Asheville Clergy Nixes Crusade Of Evangelist

ASHEVILLE
Local Negro ministers last week rejected an invitation to participate in the Billy Graham Asheville Evangelistic Crusade to be held next month in the city auditorium.
On being informed by an official of the crusade organization that Negroes could participate in the two-weeks long services only on a segregated basis, the Asheville and Buncombe County Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance immediately went on record as opposing any participation or attendance by the membership of its churches in the scheduled revival to be conducted by the world-renowned evangelist Billy Graham. Graham makes his home at nearby Montreat.
In a formal statement released to the press, the ministers' group stated that "we are sure that the Gospel of Jesus Christ does not recognize racial barriers, but is for 'whosoever will.'" Therefore, we feel that the spirit of such a meeting (the Billy Graham Crusade) is inconsistent with the philosophy of the Christian religion, and are unable to lend our support."
The Billy Graham Greater Asheville Crusade is scheduled for November 8-22. A local committee of white ministers and lay leaders is in charge of arrangements. Dr. W. Perry Crouch, pastor of the First Baptist Church is chairman of the executive committee.
The TIMES contacted the Billy Graham headquarters and talked with Willis Haymaker, director for Billy Graham's Crusades. He stated, in answer to the charge of segregation by the Negro ministers, that he knew of no such decision on the matter having been reached; and that such policy matters were governed by the local committee headed by Dr. Crouch.
Dr. Crouch told the TIMES that his committee has taken no (Please turn to Page Eight)

KKK INVITES NEGROES TO JOIN-FOR $1.00

RIVER JUNCTION, FLA.
Want to join the Ku Klux Klan? You can—for one dollar cash. If you're a Negro, of course you'll be placed in an all Negro, segregated klavern.
This was the substance of an invitation issued here this week from the new grand dragon of the Florida Klan.
In his revamped Klan organization, grand dragon C. L. Parker, who took over from retired Bill Hendrix, announced that the former hooded riders of the night have discarded their robes, ritual and color barriers—but not their belief in the divinity of segregation.

Fuquay Couple Die As Kids Play In Yard

FUQUAY-VARINA
A 35 year-old farmer of the Holland community, located some three miles east of here, shot and killed his wife Sunday at their home then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide.
Dead after the murder-suicide were both Worth Moore and his wife, Mrs. Estella Moore, 30.
County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett ruled the deaths murder-suicide.
The couple were reportedly engaged in an argument of undetermined origin early Sunday. When it became heated, Moore took his .12 gauge, single barrel shot gun and fired at his wife from close range.
He then turned the gun on himself and took his own life.
Both are reported as having died shortly after being shot.
Mr. and Mrs. Moore's six young children, now orphaned, were playing near the house at the time of the shooting.
No funeral arrangements had been reported early this week.
