Drivers Warned Of Dangers On Wet Roads

RALEIGH, N. C.

Roads wet by winter rains require a special driving technique—one that goes far beyond a heavy foot on gas and brake pedals and a quick hand on the wheel, a trucking industry official said here today in connection with the North Carolina Motors Carriers Association's January Courtesy and Safety Campaign.

J. T. Outlaw, NCMCA Executive Vice President, stated that in working with drivers of commercial vehicles he found that a large percentage of winter time accidents result from drivers blundering into situations where they have to stop or turn suddenly. On slippery pavements, that can't be done.

"Always remember," Outlaw warned, "that the control of your vehicle depends on the friction between the tires and the road, and when that friction is reduced, you've got to drive accordingly."

He explained that on slippery roads, sudden stops and turns set up forces which are greater than the friction controlling the car's path. The result is a skid.

Tests show that the maximum amount of traction is obtained just before the tires begin to slide, therefore drivers should avoid stopping the wheels altogether. To obtain the best possible stop on slick roads, Mr. Outlaw advised drivers to "pump" their brakes; that is, apply and release them rapidly and repeatedly. This procedure lessens the danger of locking the front wheels and losing all steering control.

The professional driver also keeps his engine in gear as long as possible when stopping, because his wheels can't turn any faster than the engine turns, relatively speaking.

A native of South Carolina, he is a graduate of Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and received the Master's degree in practical theology at the University of Chicago, and was awarded the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from the latter institution in 1946.

His wide area of service to young people includes work with the Young Men's Christian Association in Philadelphia, Pa. and Atlanta, Ga.; pastor of the First Congregational Church, Atlanta, Ga., pastor and past Moderator of Tennessee State Conference of Congressional Christian Churches, and Dean of men and minister at Fisk University since 1934.

The theme for the religious emphasis week is "The Mission and Message of Jesus" and it will be sponsored and conducted by members of the Religious Activities Committee, student leaders of the Christian Organizations, and Bishop Raymond L. Jones of the A. M. E. Zion Church who is a resident of the city.

The one day institute will feature a parade of specialists from State College and A. and T. College, touching off the various farm and home phases already set up in the 1953 Wake County program.

Featured on the institute program and subjects covered will be Farm and Home Loans, A. R. Russell, Farmers Home Administration; 4-H Member and Parent, W. C. Cooper, 4-H Club Specialist; Family Relationships, Mrs. Corine Grimstey, Family Relations Specialist.

Also Liquid Fertilizers and Tobacco Diseases, S. J. Hodges, Agronomy Specialist, The Family Milk Cow and "A" Grade Dairies, R. L. Wynn, Dairy Specialist; Housing and Farm Water Systems, Pauline Gordon, House Furnishings and Housing Specialist, and R. M. Ritchie, Agricultural Engineering Specialist.

Dr. David S. Weaver, Director of the State College Extension Service, will summarize the educational institute at the end of the proceedings.

All farmers and their families are expected to be present.

Fathers To Be Honored During NCC's 1st Annual Sports Festival, Feb. 6-7

DURHAM

Fathers of North Carolina College's students will be honored here February 6-8 during a week-end that will also feature a special Midwinter Sports Carnival and Homecoming.

Dean John L. Stewart has planned, in cooperation with the college's men's organizations, a full round of social, religious, and entertainment activities for the visiting fathers who are being offered housing and meals on NCC's campus.

National alumni president J. T. Taylor and Durham Alumni head A. M. Rivera, Jr., together with Student Government Association President James L. Atwater are working on the carnival program. Crowning of a "Miss NCC Winter Homecoming" is expected to be among the features of the sports attraction which will be highlighted with two CIAA basketball games on Friday and Saturday nights, Feb. 6 and 7. Intercollegiate swimming and tennis will also be featured.

Climaxing the sports carnival on the week-end of Feb. 6 (Friday night) will be the basketball game between NCC's Eagles and the West Virginia State College Yellowjackets. Another game on Saturday night between NCC and the Lincoln University Lions will end the sports.

Fathers are expected to arrive on the NCC campus Friday evening to register at Chidley Hall. They will be guests at the cage contest between the Eagles and the Yellowjackets and afterwards the fathers will be entertained at a smoker in Chidley Hall's North Recreation Hall.

A tour of the campus on Saturday night will precede a movie of the 1952 world series at 2 p.m. Officers and members of men's organizations will be introduced between 3:35 and 4:30. A banquet will be held in the College Cafeteria at 6, another basketball game will find the fathers as host at 8 (NCC vs. Lincoln) and a get acquainted party will be staged at 10:15 in Chidley Hall.

Special religious services are scheduled for Sunday.

Do CRAMPS give you that monthly look?

Why let that "monthly" "cramp" show in your eyes? Does your mirror show an older-looking, worn-out, nervous face during your "bad days"? Why let men see that you are suffering from monthly cramps? Try a little Cardui each day as thousands of women do. You have less and less misery each month. Some go through periods without feeling any discomfort at all. Also helps relax jittery nerves—sleep better. Look, feel, act younger, more normal all month. Ask for Cardui. (See "card-you-ee")

THE COUNTRY BOY

Received this letter from an old friend, thought I would share it with you. We wrote about him in one of our columns recently. You people in and around Raeford remember him I'm sure.

Hello Eddie:
How is life serving you these ill-favored days? As for me things are O. K. Trusting you are enjoying the best of everything as you would have it.

The paper was received with great pleasure, carefully read and each important statement recorded. I wish to say that I think you are doing a swell job... just keep the good work up.

Eddie, will you drop your pen just one minute and take time to spell my last name correctly. Thank you. My last name is MARION, that is Marion. And not MORRISON, not Morrison. It seems that everyone has trouble with my last name but you of all persons, an old classmate—I am sure can remember those last six letters. And may I say you can forget the "Del Reo." They call me that here, but at home I am still the same James Foster Marion.

May I close by saying... set your goal and reach it. I remain as always,
A friend,
JAMES FOSTER MARION

The weather and individual surroundings are universal topics for conversation. There is not much that we can do about the weather but there is a lot we can do about our surroundings.

Professional and business people of most communities realize a need for a program that will teach the people the rights of citizenship and the duties of citizens. However, no one is willing, or no one

A lot of progressive communities have an organization called The Committee on Negro Affairs. These organizations are very effective in helping to build a better community. However, as segregation is on the way out, and I do mean out, I suggest that a Committee on the People's Affairs be organized.

In Raeford such an organization should have the support of the ministers of the churches in and around the city. If you would like a progressive community, urge your minister to co-operate with this program.

The boys of the FFA say that, "The life of service is the life that counts," and that, "Happiness is encouraging to mankind when it comes from having helped lift the burdens of others."

This is the year of 1953... We have been told by President Eisenhower that it is time for a change... We must do away with the out-dated philosophy of, ain't nothing, ain't never been nothing, and ain't never going to be nothing."

(ANOTHER ENDORSEMENT OF DRIVE)

By WILMA JOHNS MONTGOMERY (A Local Mother)

As important as the financial resources of the foundation were in contributing to Kenneth's recovery, I believe the entire personnel of the organization did also a job in human relations with parents and children that should surely give all of us in America a greater appreciation for this great land, and a greater confidence in the goodness of the people, the humble people, who make up this land. At times when I was despondent and almost hysterical with agony, I have been cheered by the kind words, the understanding gesture which I believe is more than the professional duty of personnel in convalescent centers which brought my Kenneth back to me. How can I express sufficient gratitude for the many of you people who helped my boy come back to me.
