Discuss Adult Education; Gaines Case Ignored

WASHINGTON, (ANP)—Twenty three president and representatives of Negro land grant colleges in the United States closed a three day convention here Wednesday, after having heard some of the more brilliant minds in this section express their views on adult education and the Negro land grant colleges.

Holding their sessions in Douglas had at Howard university, members of the convention heard the discussions which pointed toward a new field for expansion of their services.

Steering as far away as possible from any discussion of the Gaines decision as it affects their institutions, delegates made infrequent and chary references to the decision and hewed as close as possible to their prepared program.

"However," said John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State College, "this convention has accomplished two things of import. The first is bringing forcibly to our members, the proximity of adult education and its needs and values to the Negro. This is important because soon large sums of money are to be released by the federal government for the extension of this work and we want to be on the ground floor when such appropriations are made."
