GOING TO CHURCH WITH NED DAVIS

CHARLOTTE
On Mother's Day at Clinton Metropolitan AMEZ Church, the Sunday School was opened at 9:45 by the secretary, Miss Jean Robinson, Mrs. Carrie Robinson was at the piano. More than 90 children attended.

Most of the teachers were absent because they were out of the city visiting their Mothers. From the Mother's Day program, Miss Lula Gaskins delivered the main address. She is a member of the faculty at Myers Street School and program director of the church.

After the morning service, all visitors and members remained for dinner in the dining room of the church. There were three new members added to the church during the morning service. Mrs. Daisy Potts, Mrs. Eliza Brooks and Mrs. Nancy Fair were hostesses during the dinner hour.

Sunday afternoon was taken up by Mrs. Annie Rose Jordan and her 50-voice choir. Mrs. Jordan was also the musical guest last week at Huntersville Prison Camp, accompanied by Mrs. Boyist, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott. Mrs. Scott is a member of the senior choir and Mr. Scott is a member of the board of trustees.

The evening was enjoyed by the superintendent, guards and in-mates. Rev. F. R. Blakey brought the message. More than 20 in-mates testified for Christ. Rev. J. K. Booker of the Charlotte Rescue Mission, extended an invitation to Mrs. Jordan to sing for them at the mission on June 6. The Quartet Union seems to be just the thing for the local quartets of the city. They are joining very rapidly. The following groups will celebrate their anniversaries on the dates: June 13.—Gospel Harmonizers; June 20.—Third Ward Prayer Band; June 27.—Mrs. Louise Cherry and the Brookhill Gospel Singers.

We want to congratulate First Christian Church, M.F.B. Moore, Bishop and Prophet, for the splendid effort in handling the Carolina Times. Not only is the church able to receive a profit from the sales, but it is a special avenue through which all ministers can speak to the public and tell what their churches and congregations are doing. Any minister or church member who would like to improve his church attendance by help of the Carolina Times, may contact this reporter for more details at P. O. Box 2151, Charlotte, N. C.

Friday, May 21, a special picture for children will be shown in the Sunday School auditorium of the church. Admission is free. All parents are urged to come with their children to help take care of the tremendous crowd. There will be ten door prizes given away free; tableware and glassware, including three letters with the winners' name engraved on each piece while they wait by Fred D. Corothers, engraving artist.
