

NEGRO AIRMEN REQUESTED FOR NAVY

Committee On Naval Affairs Petitioned

WASHINGTON—After winning a successful fight to get special provision for the training of Negro air pilots in the U. S. Army, Edgar G. Brown, president of the United Government Employees, went immediately before the Committee on Naval Affairs in the Senate with a plea that similar provision for the training of Negro pilots be made for the Navy.

GIVEN HEARING

Mr. Brown's statement before the Committee on training Negro

Naval pilots, as published in the "Hearings," reads in part: "The advent of these new faces of colored Americans in the Navy's air defense might well prove a most happy situation. It could be very easily accomplished by insertion of specific language authorizing the Secretary of the Navy and providing additional funds on page 2 of H. R. 4278, and likewise, the last page in reference to the amount set forth in this measure for Hampton Roads, Hampton, Va.; the expansion too of Langley Field."

Welfare Plan

Under the old plan of payments the State alone bore the cost of the entire program, while under new provisions it will put up one-half the necessary amount with the national government contributing the remaining funds.

To be eligible for a grant under the old public assistance law it was necessary for an applicant to have lived in the State five out of nine years preceding filing the application, while 1939 changes lowered the residence to two out of five years with the residence having to be continuous for the year immediately preceding filing the application as was the case under the former statute. Statute changes were provided to make for better and more thorough cooperation with other States and Federal agencies in caring for recipients under the public assistance program.

Eligibility of a dependent child to receive a public assistance grant and the right of a county welfare board to make the award under the new law will not be affected by the provision of the statute that a deserting parent must be apprehended and charged with support of the child.

Applications for old age assistance and aid to dependent children will no longer have to be verified by the oath of the applicant.

AC—Are the tales which my Sister and kids tell about my man friend true?

Ans—There seems to be some basis for truth in the tales which have been told you concerning the man. More than a little will remain as truth after shaving off a few corners of exaggerations. I would like to suggest that you go back to your home city this Summer, even if only for a visit.

Lonesome Lover: I have been going with a girl for nine years. I have made numerous attempts to quit her, but each time I come back. Has she got me tricked?

Ans—No she does not have you tricked, neither could she do so if she wishes to. But she certainly does have you eating out of her hand. You failure to stick to your decision if due to your will power. So long as you are willing to be a mouse, instead of a Man, she will continue to use you for a good thing.

MLC—I am a constant reader of your column and it really tickles me the way you get folks told. Is my boy friend as serious as he pretends and will we ever marry?

Ans—Within a period of One Year you will be Mrs. F. D.

OJ—Please tell me will this idea I have in mind ever bring me success and tell me just what to do about it?

Ans—This little idea of yours will cost a small fortune to put over. Your only hope then, is to secure the backing of someone with influence and capital. You can't ever hope to handle this thing entirely by yourself see if you can't interest the right party to back you.

GK—God told me in a dream to write and ask you if I should sell my home and move out to California?

Ans—You certainly had an unusual dream. My advice would be to keep your home. You know anything about California and don't know a soul out there.

You have a little cash in the bank. Why don't you take an excursion trip to the World's Fair in San Francisco and you could find out for yourself what life in California was like.

DLB—My husband died and left me with seven small children to support. I live on a farm and have managed to buy two mules, but I fear that I am not able to do the work. Won't you help me to get another way of earning a living for myself and children?

Ans—I regret that I am unable to furnish you with any definite information. I am sure a change is indicated soon. Try to do the you can, on the farm with the help of your two oldest boys. As you are still comparatively young, I would suggest that you try to find another responsible man whom you could marry.

LWS—I want to marry this man, but he says that he is afraid of another woman and cannot marry me now. Should I wait?

Ans—Love and eath wait on no man. Every one has only a certain number of years life ahead of them. It is your right to be able to enjoy as many of them as possible. He will never marry you, because he don't want to do so. He is not afraid of the other woman, he is in LOVE WITH HER.

EB—I have been hampered as to what I should do. Must I go away this summer?

Ans: Yes, do. You need the change, and when the fall of the year rolls around you will be like a different person. The change will do your nerves good.

