

Duke University Men's Glee Club To Appear Here

The Duke University Men's Glee Club, nationally famous college singers, will appear here on Thursday, April 24, on its Silver Anniversary tour. Celebrating its 25th year under Director J. Foster Barnes, front center above, the 45-man group is making the biggest tour in its history. The performance here, featuring the most varied program ever given by the Duke singers, will be held in B. N. Duke Auditorium at 8:15 P. M. under the sponsorship of the Durham Chapter of the Shaw University Alumni Association.

Rhythm Court Adds Comic Highlight To Duke University Glee Club Show

Boys will be boys, and just for the sake of a laugh, some boys will be girls when the Rhythm Court presents a special attraction on the Duke University Men's Glee Club program here next Thursday evening, April 24. Members from the club's Triple Quartet and Director J. Foster Barnes will combine costume with rhythm talk and walk for the comic highlight of the special Silver Jubilee Tour program. Performers in the Rhythm Court skit above, left to right are: Nelson Jackson, Durham; Jim Earnhardt, Edenton; Parker Duncan, Greensboro; Bill Dean, Live Oak, Fla.; Director Barnes; Maxwell Cooke, Sarasota, Fla.; Tommy Crawford, Gastonia; and Sam Northrop, Greenville.

Set PTA School In Leadership In Greensboro

GREENSBORO The second annual leadership school for the Parent-Teachers Association of the North Carolina 6th and 7th districts will be held at A. and T. College on Saturday, April 18.

Stressing the theme, "Laying A Foundation in PTA work", the conference is expected to attract several hundred representatives from local PTA organizations in 16 nearby counties.

Mrs. A. A. Scott, vice president of the Greensboro Council of the PTA organizations and Mrs. H. S. Davis, president of Colored Parents and Teachers are key note speakers.

A feature of the program is a panel discussion, on "What can the school do to assist in preparing youth for responsible parenthood?" The subject will be handled by Charles Coleman Reidsville, N. C., L. W. Anderson, Miss Mary York, Miss Carolyn Blue, Dr. L. H. Robinson, Miss Leodonia Smith, Mrs. C. L. Otey and Mrs. E. L. Raiford.

Dr. F. D. Bluford, president of A and T, will welcome the conference to the college campus.

The meeting is being held under the supervision of Mrs. Hattie W. Finney and Mrs. C. E. Dean, presidents of the 6th and 7th districts, respectively.

Lincoln Univ. Cites 3 Mags For Service

JEFFERSON CITY The first Lincoln University School of Journalism awards for contributing significantly to the field of better human relations have gone to three national magazines. The magazines are the Ladies Home Journal, Tide, and the Nation. Formal presentation of the Journalism awards will be made at the Headliner Week Awards Banquet on the Lincoln U. campus, April 25. The Journalism faculty chose the winners.

The selection of the Ladies Home Journal grew principally out of the magazine's discovery of a Negro author Elizabeth Vroman, whose story "See How They Run," appeared in the June, 1951, issue and later earned her prize money totaling $2,000.

Tide, a trade organ, has distinguished itself on two occasions, once in 1947 and again last July—with cover feature pieces on the Negro market.

The Nation, a weekly magazine, has demonstrated that an opinion organ can maintain over a long period of years a high proportion of first-class race relations material on its pages and remain successful.

Which One Has "That Look"?

Monthly "Nerves" Are Easy To See

You, too, may not be able to hide that tired, nervous, jittery look each month no matter how much "make-up" you use. Keep your secret safe during "those" days—don't be the one girl in three who shows the strain from tight-tale nerves and cramps—has "that look".

Take Cardui, a special medicine trusted by thousands of women, girls to help insure against "nerves" and other signs of monthly misery. A little Cardui each day helps build strength so resistance may be greater each month, nervousness and suffering less and less. Look more natural—feel and sleep better. Ask your dealer for Cardui.

*Many scientists estimate that at some time during life 1 out of every 3 women suffers from monthly discomforts.
