TWO NORTH CAROLINA WOMEN FROM GREENVILLE AND ROCKY MOUNT IN NEW WAAC GROUP AT DES MOINES

FORT DES MOINES, Ia. — Two Auxiliaries from the state of North Carolina are included in the group of Negro women who have started training in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at First WAAC Training Center, Fort Des Moines, Ia. Their Auxiliary rating is WAAC equivalent of Private in the Army.

The new WAACs are: Auxiliaries Ethel R. Knight of Greenville and Beatie M. Jayner of 511 Goldleaf St., Rocky Mount.

The new Auxiliaries received their WAAC uniforms and clothing and Army General Classification Tests during their first week in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. They are now in Basic Training where they are learning Army routine and procedure.

At the completion of Basic Training, they will be assigned at once to office or other work or will go to WAAC Specialist Schools for additional training in office administration, motor transportation, baking and cooking or radio to prepare them for the almost 100 different non-combat jobs which WAACs are doing in the Army. They also will have an opportunity to apply for officer training at an Officer Candidate School.

Before her enrollment in the WAAC Auxiliary Knight was a domestic worker in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is a graduate of the training school in Parma, N. C., and is a member of the Women's Auxiliary and missionary organizations in her church. Auxiliary Knight, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knight of Greenville, has an uncle overseas with the Army.

Auxiliary Jayner, who lived in Rocky Mount with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jayner, was formerly a beautician.

Advice ON THE PROBLEMS OF LIFE
by ABBE WALLACE SERVICE
"LET US REASON TOGETHER IN WISDOM AND UNDERSTANDING"

PT — I'm a married girl of 18. My husband is in service. Some of his people wrote him and told him I was running around. Now he doesn't like this a bit and I don't either. How does his folks feel toward me? He's coming home soon and I want to know.

Ans: When the cat is away, the mice will play. You are running around were you not? Too bad, that his family had to write him as this kind of news certainly isn't pleasant. His people don't dislike you, but they do not want to see you have while your husband is away. You had better start walking the straight and narrow before he gets home. Remember to keep it up when he leaves. You're married now and you must not try to act like a single girl.

GR — I'm very unhappy here at home. I'm 15 and live with my mother and step-father. My father is married again and I just love his wife. I want to live with them. How can I tell my mother? I'm so unhappy here that I tried to get rid of myself once. Help me.

Ans: — Write to your father and ask permission to visit with him when school is out. An invitation is all that you need to convince your mother that your father wants to help with your upkeep, and she will give her consent. To arrange to spend part of your time with both parents will make it more pleasant for you.

WMG — I am writing a boy in camp whom I do not know. His aunt is a neighbor of mine. We exchanged photos. Now he wants me to visit him at his expense and let his aunt come along as a chaperon. I refused. Was I right, or should I have asked permission to go?

Ans: You made the right decision. Your parents never would have given their consent, if you were wise of you not to have approached the subject. The young man can't think any less of you for declining his invitation in fact, he should respect you more. If you write the soldiers, do not let your letters become personal keep them on a friendly basis.

LBA — Is this man giving me a fish story about his love for me? Does he mean it when he says I'm to become his wife?
Ans: Don't be too eager to swallow his line. Make him prove that his intentions are quite honorable and there is just one way to do that by announcing the engagement and date of marriage. If he takes cold feet then, insist that he find someone else for his "sucker bait."

AS — I have a son 5 years old in the 1st grade. My husband is in the army in Calif. I am a rural teacher earning $45 per month. My nerves are always upset while I'm in the class room. I have had a very strong desire to quit this job and go to Calif. where he is and go to work. What is best for me to do?
Ans: School will soon be out and that will be an ideal time. (Please Turn To Page Four)

3 Thousand Hear Two First Ladies Speak In Chicago

CHICAGO (A N P) — More than 3,000 people turned out Monday evening to catch a glimpse of and to hear the two leading ladies of the land, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, at the Metropolitan Community church.

The occasion was a benefit gathering for Bethune-Cookman college in Florida, founded by Mrs. Mary Bethune and of which Mrs. Roosevelt is a trustee.

"We rise together or we fall together" the First Lady told the audience. Later in speaking of the war situation, she recalled that "in the last war we talked of making the world safe for democracy, of fighting a war to end war, but we did not take it in the sense we do today. We didn't, during the war, think out the kind of world we want, discuss the methods of building it, emphasizing that throughout the world were peoples who had the same aspiration and the same rights to aspire to a new world."

Mrs. Roosevelt also recalled the fact that in every speech made by Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek, "she has stressed the rights of all other peoples."

"We have got to examine ourselves and know that we are working for peace in the world. Peace is not made by signing a paper. All the peace conferences are only the foundation on which we build. This means that all individuals have really got to work for peace. One basis of peace is respect for human beings as human beings. I hope that whenever we see oppression of anyone we are going to stamp it out," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

The audience paid homage to Mrs. Roosevelt in flowers and in songs, but in the midst of it all the First Lady kept knowledge of the fact that another great woman was worthy of much praise, and so she lauded the work of Mrs. Mary McLeod

LOCAL BEAUTICIAN WEDS LIEUT.

In one of the most impressive marriage ceremonies ever performed in the city, Miss Goldie Poteat became the wife of Lieutenant James Killough of Fort Benning, Ga. The groom is a former resident of Kansas City, Kansas and is a graduate of Lincoln High school of that city and a graduate of the Fort Benning Officer's Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. The marriage ceremony was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Pendarvis in the presence of a small group of friends. Mr. Pendarvis served as best man. The vows were made with Rev. Thomas of the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church officiating. The Lieutenant has returned to his post at Fort Benning and the bride still retains her position as beautician in the Vanity Fair Beauty Salon.

Bethune, now director of Negro activities for the NYA.

Mrs. Bethune advised the listeners to "keep your feet on the ground, keep your heads steady and keep your feet in the plowed soil, and you'll attain your goal."

This advise was taken from a speech made about Mrs. Bethune by President Roosevelt who said, "she has her feet on the ground — she even has them in the plowed soil."

Red Caps To Quit For Duration On Account Of Labor Shortage

WASHINGTON, (A N P) — The familiar railroad station red cap will soon be out for the duration, according to information from one of the governmental agencies. Hereafter, and beginning soon, passengers will have to struggle along with their own luggage. The only ones permitted the luxury of a red cap will be invalids and the aged. Of course, the manpower shortage is expected to decimate the big terminals where in some instances as many as 500 to 600 men are employed on the 24-hour shift maintained.

The red caps came into the limelight recently when they sought a minimum wage from the companies operating the terminals. Their case was argued in the U. S. Department of Labor.

"You Help Speed Victory WHEN YOU HELP ME SPEED WAR CALLS!"
Despite record-breaking enlargement of the telephone system in the past two years, the heavy volume of local telephone calls is fast becoming serious.
We cannot enlarge our facilities to handle the increasing number of local calls, because the raw materials we would need are going into the manufacture of munitions of war.
To relieve the load on local lines and central offices, it is necessary for civilians to use the telephone less in order that industries, and war agencies can use it more. If you will contribute by making one-third fewer local calls each day, and ask members of your family and servants to do likewise, we can continue to meet all local war communication needs.
We are confident you will agree that this is not too much of a sacrifice to insure adequate communication facilities for war business. May we count on you for help?
