FEPC Awaits Budget Action On $500,000

Washington, (ANP) — Although Paul V. McNutt settled the question of what was to be done of the President's committee on Fair Employment Practices Monday when he issued the statement covering the Saturday conference and the Monday meeting of the committee, the budget which the committee has recommended has not as yet been approved.

Drawn up a few weeks ago to incorporate a sum of a half million dollars to be expended for the expansion of the committee, the budget was submitted to the War Manpower Commission under whose chairman, McNutt the FEPC operates.

WMC approved the budget and passed it over to the tough budget bureau where the document now repose under the careful scrutiny of the experts in that division.

There is consistent belief that the budget bureau will approve the items included in this document now, that the position of the FEPC has been clarified. They feel the budget is absolutely necessary to carry out the program intended and approved through the series of conferences with the first deputy of WMC, Fowler Harper.

Mr. Harper has concurred in most of the things demanded by the FEPC and has the assurance they are also approved by Mr. McNutt.

White Students

(Continued from Page One) called by Dr. Studebaker's attention by Earl Hanson, superintendent of the Rockland public schools, in a letter which stated, "The faculty, I have been assured by a principal had nothing to do with the election. It was purely a democratic act on the part of the students."

Studebaker in replying to Sapt. Hanson said, "The recognition of merit as exemplified in this act is one of the corner stones of our democracy. Appreciation of ability and worth in individuals regardless of race, creed or condition has a most salutary effect on every one concerned."

Princeton, N. J. — The editors of the Princeton University newspapers "Princetonian" admitted this week in a correspondence with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that for the present, at least, there is "a swan song of our attempt to make Princeton ideals and actions coincide." At the beginning of the present term the paper launched an editorial campaign to alter Princeton's policies of racial discrimination.

On October 22nd the Princeton board of trustees voted against the admission of Negroes. A previous faculty poll had revealed that 79 members demanded admittance of the Negro as against 24 who opposed. The undergraduate polls showed 51 per cent of the student body in favor of the abolishing of the lily white policy.

Alfred Smith Warns Against Optimism Of New WPA Proposals

Washington, (ANP) — That Negro should not be so optimistic about the recent proposal concerning WPA is the opinion of Alfred Edgar Smith, race relations officer of that organization. At present, there are some 375,000 persons on the WPA rolls, a large percentage of whom are colored.

The new idea is to put these workers into war work and to train them wherever possible to take over certain phases of war industries. This also applies to those awaiting appointing to the WPA rolls.

"It is estimated one fourth of the workers currently on the WPA are colored," says Mr. Smith. "Optimism over the removal of colored workers to private industry must be tempered by consideration of facts. Many of them are in the south where there is relatively little war industry and many of them are women heads of families with small children. Sample studies indicate high median age for workers and many of these will not fit into existing training projects."

"In case of women, a large number are physically unable to do laundry work or any domestic work now existing. Another factor to be considered is that a number of colored workers have already left the rolls for cotton picking and farm work. But in a month or so, they will be unemployed and seeking reemployment on WPA unless they are absorbed by private industry."

Mr. Smith was asked about the discontinuance of school lunches now being talked of in the capital.

"It is possible that this is true and it is too bad that our best projects, recreation and school lunches, must be curtailed of a lack of workers. Unless we compete with private industry and pay higher wages instead of the security wage now given these workers, we must eliminate them. If we pay higher wages, or the prevailing wage, it means lower workers."

There are at present, 25,000 WPA careles in training courses. Of this number, fully 10,000 are colored.

Grady "Rough House" Smith, dangerous Aggie end, from East Chicago, Ind. is seen pulling the pigskin out of the ozone. Out for conference honors, he is polishing up on his receiving for his homecoming game with the Virginia State Trojans.

People with incomes between $1,500 and $3,000, who lional income, are purchasing 42 percent of the ordinary life insurance policies sold in 1942. The $5,000 and over income group, receiving 31.6 percent of the national income, are purchasing 25 per cent of the ordinary life policies.

Camp Butler, N. C. — The 129 Ordnance Motor Base Shop Regiment stationed at Camp Butler has one of the largest collection of qualified riflemen under 21 years of age serving at this combat training camp.

Leading this parade of young dead-eyes is 18 year old Private Charles J. Diamond of Fulton, New York, who has qualified as an expert rifleman.

At Fuquay Springs, I met Mr. R. E. Prince, an official of the Bank of Fuquay, who has succeeded in developing Fuquay-Varina into one of the leading Tobacco markets of the state.

I went out to Fuquay High School, where I met the Principal, Mr. J. S. Davis, and Mr. James Speed of the English Department; Mrs. C. H. Winters, Librarian, and then senior class President, James Rogers. The school has a wonderful plant, employing twenty-four teachers.

At Laurel Hill, I met and had a long talk with Mr. R. D. Sanders of the Morgan Mills. He told me that he had met a number of race people, and among whom he felt had a number of friends.

War Information - Down at the N. C. College for Negroes I met O.W.'s Dr. Heninburg who in a masterful manner explained "The Education for Victory Program." Here I loaded my brief case with much informative data which I shall attempt to introduce into the schools as I go about the four corners of North Carolina.

Gov. Announced

There are no exemptions and under the ruling to operate and provide jobs for the hundreds of workers seeking them, both white and colored, the United States government would have to pay a sum of $69,000 annually in license fees alone.

The south has always been opposed to migration of Negroes and immigration of whites. They have fought all efforts to infiltrate the south with foreign born workers, declaring they would prefer keeping the "native strain" pure. On the other hand, the only time the south ever fostered or encouraged emigration of Negroes was during the time that Jeff Davis was governor of Arkansas. He pardoned all Negro convicts provided they left the state and settled in Mississippi.

It is the hope of the association that through its meeting in this institution the advisability of integrating more Negroes in the medical and administrative staffs will be apparent to the trustees of Reynolds.

William M. Rich, superintendent of Lincoln Hospital, Durham, is president of the conference, while Mr. Stafford, administrator of Norfolk Community Hospital, is secretary. Dr. L. C. Downing, superintendent of Burrell Memorial Hospital Roanoke, Va., is vice president and Mrs. Geneva Collins Hunt, superintendent of the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital, Greensboro, N. C., is treasurer.

In addition to the technical discussions during the two day conference, there is a public meeting at Hanes Institutional Memorial Church, Thursday evening, at which Miss Edna I. Prudie, R. N., will preside.

There will also be speeches by Dr. J. B. Whittington, medical director, city hospital system, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Dr. H. D. Malloy, representing the Twin-City Medical Society; and Mrs. can republic are facing as a result of disruption of their foreign trade
