Durham Family Is Showered In New Home

DURHAM — On Saturday, Oct. 15, Mrs. Melinda Hylton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Hylton of West Durham, was married to Mr. Ralph T. Thomas of Randleman, N.C.

The wedding was held at the First Baptist Church, with the Reverend D. E. Stone, Sr., officiating.

The bridesmaids were Misses Mary K. Hylton, Misses Jean E. Hylton, Misses Ann E. Hylton, and Misses Maxine T. Hylton.

The groomsmen were Messrs. Jack T. Hylton, Jr., Mr. Ralph T. Thomas, Mr. James T. Hylton, and Mr. John T. Hylton.

The reception was held at the home of the bride and groom.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.

Durham Education Week Is Marked At Charlotte School

Charlotte — Education Week was observed at Charlotte School with the following events:

Panel discussion on integration, moderated by Dr. Robert L. Watts, NAACP legal advisor.

A community forum with the theme of "Integration Now." The forum was moderated by Mr. Benjamin A. Quarles, professor of Education at Fisk University.

The climax of the week was the annual Homecoming Game, which was played on the school's green.

Edgewater Church Is Celebrated In New Home

Durham — Edgewater Church, located at 824 South Edgewater Avenue, was dedicated on Sunday, October 26th, 1953.

The dedication ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Dr. E. G. Jenkins, pastor of the church.

The church was built with the financial support of the community and the assistance of the United Negro College Fund.

The church was dedicated to serve the educational and spiritual needs of the community.

The church is open to all and is a place where people of all races can come together to worship and learn.

The church is a reminder of the importance of community and the role of education in the success of the civil rights movement.