Lincoln University Of Missouri Seeks Funds for Expansion

Jefferson City, Missouri — To the "friends of Lincoln University" recently went an appeal from University authorities urging citizens of the 114 counties in the state of impress upon their representatives and senators of the 61st General Assembly now in session the need for supporting Lincoln's $3,500,000.00 appropriation request.

A printed folder, addressed to at least two residents of each county, details the items for which the University has asked fund for the next two years. The budget, largest ever to be submitted by the Missouri institution, comes at a time when the school is celebrating its 75th Anniversary and re-examining its objectives and program. President Sherman Scruggs, now completing his third year in office, is particularly anxious that Lincoln's next seventy five years get a fresh start minus dilapidated, hazardous, poorly heated structures, over taxed building, and insouciant roadways and landscaping. He is indeed aware of the difference in stipend at Lincoln and at the University of Missouri as well as the probability of increased course offerings in the future.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS WITH BANG

BY TED YATES

New York, (TYP) — The cry of "Batter Up!" "Play Ball!" and the heckling of the umpires, plus popcorn, candies, tobaccos, peanuts, ice cream and sodas—the roar of the crowd at the crack of a bat that has driven out a home run. The whiff of the hollow stick as a third strike has been delivered—it all has to do with a game as American as Democracy and as democratic as a handshake. That's baseball. And so, on Sunday, May 11, weather permitting, Harlem's favorite sons and daughters who follow the national pastime will jam the Yankee Stadium when the lid of the 1941 season is lifted.

The famous Philadelphia Stars cross bats with the celebrated New York Black Yankees in the season's opener. It will offer fans a great many entertaining features that will include almost anything from a brass band or two, lead by a winsome majorette track and field events, and possibly a dance contest between the sparkling double header. Yes, a picnic, so to speak. It will be fun!

Metropolitan fans are baseball hungry from a sept-o-logical point of view. The return to the Quaker line up of "Red" Parnell and Patterson has got the town all keyed up. The Yanks figure to cop, what with obtaining two of the game infielders, Harry Williams and Dick Seay.

Batter Up, Play Ball! Watch that pitcher pitcher!

Hey, boy! Two franks—one for the girl friend, one for me. Yes, siree, Bob! The ol' ball game.

FUNERAL IN WASHINGTON FOR CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL, 80, FOUNDER OF N. A. C. P.

Washington — Funeral services were held here Saturday, April 26 for Charles Edward Russell, 80, who was one of three persons most active in organizing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The other two are William E. Walling and Miss Mary White Ovington.

One of the most pleasant events of the past week end was the Bridge Tournament sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Good Samaritan Hospital. The affair was held at West Charlotte School on Friday night, April 25th. A large number of interested bridge players were divided into sections. The four first prizes were won by Mr. Arthur Grier, Z. S. Hargrave, Miss Louis Spears and Mrs. Charlotte Denson. Second prizes went to James H. Murphy, Jack Martin, Miss Hattie Russell and Miss Grace Crawford. Third prizes were awarded Roy Perry, Odell Graham, Miss Fay Brown, and Mrs. Cora Borton. Low score prizes were presented to Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Renn, Junior Mrs. Bertha Davidson and Mrs. Irma Thornton.

From 1909 to the time of his death, Mr. Russell was uncompromising in his stand that every right be granted to Negro citizens.

One of his chief interests was the correction of false statements appearing in texts and other books about the American Negro; his contributions and his place in the life of the country. It is chiefly through his influence that the Association has worked out a technique for tracing and correcting statements derogatory to the race.

Mr. Russell's last published article "A Call for Real Unity" appeared in the April CRISIS. It contained a fiery and stirring appeal for "one tenth of the population of all residents of the country, the most distinguished for unswerving and unselfish devotion to it."

Story Telling Closes At Public Library

Durham — The Story Telling Institute sponsored by the Stanford L. Warren Public Library was brought to a close this week. The Institute, a course designed to instruct persons in the art of story telling was conducted for four weeks by Miss Jane Wilson of the Durham Public Library Staff.

Bull Team To Clash With Gate City Pros Sunday Afternoon

Durham — The Greensboro Red Sox, who will be arch-rivals of the Durham Bulls in the Piedmont race this summer, will make their first appearance of the current season on the local diamond when they mix with the Bulls here, Sunday, May 4. The game is an added dish for Durham Fandon, being transferred here because of the fact no Sunday ball is played in Greensboro. Durham and Greensboro should be natural rivals in baseball. They are in many other ways, but not since 1933 have they met in a Piedmont League ball game. Durham dropped out of the circuit after that season and remained out until 1936. When the Bull City returned to the fold, Greensboro was out, and the city making it return this year.

Rocky Mount's franchise was transferred to the Gate City during the past winter, and the colorful and fiery Heinie Manush remains at the Helm of the club. With Heinie in a Greensboro uniform, the fur should fly out at Athletic Park next Sunday when the two teams renew a feud of long standing which has been dormant for seven years.

Notes to & from a Milk Man

My child doesn't like milk. What shall I do?

Dear Mother,

Distressed Mother.

The fact that you realize your child should drink milk regularly shows that you are an intelligent mother. No other single food is as important as Milk.

One of the best ways to encourage children to drink milk is for the Mother and Father themselves to drink milk in front of the children. If they see you drink milk, they too will probably want some. Set an example by drinking a glass of milk with every meal with the children.

Yours truly,
Durham Dairy Salesman.
