A. You can cash your Bond at any time, after 60 days, for the full amount paid, plus any interest due you.

Q. Do many Bond owners cash their Bonds?

A. No. People want to help arm America against air attacks. In many cases, people are putting every cent they can spare into Defense Bonds and Stamps. Some are doing this by asking employers or banks to withhold part of their salaries in order to buy these Bonds or Stamps for them.

AMERICA'S OUTSTANDING ADVISOR ON LIFE'S PROBLEMS

IN THE SHADOW OF THE STARS

BY PROF. ABBE WALLACE

RW—Is he planning to marry me this time or what do you think will happen?

Ans: Postponing marriage seems to be his only aim. No, he still hasn't definitely made up his mind to marry you. Give this man up and stop fooling with him for he has brought you nothing but disappointments for the past three years.

LC—My lady wrote me to come where she is and start working for her again and I wish to know if I would be satisfied that far away and would I like it?

Ans:—The job is a good one and I am sure that you would like to make the trip. Take it for the coming winter season and if you like it—continue on. You have known her long enough to know that she will treat you right and you will be fond of the place too.

JC—What is the main reason my husband is acting strange? Should I take him at his word that he isn't any good and I should get someone else? Why didn't we get along?

Ans:—You two made your first mistake when you separated. You should have gotten you an apartment and moved away from your mother's home. Now that you have separated—both of you have been running around and it isn't likely that you will ever be congenial again. Take him at his word and get your divorce if you like for he doesn't intend to get a place for you to live.

MAB—For some time I have considered leaving home because my grandmother is so mean to me. It seems the more I do the worse she gets. I wonder if I could get along alright?

Ans:—If you aren't able to take care of yourself at 23 years of age, then you won't ever be. Of course you can manage. Don't go any distance away. Get a place to stay on the job if you can for awhile and come home on week ends. The change will do you good as well as your grandmother. She will change later on.

LM—I met a man before Xmas and he was much older than I was but I loved him. Now he talked about me to his friends and they even told me. I sent him some presents and he sent them back. Now tell me what is his reason for doing this? Will he ever ask forgiveness?

Ans:—No, I am afraid that he won't. He treated you like a dear sweetheart until he found out the trouble he had caused you and now he is trying to itch out of his obligation. He isn't going to wilfully do anything for you or the child to be either. Work as much as you can and prepare to look after this child alone.

EIS—Please tell me why did this woman tell that I was out with her husband?

Ans:—Someone passed the gossip to her and she accepted it without doubting it one bit. I am sure that she is going to find out quite differently. Since you have become a grass widow you will be mighty careful who you go with as the least little thing you might do will cause gossip even if it isn't based on facts.

PM—My life is so unhappy and my friends few. I would like for you to help me. I have a young man friend who seems to be nice and he loves me and mother doesn't like him she says he's low brow. Tell me what I should do?

Ans:—Your mother is trying to keep you from falling in love with anyone until you are old enough, and you are too young to marry now. She feels you are getting entirely too serious with this man friend. Follow her advice and you won't have any regrets. The boy you are going with is a nice fellow but don't spend all of your time with him. Encourage other friends too.

Mrs. Glover Takes Oxford Orphanage Post As Instructor

Mrs. Geneva Whitted Glover, for many months pianist for the Mt. Gilead Baptist Church and accompanist for "Uncle Davo and his Swaneers" over WDNC, has announced that she has tentatively accepted the position offered her at the Colored Orphanage in Oxford. Her duties will be those of a matron and instructor of music.

In offering Mrs. Glover the position, T. A. Hamme, Supt. of the orphanage, stated that he had been observing the church and community projects which she had successfully initiated in the field of music during the past years and expressed great faith in her ability to carry out successfully the program which he has outlined for her.

Mrs. Glover stated to the CAROLINA TIMES that her acceptance of the Orphanage position would be on a thirty day try out basis, as this will be a new type of work for her and she has no way of knowing how she will fit in.

This young woman has been working with church choirs and musical organizations since she was eleven years old although she has held only four different church positions during that time. She is the composer of several songs; has written plays, poems, and radio scripts.

The members of the Mount Gilead church, from which she is asking leave, let her go reluctantly because she has done a tremendous job of playing all of the musical organizations since she was a higher level.
