Young Singer Wins Acclaim At Town Hall

DOROTHY MAYNOR WINS HIGH BRAISE FOR TOWN HALL DEBUT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, (Special to the TIMES)—Miss Dorothy Maynor, the twenty eight year old soprano, who made her debut before a packed audience at Town Hall here Sunday evening, November 19, "proved that she had virtually everything needed by a great artist—the superb voice; one of the finest that the public can hear today; exceptional musicianship and accuracy of intonation; emotional intensity, communicative power."

This was the glowing tribute paid the former soloist of the Hampton Institute choir who won the praise of Koussevitzky and members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at a special reception given by the composer at the Berkshire Festival last Summer. The tribute came from Olin Downes, famous music critic of the New York Times who devoted a full length column to Miss Maynor's concert.

Despite the nervous reaction in some of her numbers, due no doubt to her consciousness of the fact that this was a critical debut audience that had come to hear a singer whose praises have been sung up and down the land during the past several months, Downes concluded his review with the statement that the youthful soprano "should be able to reach almost any height as one of the leading concert singers of her generation."

URBAN LEAGUE FELLOWSHIP AWARDED PENN GRADUATE

NEW YORK, (Special)—The second of two fellowships of 1200 each for study in the field of social work will go to Vernor C. R. Duckrey, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, the National Urban League announced this week. The fellowship is maintained through a fund established "In memory of Anthony Benet."

Mr. Duckrey is a native of Philadelphia. He attended State Teachers College, Cheyney, Pa., from 1931 to 1933 and the University of Pennsylvania from 1935 to 1937. Since that time he has taken courses each year in the graduate school of the University.

He will be assigned to study at the New York School of Social Work, and will enter in the winter quarter.

Mrs. Dorothy B. Fass, also of Philadelphia and a University of Pennsylvania graduate, received the first of two Benet fellowships awarded this year. She entered the New York School of Social Work in September.

Other fellowships given by the National Urban League this year included two for study in the field of consumer cooperatives and one for work at the University of Pittsburgh. The award for work in the cooperative field went to Barrington Dunbar and John Harmon, of New York City. Both are now enrolled at Rochdale Institute, the national training school in consumer cooperative League of the U. S. A.

The University of Pittsburgh fellowship, maintained jointly by the National and the Pittsburgh Urban Leagues, went to Mrs. Ruth Hamlin Bell of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Since the National Urban League was organized in 1910, it has awarded more than ninety fellowships to colored students, all of whom are now engaged in some phase of social work among

Lest We Forget

The milling crowds who will cluster up the street during the incoming Yuletide Season will not think for a moment of the terrific power that they have in their hands.

A stranger walking down Main Street in Durham on any of these evenings would no doubt be startled that the manifestation of so much potential wealth at one time.

But would the stranger see what so many see and have seen in many cities, the tremendous power that the consumers have? Would he be able to visualize the scene behind the scenes of boys and girls, men and women, trained and intelligent without employment and denied the same simply because they happened to be a minority group.

Those who do have vision realize the awe inspiring power that the consumers have; through this medium alone can equal opportunities we ask for and in some instances even demand recognition. The successful maneuvering and mobilization of consumers power in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities is example enough of what could be accomplished. With all of the varied comments we have in our various cities it shouldn't be a difficult task to make a single unit of at least five or six to work out this present need.

Man has many hungers, learned psychologists say. Some have destructive hungers and the more fortunate have creative hungers.

First as the hunger of a suckling babe for its mother's life giving food; second the hunger of a little school boy to be admired by his fellows to excel in physically and scholastically third; the eager restless hunger of the untried adolescent, budding manhood and womanhood hungry for action; fourth the hunger of the young man for success and a place of honor in his community and in his chosen field; fifth the hunger of middle age for swift fleeting use and beauty; sixth the hunger of maturity for stability, name, power, security and freedom from poor boss scares; seventh the hunger of age for companionship and love, and comfort from the remorse of task ill done, for the fire of youth's forgetfulness to shade its stricken setting sun.

The majority of these hungers can partially be appeased by the correct use of our consumers power.

HOME OF HOWARD PRESIDENT HAS ANOTHER FIRE

WASHINGTON, (A N P)—For the second time within a year, President Mordecai W. Johnson and family were routed from their home on Howard University campus by fire last Wednesday night. Firemen reaching the scene found Dr. Johnson busily spraying a fire-extinguisher on blazing rubbish in the basement, and rang in a second alarm when flames were discovered creeping up inside the walls. For a time the 30 year old structure was threatened with complete destruction.

BISHOP NOAH WILLIAMS, words carry weighty conviction. He told the young people at St. Louis annual AME conference to discuss practical education to the young people of his Episcopal district, and from the serious facial expression of the children pictured above, his CAMDEN, S. C. (Special to the TIMES)—Mullins high was the victim of the eighth straight victory for Mather Academy's "Blue Wave" on field, November 24, by a score of 39-0.

Mather eleven made their first touchdown after only two plays, when Bill Bailey ran from his own 45 to Mullins' 10 yard line. In the next play, Bailey took the ball into the end zone for the touchdown.

Other outstanding plays were a 40 yard pass from McGirt to Calhoun in the second quarter for a touchdown, and a 30 yard pass to A. Baynard in the last quarter also for a touchdown.

This was the first defeat that Mullins has experienced for two years.

WE ARE THANKFUL

By W. W. Stradwick

NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE AND A & T CLASSIC

WE THANK GOD for a commonwealth that provides in a measure for all of its people in these perilous times. That we can strive, seek, and live in peace and harmony on this side of the Atlantic. That we do have an institution that can adequately entertain 7000 people not for war—but for a peaceful demonstration of that glorious pastime—we call football.

WE THANK GOD for the mysterious element we call "fellowship" that is more than profusely demonstrated in a football stadium than in any other place in our social system. Coaches, businessmen, clergymen, professors, lawyers, doctors etcetera, all become one indivisible howling mob yelling for the blood of the opposing team and pat each other on the back heartily. We would that this atmosphere could remain—strife cease—and the idealistic aims of the Master could better be achieved.

Addressing the student body after the game Dean Elder, Dean of North Carolina College, remarked, "I said we had one of the best teams in the CCAA—and I still say we have by the fighting spirit that was shown on Turkey Day."

This opinion is shared I believe by the majority of the group who have seen the 1939 model of the Eagles in action especially as they were on Thursday in that never to be forgotten battle in O'Kelly field. O'Kelly, those of the milling hundreds who have had the privilege of knowing this venerable old gentleman and scholar Dean O'Kelly could almost hear him saying in his clear resonant measured tones, "Gentlemen we Please turn to page seven
