around them, and no tie of common interest and mutual dependence binds them together. Their views and tastes have naturally grown apart. They share but little in common with others. The future of this life has nothing to inspire their ambition or excite their of others has no inspiration for them. They necessarily, to a great extent, live in a world of their own, with which those around are not familiar. The communion of their hearts is with the scenes of the past, and the companions of other years who have long ago passed away. Lover and friend have been taken from them, and their acquaintance laid in darkness. The forms they admired and loved are gone, and eyes that looked into theirs with the tenderest affections are sightless, and the voices that cheered and stirred their souls have long been silent. Their early world of hope and joy has become a desolation, and they in silence contemplate the ruln that has been wrought. They have but little to interest them in the world. They are pilgrims and strangers here. "Only waiting till the shadows Are a little longer grown," to finish their course and rest from their labors. Who would not do what he can to cheer the loneliness of age, to smooth their pathway, and comfort them in their declining years?

Paritanical. Thinking of the old paths and how the fathers and mothers walked in them, we could not help wishing that the Christian families of to-day walked even as they walked. They had family altars. They catechised their children. They encouraged and required them to memorize the Scriptures. They believed in the Bible, the whole Bible, Supreme Court to test the constitution- | Lord" was to them the end of all controversy. Word and Way. A Benefactress' Kind Act. From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich. Mrs. John Tansey, of 130 Baker Street, Detroit, Michigan, is one of those women who always know just what to do in all trouble and sickness. One that is a mother to those in distress. To a reporter she said: "I am the mother of ten children and have raised eight of them. Several years ago we had a serious time with my daughter, which began when she was about six-teen years old. She did not have any serious illness but seemed to gradually waste away. Having neverhad any consumption in our family, as we come of good old Irish and Scotch stock, we did not think it was that. Our doctor called the disease by an

She gained in flesh rapidly and soon was in perfect health. The medi-cine used was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I have always kept these pills in the house since and have recommended them to many people. I have told many mothers about them and they have effected some wonderful cures.

"E very mother in this land should keep these pills in the house, as they are good for many aliments, particularly those arising from impoverished or diseased blood, and weakened nerve force."

The Art of Complimenting. Compliments are the poetical touches which redeem the monotony of prosaic existence. In the intercourse of sympathetic people they have a natural place, and it is as pleasant to recognize by word or look the charms of our friends as it is to profit by them. Profit we do, undoubtedly, as all that makes life fairer makes it better, and a wholesome discernment of good traits must add to our faith in human nature and its capabilities. Rigid moralists doclare that compliments are so akin to flattery that it is wrong to use praise in any way. This is "most intolerable, and not to be endured," for all need both to give and receive encouragement in this practical and hurrying world. And, reprehensible as hard natures find it, there is a charm in opening our eyes to the attractions of others and a warm, healthy glow accompanies the utterance of words which attest our admiration.
