Education Shown As Factor In Segregation

PRINCETON, N. J. An interesting note comes from the recent finding of the Gallup Poll on the Supreme Court's ruling on segregation in schools. The polls shows that those of the higher educational bracket are more in favor of the ruling than others.

Based on the nation-wide survey the report showed that 73 per cent of the adults who have attended college approved of the decision. Older people are less inclined to go along with the ruling the survey stated.

Among the nation's youth, 61 per cent between the ages of 21 and 29, approved of the ruling, but in the South the figures were reversed, 61 per cent of those in the 21 to 29 age group opposed the decision.

On a political level, the report shows that the majority of Northern whites who belong to the Republican Party do not object to the decree, but the views of Northern whites who are Democrats sway toward the opposite side.

Getting Along

Tudes of some of our American soldiers abroad is a reflection of this arrogance. The editor of "Spotlight" news magazine wrote a blistering attack on American soldiers stationed in Jamaica. He states that there is a psychological gap in the training of U. S. soldiers.

According to Spotlight's editor, American soldiers feel that they can violate the dignity of others. In Havana some years ago, they desecrated one of Cuba's most revered monuments and got our government in trouble. Not long ago, American soldiers are reported to have committed acts against Jamaicans in the form of verbal attacks and physical assaults.

Now, the officials of the American government always make apologies and whatever other amends they can when these incidents occur, but the offended people can't forget. They feel, as the editor who wrote: "Since there can never be any guarantees that in this age of widespread civilization that U. S. servicemen won't behave like savages, especially toward coloured peoples, perhaps it might be better that large numbers of them not be turned loose on our island at one time."

The soldiers are not responsible. They are taught by governors and other high officials who are blinded by prejudice.
