4-H Safety Workers in All-Out Attempt to Reduce Accidents on Farms in 1949

MR. FARMER, has the 4-H Club member in your family checked your farm and home for accident and fire hazards lately? If not, you can expect him to do so any day now. 4-H'ers are making an all-out attempt to reduce the annual cost of accidents affecting farm folks—including motor vehicle, fire and property damage—which totals more than one billion dollars, or about $35.00 per person! They are also trying to cut down the number of accidental deaths, which kill 51 farm residents in the U. S. every day in the year.

Your 4-H'er doubtless will caution you to drive carefully on highways, and use proper signals when turning or stopping (top right). More than 7,300 rural people are killed annually in motor vehicle accidents. In fact, more fatal automobile accidents occur in rural areas than in any other location.

Falls rank second in farm accident causes. So watch your step when carrying a clothes basket, like the girl shown in right photo. Your 4-H safety worker probably will suggest you tack down throw rugs or put them on non-slip matting, and keep stairways uncluttered. Are your lightning rods properly grounded? The 4-H'ers shown at top left found the ground wires broken, and therefore worthless. Lightning, which is one of the greatest causes of farm fires, each year destroys 20 million dollars worth of farm property, kills 500 farm residents and injures 1,300 others.

National Farm Safety Week will be observed July 24-30. Rural boys and girls taking part in the National 4-H Farm Safety program

Tumblers and other glassware get extra heavy use in summer when the family enjoys cool drinks and chilled desserts. To bring glassware through without casualties, household equipment specialists offer some reminders.

Sudden changes in temperature are responsible for the untimely end of much glassware. Glass expands with heat, contracts with cold, often cracks or breaks when forced to do either too suddenly. This is why hot water should not be poured over fit over the end of faucets, also rubber mats for bottom of sink or dishpan, or for counters on either side of the sink. Many women like rubbercovered dish-drainers.

The time-honored dishwashing rule: "Glass first, silver second, china third," saves nicks, chips and scratches which often result from a miscellaneous jumble in the dishpan. Glass gets first place because it needs clean suds with no trace of grease to come out clear and shining.

The less glass is handled, the less chance of breaking. Many women are finding that by washing with the new detergents glass will come out streakless without wiping.

Last but not least, save glassware with convenient safe storage arrangements. Narrow shelves for tumblers allow each to stand separately with no stacking or doubling up, and no reaching behind.

FREQUENT MARKETING OF EGGS SUGGESTED

When adequate storage facilities are lacking, eggs should be marketed at least two or three times a week to hold their quality in hot weather, farmers were advised this week by Harry Wise of Atlanta, poultry marketing specialist for Production and Marketing Administration.

High temperatures and lack of moisture are enemies of egg quality, Wise said, and extra care in handling is necessary if the farmer is to market summer eggs successfully.

Wise pointed out that the sooner eggs can be taken to receiving stations after they have been gathered, properly cooled, and packed in cartons or cases, the better the quality will be when they reach retail markets.

He offered these other marketing suggestions: Proper packing to reduce quality losses in hot weather. Eggs should be thoroughly cooled before they are stacked, as properly cooled eggs help maintain constant temperature within the cases. On the other hand, he explained, even a few relatively warm eggs can raise the temperature of the entire case high enough to cause a loss of quality.

To protect eggs enroute to market against the summer heat, Wise suggested covering cooled egg cases with a tarpaulin. This will help hold the temperature low and will protect the eggs from the direct rays of the sun until delivery, he said.

QUESTION — Please give me some advice on selecting trees and shrubs for landscaping my yard.

ANSWER—Trees and shrubs selected should not only add beauty to the home grounds but should also serve some useful purpose, says John H. Harris, the "Tar Heel Gardener." They should furnish shade or background or should decorate some part of the house. Another appropriate place would be in the border or at a spot where they will screen off unattractive views. The shrubs should not be planted aimlessly throughout the lawn.

Many trees will add food to the table. These include pecan, chinquapin, black walnut, mulberry, hickory, persimmon, and, in some sections, cherry and pear, all of which will furnish good shade and also provide edible products.

The apple, peach, plum, damson, and crabapple trees will furnish beautiful blossoms and delicious fruit if given a reasonable amount of pruning and spraying. These trees are less hardy, but they can be used as individual shade trees or they may serve as a screen or border with perhaps shrubs in front of them.

Although the grape is not a tree or a shrub, it may furnish shade for a corner of the yard or, if trained on trellis, may serve as a background or boundary planting.

Some of the shrubs which produce edible fruit as well as being ornamental are the quince, elagnus, chokeberry, hazelnut, blackhaw, elderberry, fig, huckleberry, and blueberry.

NEGRO DAIRY SHOWS SLATED NEXT MONTH

Negro youth of North Carolina will compete for ribbons and cash awards in a series of district junior dairy cattle shows to be held this fall, it was announced this week by R. L. Wynn of Greensboro, Negro dairy specialist for the State College Extension Service.

First in the series will be the show at Rocky Mount on September 1st, sponsored by the Rocky Mount Chamber of Commerce. The event at Fayetteville, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held on September 9.

The Greensboro show, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of that City, is slated for September 16, and the show at Monroe, sponsored by the Monroe Merchants Association, will be held on September 23.

Two shows will be held on September 29 — one in Durham and the other in Reidsville.

All breeds of registered dairy cattle are eligible to be shown. The Danish system of judging will be used. Classifications will be junior calf, senior calf, senior yearling, two year olds, three year olds, and four year olds and over.

Hamlet CME Church Scene Of Ushers' Meet

By Miss Annie Mae Farrington
SILER CITY — On Sunday, July 31, the Chatham County Ushers Union held its regular fifth Sunday meeting at Hamlet Chapel C. M. E. Church, Route 1, Pittsboro. The meeting opened with Mrs. Roney McNeil and Mrs. Lodiise Andrews leading the devotional service.

A. D. Clark, president of the Union, presided over the business session. He reminded the members of the Union to be more punctual in the line of duty. Mrs. Lucille Baldwin read the minutes of the previous meeting.

It was resolved that members appointed to committees be more carefully examined as to their willingness to serve. Mr. Clark asked the local boards to try to send delegates to the state convention at Wilmington.

Rev. C. R. White, pastor of Hamlet Chapel, introduced Rev. D. M. Boston, pastor of Saint Joseph C. M. E. Church, Chapel Hill, who was the main speaker on the program.

The program chairman, Mrs. Nannie Mae Cooper, presented members of local churches of the Union in a program of songs, recitations and orations. Miss Mattie Stroud of Holland Chapel Church was the winner in the oratorical contest.

The meeting closed with the finance committee in charge.
