LAMENT FOR OLD BLACK JOE

Alas! There is no Swannee River, There are no Old Folks at home, I've looked in vain for Old Black Joe
In his old Kentucky Home,
And only in my fonest dreams Can I hear the banjos ring,
And sometimes under fancy's spell
I hear the darkies sing,
Oh please come back then, Old Black Joe
And sit at your old cabin door,
You can smoke your pipe and dream and sing,
You won't be a slave any more!
—By Caroline Kitt Drake.

At the right of the picture is Johnnie Hudgins, internationally known star of Lew Leslies Blackbirds. At the center is S. H. Dudley, producer. Extreme right is none other than Silas Green, himself.