Bennett Honors Dr. Holgate At Dedication

GREENSBORO—Dr. Thomas F. Holgate of Evanston, Ill. in whose honor the new Library at Bennett College was dedicated on Sunday, April 16 in Greensboro, North Carolina, Doctor Holgate has been a member of the board of trustees of the institution since 1926, when singularly enough he was sent to Greensboro by the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal church to make recommendations as to the future of the college. As a result of his careful study at this time, Dr. Holgate made the recommendation which brought about the reorganization of the institution into a college exclusively for young women. He is treasurer of the board and has continued through the years as one of the most ardent supporters. Dr. Holgate was born 80 years ago in Ontario having received his education at the University of Toronto and Clark University in 1893 and after that time was honored by both the University of Illinois and the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign with the LL.D. degree. He was an active member of the faculty of Northwestern University for forty-one years, during which time he was successively Professor of Mathematics, Dean of the Liberal Arts College, and Acting President. He now holds the position of Dean Emeritus of that institution and is an authority in the field of finance.

THOMAS F. HOLTGATE

Among other interesting positions held by Doctor Holgate are Visiting Professor of the University of Nanking, China in 1921-22, Secretary of the International Congress of Mathematicians in Rome, Italy in 1908, and active membership of the Board of Education of the ME Church since 1924. He has written two geometries and a translation of Rey's Geometry of Position.

Prof. Jackson Davis of the General Board of New York City delivered the principal address on Sunday. Others who participated in the service were Doctor Willis J. King, Atlanta, Ga., Doctor W. C. Jackson, of Greensboro, President M. S. Davage, Atlanta, Ga. Doctor Merrill J. Holmes, Chicago, Mrs. Jane H. Freeman, Delaware, Ohio, H. Ferguson, Raleigh, O. C. Poundstone, Atlanta, Ga., Bishop Wallace E. Brown, Tenn., and Mrs. W. H. C. Good, Sidney, Ohio.

A Librarians' Conference on Saturday prior to the dedication formally opened the Thomas F. Holgate Library. This conference honored Miss Florence R. Curtis, director of the Hampton Institute Library School, who was present and participated in the afternoon discussion. Other participants were Miss Zora Neale Hurston, Author, Maitland Fla. Mrs. Gaynelle Wright Bark sidle, Atlanta University, and Miss Enda Ruth Hanley, Angel Scott College, Decatur, Ga.

It was pointed out that a foreign mission program is a fruitless one unless there is established a home mission as well. The speaker showed the importance of the work of home missions in rescuing persons who might, except for the influence of the mission turn, to crime as a result of a hard life in slum districts.

Mrs. Hoover also described the benighted condition of those Mexicans who have come to America with no religious training or as worshippers of idols. Many Americans instead of regarding the educating and Christianizing of these foreigners as their duty, merely look upon the Mexicans as curious and colorful persons to be stared at on a sightseeing tour.

AMERICAN INDIANS INCREASE

GREENSBORO—Mrs. L. E. Hoover, Bureau Secretary for Indian Work of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the ME church with Headquarters at Lincoln, Nebraska, gave very informative lectures at Bennett College, Greensboro, recently. "At least ninety per cent of the Indian population is as ignorantly pagan as any tribe in the heart of Africa," said Mrs. Hoover in referring to the superstitions and social customs that exist today among Indian tribes. She further stated that the Indian population in the United States and Alaska had doubled itself since Columbus discovered America. Though there is a great need for further help for these distressed people, Mrs. Hoover was not unmindful of the many blessings that had come to them at the hands of the United States government, and the Episcopal, Methodist and Baptist denominations. There are 161 Indian reservations, the stronghold being in the southwest, although much of their land is tied up in long term leases. Mrs. Hoover was not convinced of the wealth of the Indian that is often referred to, for only one out of every 800 are operating their own oil wells, she stated. Though the Indian is pagan, and in a large measure has been denied the privilege of school facilities, he has much of beauty and culture to offer, Mrs. Hoover averred.

WINDSOR CENTER

WINSBOR—Last week was the last week of regular indoor recreation center activities at Windsor, Jonesboro, Price, and Terra Cotta Community Centers it was announced today by the Negro Division of the Greensboro Recreation Commission, directed by Harry K. Parker. Statistical reports have not yet been completed, but there are all indications that the attendance and participation in Negro Recreation activities in the city increased by several thousand over that of last year. At the Windsor center, which has been directed by Norman Watts, activities and "special" events were centralized for all of the other centers. Outstanding events during the winter have included the second annual open house community dance, kiddies boxing tournament, Xmas festival, father-son and mother and daughter banquets, folk dances and novelty programs, staff planning conferences, community recreation forum, state basketball tournament, men's recreation club smoke, band concert, winter roasts, thanksgiving and halloween frolics, and addresses by specialists of the National Recreation Association of New York City, including Ethel Bowler, R. E. Carlson, Arthur Jones, E. T. Attwell and Doctor Clarence Cameron White.
